A Time for Reflection

CIVILIZED men needed some five thousand years to devise the system of government known as democracy. It is the best system so far devised but, like the human race, it is not perfect.

This weekend, therefore, when the citizens of Canada finally make up their minds about Monday's election, they will remember that they cannot hope to choose a perfect government. They can do no more than choose the best available government.

On election day every citizen in a democracy faces a direct, personal and inescapable responsibility. His duty is to vote.

A newspaper also has a responsibility. Having enjoyed the right of free argument possible only in a democracy, it is bound to tell its readers, whether they agree with it or not, why it supports certain causes and rejects others.

During the last four years this newspaper has frequently criticized the St. Laurent Government, sometimes rather roughly. If the Government is re-elected we expect it will continue to make mistakes, like all governments, and we shall continue to criticize it.

But, recognizing the imperfections of this and all governments, we have no doubt about Monday's decision. The Government, in our view, deserves to be returned for reasons that appear unanswerable.

* * *

In the first place, this has been an able, honest and courageous government, as governments go. Its ability is reflected in the state of the nation. Its honesty has not been questioned by any scandal in more than two decades, which must be a Canadian record. Its courage in often following unpopular courses which it thought necessary may have damaged it among thoughtless voters but will commend it to the public's second-thoughts.

It is not too much to say that a glance about the world will reveal no more successful government than that of Louis St. Laurent. Nowhere in the world today is there a nation so fortunate as Canada.

To be sure, the Canadian economic revolution is not solely or even mainly the work of the Government, but the Government's policies have created a climate favorable to it. Assuredly another kind of government, policy and climate could have greatly retarded the Canadian boom.

Moreover, our exsting policies, though sometimes mistaken in detail, have sought to distribute our increased wealth as fairly as any free society permits. Every important welfare service in Canada, without exception, is the work of the Liberal Party—old age pensions, children's allowances, health grants, subsidies to the provinces and now a national scheme of hospital insurance.

These services probably have been the most generous in the world but they have been kept, so far, within our means. The Government has not expanded them, merely to win votes, faster than our means allow, as its opponents propose to expand them regardless of the taxpayers' ability to pay the bill.

* * *

The Canadian boom has been so large, indeed, that it has bred inflation as we try to build and consume even more than we can make or borrow. Only the Government, among all the political parties, has dared to face this danger.

It has not yet succeeded in curing inflation. No nation has yet succeeded. But assuredly without the present fiscal policies the Canadian inflation would now be much worse than it is and the alternative to its policies, as advocated by all the opposition parties, would be to abandon every measure against inflation, to let it run wild and further debase our money and savings.

In such a situation soft policies may win some votes. They will also assure soft money. The government deserves credit for putting the people's savings above its political convenience. Every other party has done the opposite.

If the government deserves re-election on its domestic record, its record in international affairs is even more commendable. To keep Mr. Pearson in charge of our foreign policy seems to us perhaps the strongest reason for a Liberal vote, since Canada's chief danger comes from our foreign enemies. Is Mr. Pearson to remain in charge of our foreign policy or is he to be replaced by some unknown? That question should be well pondered before Monday's ballot.

* * *

If an abler government were in sight the virtues of the present government would not entitle it to re-election. Where is there such a better alternative?

Actually, no opposition party has the chance to form any kind of government, good or bad. That fact may be disagreeable in theory. It is none the less a fact in practical politics today.

The revival of the Conservative Party, which is to be warmly welcomed, has not gone far enough to give it the chance of a parliamentary majority.

The two splinter parties—the CCF running on a policy known to be unacceptable and Social Credit on the proposition that a small minority should dominate a stalemated Parliament against the will of the majority—offer us nothing but chaos.

There are only two real possibilities in this election. One is a working Liberal majority. The other, a remote prospect, is stalemate and paralysis.

The splinters have nothing but nuisance value. What does the Conservative Party offer us? It offers us gigantic increases in expenditure and gigantic decreases in taxes.

Everybody knows, including Mr. Diefenbaker and all his candidates, that this equation does not make sense and is nothing but mathematical nonsense invented for an election campaign. It is proposed, in disregard of mathematics, solely because the Conservative Party knows that it will not have to redeem impossible promises and thus can promise anything.

* * *

If it could be elected, a Conservative government attempting to enforce this program would plunge us into deficits and debt at the height of a boom, would precipitate a run-away inflation and would then be forced to raise taxes far above their present level or risk national bankruptcy.

Yet after this show of complete irresponsibility in the election campaign the Conservative Party asks for the responsibility of office. Clearly, on this record, it is not ready for office, but its vigorous campaign indicates that it is prepared to provide a strong and useful opposition.

The sovereign question on Monday will be identity of the next government but there is another question. Every constituency must select its own Member of Parliament and try to find the best man to represent it.

The Liberal Party may not be so fortunate elsewhere, but in Victoria and in Esquimalt-Saanich it has nominated excellent men. Dr. Frank Fairey and Mr. Alistair Fraser deserve election, we believe, not only because they represent the government but because they have the qualities needed in the next Parliament.

For all these reasons we think Canada will be wise to maintain its government, the policies that have succeeded so abundantly in recent years and the progress on all fronts that is now the admiration of the world.

France Ends Suez Boycott; Would Pay Tolls in Sterling

CAIRO (Reuters) — France has decided to end her lone boycott of the Suez Canal and has offered to pay shipping tolls in sterling, the Egyptian finance ministry announced today.

A French government spokesman said in Paris that "contacts have taken place about this matter between French and Egyptian banks." He declined further comment.

A spokesman for the Egyptian finance ministry said negotiations are going on through the Swiss Embassy here for the resumption of French shipping through the canal.

All the main Suez Canal user countries except France lifted their boycott last month after agreeing provisionally to pay tolls directly to Egypt's nationalized Canal Authority.

STUDY REQUEST

The Egyptian spokesman said: "The Egyptian government has received a request from the French government through the Swiss Embassy in Cairo, asking that French ships passing through the Suez Canal should be allowed to pay tolls in sterling.

"The French request has been submitted to the finance ministry for study."

French business interests were reported to have exerted heavy pressure on the government to lift the boycott after Britain decided May 14 to permit her ships to resume use of the waterway.

48% OF POPULAR VOTE

LIBERALS HOLDING BIG LEAD IN POLL

British United Press and Canadian Press reported today that the latest Canadian Institute of Public Opinion (Gallop Poll) of election thinking in Canada shows the Liberals holding 48% of the popular vote across the nation.

The poll shows Progressive Conservatives with 34%, the CCF with 10%, Social Credit with 7% and other with 1%.

On the basis of these figures, the Liberals have only 2% less of the popular backing than they did in 1953, when they were returned with an enormous majority, and have 1% more than was shown by the same poll a month ago.

Conservatives have gained 3% since 1953 and 1% since May. The CCF is down 1% from both polls.

Social Credit is shown with the same percentage as in 1953, but 1% less than it was in May.

Editors of the poll, the BUP says, emphasize that the latest figures refer only to popular vote and the effect on seat distribution might well be proportionately greater.

The popular vote proportions as shown by these latest reports compare as follows:

	1953	May 1957	June 1957
Liberals	50%	47%	48%
Progressive Conservatives	31%	33%	34%
CCF	11%	11%	10%
Socred	7%	8%	7%
Others	1%	1%	1%

The institute said the "analysis of Canadian voter opinion" was "based on that segment which had made up its mind a week before" the election.

The institute said that "during the campaign a trend toward the Conservative party developed in Ontario but appeared to lose some of its steam in the latter days." The net result, it says, was an institute figure of 45% for the Conservative party in Ontario compared to 43% for the Liberals, 11% for the CCF and 1% for other parties.

In Quebec the Liberals hold a large margin with 70% against 24% for Conservatives.

Russia Reveals Scientific Parties Worked 150 Miles from Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Russians have made some 30 landings on Polar ice within 150 miles of Canadian territory in the last two years.

This information is contained in a 382-page book entitled Across the Pole on the Drifting Ice and published in Moscow this year by a state publishing house.

A copy of the book recently came into the hands of Canadian Arctic experts and they say there is no reason to doubt the information in it.

The landing closest to the Canadian shore, likely made by helicopter, was 121 miles from Ellesmere Island, the northern tip of which is some 400 miles from the North Pole. The landing was made in 1955.

Authorities here say they had suspected the Russians might be working fairly close to Canadian territory but that this was the first evidence they had actually done so.

More or Less 'Protest' Says Youth

TORONTO (CP)—A youth who interupted a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent by mounting the platform and tearing up a placard said today the stunt was "more or less a protest, I guess."

William Hatton, 15, of nearby Malton, either fell or was pushed off the platform to the concrete floor and suffered a bump on the head.

Hatton gave this version to the Toronto Telegram: "I climbed the steps to the platform. I began to tear the placard up. Os I was doing this, some fellow approached me from the side. I'm not sure what he said; something about 'what are you doing? You have no business up here.'

"The next thing I knew I landed on the floor and struck my head." A doctor said Hatton suffered no serious injury.

The Toronto Star says Mrs. Fred Hatton, the boy's mother, described what happened as "just a schoolboy prank."

Election Clerk Jailed; Admits Padding List

MONTREAL (CP)—Two federal election enumerators charged with adding fictitious names to a voters' list were arraigned in court today. One pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three days in jail.

The second pleaded not guilty and was remanded to June 13.

William Burt, 56, pleaded guilty and was returned to the cells where he had been detained since his arrest Friday night.

Edward Roland, 21, pleaded not guilty and was released on bail of $500.

The men served as enumerators in a polling division of Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George constituency. Mr. Burt was appointed by the Liberals and Mr. Roland by the Conservatives.

Their arrests came during an RCMP investigation made at the request of Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Help us, O God, to be honestly ourselves and devoted to Thy service. If we limp, may we limp toward Thee. If we stammer, may we stammer a word of witness to Christ, our Savior. If we are a bit peculiar, find a little crooked space, O God, where we may fit into the building of Thy Church. Amen.

13,000 Hear PM At Toronto; Boy Heckler Hurt

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent closed out his national tour with a colorful splash Friday night. But the monster rally, the biggest of the campaign, threatened to fall into turmoil as a Liberal official shoved a youthful heckler to the floor.

Warmed up by musical entertainment and shenanigans of local candidates, the audience, estimated at between 12,000 and 13,000, gave the 75-year-old Liberal chieftain a tremendous ovation as he was piped into brightly-decorated Maple Leaf Gardens.

But he no sooner launched into an attack against John Diefenbaker and the Progressive Conservatives when one of a group of hecklers mounted the speaker's platform and slowly tore a St. Laurent placard before the prime minister's eyes.

F. Vincent Regan, president of the Toronto and York Liberal Association, got up from his platform seat and shoved William Hatton, the 15-year-old heckler, down the platform steps.

The youth fell down the six steps and hit the back of his head on the cement floor. The crowd burst into an unroar as Hatton lay still for a moment. Scores milled around him. A teen-ager mounted a table nearby and shouted:

"That's the way you Liberals behave!"

Youth Freed by Police

The youth was assisted to his feet and taken to hospital where he was found to have suffered slight head bruises. He was not detained. Police said there would be no charges arising out of the incident.

But the event, first of its kind on Mr. St. Laurent's six-week, cross-country tour, visibly disturbed the prime minister and dampened the rally's spirit. He stood grimly and silently before the speaker's rostrum and later as he resumed his speech, commented:

"It is, of course, unfortunate that this young man fell down the steps. I hope that those who are attempting to prevent me from being heard realize that this was not the right thing for this young man to do.

"I am sure that this is not the way Toronto audiences usually act. We are happy to learn that there are no other consequences from this incident than this momentary disturbance."

In his speech, Mr. St. Laurent charged that Conservative Leader Diefenbaker had deliberately refused to allow the country to see his party's platform.

"Surely Mr. Diefenbaker is the first leader of a political party in Canada that has kept its platform secret."

He defended the government's action in aiding trans-Canada natural gas pipeline construction. The heckling became a bit more persistent and Mr. St. Laurent expressed the hope that the arena was not to be turned into a "madhouse" by a dozen or ss hecklers.

As some in the audience booed, he remarked that "They boo tonight but they will live long enough to benefit from this pipeline." There were laughs and loud cheers.

Some shouted at Finance Minister Harris as he derided the Conservatives and praised accomplishments of the Liberals. External Affairs Minister Pearson also was cheered and booed when he defended the government's Suez policy.

9 Million Canadians Eligible for Voting

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians make their decision Monday on the makeup of the next Parliament and, consequently, the political stripe of the government.

Between 8,900,000 and 9,000,000 of the Canadian population of 16,500,000 are eligible to vote between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. local standard time in the 23rd federal general election since Confederation in 1867.

The winning political party must take at least 133 seats in the 265-member House of Commons to form a majority government.

During the last week of the campaign two of the four major party leaders referred to the possibility of a minority government—that is, a government in which the top party in the Commons does not command a majority and could be turned out by the combined opposition.

Social Credit Leader Low said there is a "distinct possibility" of a minority government. There hasn't been one in Canada since the 1920s.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said that if the Liberals do not win a majority no other party will. He expressed doubt that a Parliament without a majority party would be a good thing for Canada.

The voters will decide whether to return to office the Liberals who have governed Canada for 22 years or install as their government the Progressive Conservatives or CCF.

The Social Credit party has not enough candidates to form a majority government.

There are 858 candidates in the field—262 Liberals, 255 Progressive Conservatives, 161 CCF, 114 Social Credit and 66 others. The Liberals already hold one seat in the new House of Commons. C. W. Carter was returned by acclamation in the Newfoundland riding of Burin-Burgeo.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Fraser Rankled By Fake Charges

Alistair Fraser, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, Friday night accused the Conservatives of creating "spurious charges" in the election campaign.

Mr. Fraser addressed an audience of 147 persons at his windup meeting in Saanichton Agricultural Hall.

The main feature of opposition criticism in the campaign and at the last session of Parliament, he said, was "its merciless and ruthless endeavor, not to point out fault where fault may actually lie, but to create spurious issues and to levy spurious charges, purely for the sake of having something to say."

An example was the recent attempt by the Conservatives to set up "straw men" in the campaign.

"They charged the other day that Liberals were saying if a Conservative administration were returned, armed services pay would be cut—and they denied the rumor indignantly.

"Well, I am just as indignant about it as they are."

No one in the Liberal party had made such a statement, Mr. Fraser said.

The Liberal candidate branded as "nonsense" criticism of the prime minister for sending campaign literature to the armed services.

"We Liberals have never taken the view that soldiers are second-class citizens," Mr. Fraser said. "More than anyone else, they have a stake in public affairs."

Voters Confused

Revision of the Canada Elections Act was called for Friday night by Noel Bell, Social Credit candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

"The act makes it very difficult for people to know if they are on the voters' list, difficult for them to find out how to get on it if their names are missing," Mr. Bell said at a meeting in Colwood Community Hall.

Many eligible voters had been disenfranchised because they were not at their normal residence when the enumerator came around, he said.

"There should be a government organization or body to help the electors," Mr. Bell said. The returning officer is overworked and hampered by an outdated law."

Stand Together

An appeal for the labor vote was made Friday by Victoria CCF candidate Victor Williams in a noon-hour talk at Bapco Paint Co.

"When the workers stand together with the civil servants, housekeepers and young mothers of Canada, everyone will be able to own a small part of Canada in the form of a low-cost home," he said.

"Under the systems advocated by the trained seals of the other three-ringed capitalists circuses, the only piece of Canada to which you are legally entitled is a six-by-three plot for which you pay the shocking price of more than $5,000 an acre before you can lie in it in peace," Mr. Williams said.

Slogan Trouble

Progressive Conservative campaign officials are worried that those "Follow John" footprints stencilled on cars and buildings in B.C. might be considered illegal on election day.

The Conservatives estimated about 3,500 cars, including 200 in Victoria, are carrying the signs showing two footprints and the slogan "Follow John!" in removable paint.

Soap and water will not take it off and the best way is with petroleum-base solvents.

Those "Follow John" footsteps were found leading to the entrance of Mr. Bennett's hardware store in Kelowna.

Passersby recalled that Mr. Bennett was once an ardent Conservative himself.

Hid $90 Million

Premier Bennett, campaigning in Regina, accused the Liberal government of "deliberately hiding" $90,000,000 in funds for the new Canada Council to avoid increasing old-age pensions.

He told a party rally Friday night that money budgeted this year for the council, recently established to promote Canadian cultural activities, could have paid a large part of a pension increase and help give farmers parity prices.

Mr. Bennett said he is not opposed to programs supporting the advance of culture but he objects to the government taking $100,000,000 out of revenues in one year to be used during the following 10 years.

The government should have budgeted $10,000,000 annually, he said.

Car Insurance Rate Hike Almost Certain

Speculation that automobile insurance rates will be increased again this year has a strong basis in fact, an insurance companies spokesman at Vancouver said today.

The unprecedented mid-year jump would follow an 8 per cent increase in 1957 rates, which became effective Jan. 1.

Although there is "nothing definite" about the rumored increase, "some agencies have received instruction from automobile insurance companies to withhold renewals of insurance for July and some for August, too," the spokesman said.

"There is no doubt that something is in the wind."

The rumors have not been quashed by rate-setting groups—the B.C. Underwriters' Association and Independent Insurance Conference of B.C.

The situation is being studied by board companies, Ken Sabiston, manager of B.C. Underwriters' Association, said.

Automobile insurance rates, usually set once a year, are based on claim statistics in six rating territories in the province during the previous year.

CITY PARENTS INVITED TO MASS YOUTH MEETING

Parents were urged today to attend a mass meeting of the National Youth Club for adults and teenagers at the Plaza Theatre Sunday afternoon. Doors open at 12.15.

Meeting was scheduled for Newstead Hall but was switched to the theatre to accommodate an expected crowd of 1,000.

Supervisory manager of the club, Con Watling, today rapped Victoria's "lackadaisical" attitude towards teenagers and their problems.

"The only problem I can see is that parents won't give the time to help their children," he said. "They seem to forget they were teenagers once themselves."

POLICE SNAFU

City Soldiers Astray in U.S.

Esquimalt-based 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, in convoy and headed for Camp Wainwright, Alta., was intercepted by Everett, Wash., police and sent on a wild goose chase Friday.

Artillerymen were temporarily on the wrong route and headed for Seattle when the error was discovered, the convoy located and re-routed for Stevens Pass.

About 140 men, 37 trucks and eight weapon carriers for 90 mm. guns were directed south at Everett, Wash., where they should have been started eastward.

PATROLMAN MIXED UP

A city patrolman got his instructions mixed.

Instead of turning them east over Highway 2 he escorted them south, showed them Highway 99, waved a friendly goodbye and returned to his post.

A short time later, police headquarters got a call from a state patrolman at Cavallero's Corner, between Everett and Snohomish on Highway 2. The conversation went something like this:

"Where's that Canadian Army?" . . . "They've passed through Everett." . . . "They haven't got here yet." . . . What?" . . .

Quick check. The outfit was finally located halfway to Seattle on Highway 99.

The Everett police officer is still blushing.

Slated to take the same trail next Friday is Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Liberals, Tories 'Betrayed' Farmers CCF Leader Charges

BIGGAR, Sask. (CP) — CCF Leader Coldwell Friday night charged the Liberal and Conservative parties with "betraying" the farmer and urged the establishboard.

"Both the Liberals and the Conservatives have supported all kinds of special privileges for special interests but have opposed even the most elementary justice for agriculture embodied as that is in a program of full parity," he said.

He denied claims by Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner that the present support prices are better than parity prices. Support prices, he said, should go up as farm costs increase.

Miner Tells Danger Of Blasting Caps

COURTENAY — Don Smith, an experienced miner, is lecturing school classes here on the danger of playing with blasting caps.

School trustees accepted his offer to warn children of the danger of picking up the caps, found in the wake of numerous construction jobs here.

LIBERALS 'DRAGGED DOWN FLAG OF FREEDOM'

Diefenbaker Flies Home To Await Vote Outcome

HAMILTON (CP)—With two days to go to election, John Diefenbaker today flew home to Saskatchewan to await the voters' decision on whether his Progressive Conservatives have broken the Liberals' 22-year-hold on the federal government.

The party chief took a plane to Prince Albert this morning a few hours after a windup campaign speech in which he called on Canadians to turn out a government which he said had dragged down the flag of freedom on Parliament Hill.

He asked for an end to "the monopoly of power of a government too long in office."

Of all countries, he said only Canada and Russia have had "one-party" government during the last 22 years.

BASIC PC CONCERTS

Summarizing his campaign principles enunciated over the last six weeks, he said that as the successor to Prime Minister St. Laurent he would have these as the basic concepts of his government:

1. A policy of "Canada first" for the economic development of the country to Canada's best advantage.

2. Equal right for all parts of the country.

3. An end to federal "overtaxation," and he repeated a pledge to call a special September session of Parliament that would institute tax cuts.

4. The preservation of Parliament, which Mr. Diefenbaker has been contending has been "degraded" by autocratic rule of a few ministers backed by an overwhelming Commons majority.

The 61-year-old challenger for the prime ministry—making his first general election bid since succeeding Hon. George Drew to the party leadership last December—brought out no new points in his final speech before an overflow audience of about 1,600 in a collegiate auditorium.

It was, rather, a summing-up of arguments he has put before the country in six weeks and close to 20,000 miles of intensive campaigning that included some 100 speeches and countless hand-shaking sessions.

In his clean-up speech Mr. Diefenbaker renewed attacks on Mr. St. Laurent, contending he has been talking "nonsense" in the late days of the campaign and trying to bring in extraneous side issues.

He referred particularly to what he said were claims of the prime minister and some of his ministers that there has been a conspiracy between himself and Ontario Premier Frost to have more tax money go to Ontario at the expense of the other provinces.

"They have tried to pit province against province," he said. They have created a "nebulous conspiracy" for the sake of political gain.

Premier Frost, on the same platform as Mr. Diefenbaker, replied in rougher terms to the conspiracy charge.

The prime minister, Mr. Frost said, is engaging in "the old wornout political dodge of trying to pit one part of Canada against another, while at the same time talking national unity."

IWA Vote Sunday On 'Truce' Plan

A vote will be taken here Sunday by the 1,500 members of Local 1-118, International Woodworkers of America.

Members will be asked to reject the conciliation board propoal for a summer-long "truce" in the current wage dispute. This would comply with IWA policy committee recommendations.

A government-supervised strike vote among the 32,000 IWA members on this coast is expected to follow the vote of locals.

Workers are asking a 20 per cent wage increase and other benefits from the 157 coast operators.

President of local 1-118, Jack MacKenzie, will report on current negotiations at 2 p.m. in the Victoria ballroom.

Wilfrid Davis, 1416 Grant, was remanded until Monday for sentence after pleading guilty in city police court today of wilfully damaging the property of Mrs. Pearl Cook, 1476 Gladstone Ave. He broke down the door of the apartment house.

Foreign Aid Bill Over First Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's foreign aid bill has cleared its first hurdle, slimmer by more than $200,000,000.

The Senate foreign relations committee approved the bill Friday after cutting $227,300,000 off the presidential request of $3,864,410,000 for United States military and economic aid to free-world countries in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In view of the current congressional economy drive some had expected heavier committee cuts. The measure, now carrying authority for $3,637,110,000, faces rougher going next week in the Senate.

The committee-approved version gives the president authority to continue foreign aid beyond a year.

ASSEMBLY TOLD

Church Must Introduce New Policies

VANCOUVER (CP) — The church must examine itself to keep up with changing problems in the mission field, the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada was told Friday night.

Dr. E. H. Johnson of Toronto, secretary for overseas missions, addressed the 83rd general assembly here on changing policies in missionary work.

"What was obedience to God's call 10 years ago may fall far short of obedience now," he said. Before the 1930s there was little examination of what missionary work tried to do. Now missionaries realize that they could not present the Christian faith to non-Christians unless they understand the people. The church was also beginning to study the dynamics of growth of young churches to see why some flourished while others were stunted.

OTHERS STRONGER

The gospel must be relevant to economic problems as well as the "ultimate" problems of the individual, Dr. Johnson said. National development in foreign countries was making their citizens ask "new and deep" questions.

A Right, An Obligation

IN THE LAST FEDERAL ELECTION only 68 per cent of those entitled to vote in Victoria marked their ballots.

That is one above the percentage for Esquimalt-Saanich in August, 1953. The latter, 67 per cent, is the same as that for all Canada and two per cent above the British Columbia figure.

In other words roughly one-third of the voting public here and elsewhere in the nation did not bother going to the polls for the last federal election.

Only two in every three of our citizens thought enough of the franchise to exercise it. The others compounded individual apathy into a national shame.

Once every four years or so the adults of this city and nation have the chance to say whom they want to govern them. Their decision is vital to the nation and themselves. They cannot afford, at this time, to default.

The voters have had the opportunity, in big meetings and small, through press and radio, to hear the issues of this election argued at length. They have had ample time to make up their minds. On Monday they are entitled to register their decisions—and in so doing honor the democratic right to decide.

Those entitled to mark ballots and physically able to do so, shirk a deep moral obligation if they fail to go to the polls. Further than that, they injure Canada by a type of lethargy which, carried to extremes, no democracy can survive.

Attack on GATT

THE GIANT LUMBER INDUSTRY of British Columbia is in trouble today not because of any Canadian policy, not because our interest rates are high, but because our foreign business is low.

We sell over half our lumber in the uncontrollable world market outside Canada, where we must meet competition from all other producers. Since the competition is sharp and our production costs relatively high, our sales have lately fallen.

We also sell our paper, fish, minerals and some fruits in the world market. Few areas anywhere are so dependent as British Columbia on foreign exports.

British Columbia, therefore, is vitally concerned with the revival of a high-tariff, trade-restricting policy in the Conservative Party.

In the east today the Conservative leaders and candidates are concentrating on a demand for restrictions on imports of many sorts, chiefly farm stuffs.

The first effect of such restrictions, of course, must be to raise the cost of goods to the Canadian consumer as competition is reduced.

In the case of food products that is the purpose of the Conservative policy. It wants food prices raised to help the farmers. It would raise them not only by reducing imports but by a new system of subsidizing the farmer from the federal treasury, as the United States Government is doing. The Conservative policy is certain to increase the cost of living.

The second effect of the Conservative Party's return to its historic protectionist views would be even more serious than a rise in price.

After the last war 35 nations in the western world negotiated the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, usually called GATT. They agreed to make progressive reductions in their tariffs and to avoid increases. About 97 per cent of the free world's trade is now governed by GATT and it has raised the flow of international commerce to the highest point in history.

No nation benefited more than Canada from this relaxation of trade barriers. When the Mackenzie King Government began to reduce tariffs in 1935 Canada's total imports and exports stood at $1.2 billions. Last year they had reached $10.5 billions. On this huge expansion of trade our long post-war boom was built. Of all the provinces British Columbia was probably the chief beneficiary.

GATT is a solemn contract between nations. No signatory can break the contract without invoking stated penalties from the other signatories. The agreement specifically provides that if one nation raises tariffs against another the injured nation can immediately retaliate by raising its tariffs to the same amount.

If Canada begins to break the GATT contract retaliation will be swift and certain. Yet the Conservative Party intends to break the contract. Its policy of increased protection can mean nothing else.

The Conservative Party is right in saying that Canada alone controls its own trade policy and is free to fix its tariffs as it pleases. But it cannot prevent its GATT partners from doing the same. And if Canada, one of the world's four largest traders, begins to repudiate GATT the whole contract will be in immediate danger.

One might suppose from the Conservative leaders' speeches that we are concerned at the moment only with a few farm products in Ontario and Quebec, that we could raise their prices without any damage beyond an increased price to the Canadian consumer. It's not as easy as that.

Once GATT is undermined, once the partners start to retaliate against one another, all the free world's tariffs will be involved. Since British Columbia's huge foreign trade, the basis of its prosperity, is founded on the GATT tariffs, it would instantly suffer from any drop in its world markets.

Already it is suffering from a drop in the lumber market, the result not of tariffs but of price competition and the inflation of our production costs. This is just a small sample of what would happen if GATT were progressively whittled away or destroyed outright.

Every business and every person in British Columbia lives directly or indirectly on foreign trade. Not even the smallest corner store could escape any reduction in that trade. Though cloaked in cautious pre-election generalities, the Conservative policy of protection is aimed at the farm vote of Ontario and at the roots of our prosperity in the west.

'By the Silvery Moon'

CALL US OLD FASHIONED ROmantics, but we like the report of Australian scientists saying man-made earth satellites will have a short life.

For a while it looked as if the moon would have too much competition. Now it appears that the queen of the skies will remain more durable even than Kate Smith.

Whatever the beat, the adolescents of the future will still be singing about the moon in June under which to spoon or maybe croon. Tradition gives it a certain stability—far more than we'd find by taking Floating Platform Seven on a sky ride to heaven.

As Our Readers See It

Teenagers

I would like to have this letter put in your paper as a reply to the young lady's question the other day about a teenage club.

I am a member of the National Agencies Teenage Club, and feel that if more teenagers felt the way our members do that we could have all the clean fun we desire.

This club is striving to have a membership of over 1,000, and in the near future hope to have their ideas presented to city officials.

Our main objective is to have a fund-raising campaign for a youth centre and drag strip in Victoria.

I think this is one of the better clubs formed. I know that the members, with the backing of Victoria business men, will go a long way to help Victoria teenagers.

Any person wishing to join this club is urged to attend a meeting on June 9 at 1 p.m. at the Plaza Theatre. All parents are welcome.

On behalf of the teenagers, Mr. Editor, I wish to thank you for the opportunity of presenting this important message to the community.

Ignominious

Mr. St. Laurent and his cabinet and particularly Mr. Pearson have been making frantic attempts to make amends over the Suez episode. They have been endeavoring to explain away the ignominious stand taken by Canada in its repudiation of Britain and France at the United Nations.

Mr. St. Laurent, however, cannot blot out the fact that he made what is generally considered as a venomous speech in the House of Commons during which he referred to Britain and France in the same terms applied to Soviet Russia. It was obviously a speech that the prime minister must have come to regret. It showed a political malice and even in the opinion of some personal malice towards Great Britain.

Now in his extremity he speaks of "the British heritage so dear to many Canadians"! He realizes, of course, that he has offended the great majority of Canadians of British origin.

He overlooks the fact that French Canada owes its debt to Britain for its parliamentary and judicial institutions. The generosity of Britain's colonial policy has been impressive not only with respect to French Canada but with regard to all the other members of the Commonwealth where British policy has gradually resulted by evolution into independence of the members of that great organization.

Having done irreparable damage to Canada's membership in the Commonwealth the Liberals now seek to sweep the whole question under the carpet and talk vainly of Canada's previous British heritage realizing full well that Canada would not exist as we now know it were it not for British influence.

When the Liberal Party took the position it did with reference to Britain it was received with a sickening sensation by Canadians of British origin. I write as a Canadian of the third generation of Scottish and Channel Islands origin.

ROBERT D. HARVEY.

One Good Reason

I am none too pleased to know that some people think I am the author of the sweeping denunciations of the Liberal Government, and in particular for its handling of the Suez crisis, which appear in this column from time to time over the name of my father "Robert D. Harvey."

Anybody who heard our Lester Pearson when he spoke in Victoria last month would surely conclude that the Government's handling of the Suez crisis was no longer a campaign issue against the Government, but, on the contrary, constituted one good reason why Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Pearson should be returned.

ROBERT J. HARVEY.

A Londoner's View

My family and I arrived in Victoria just a few months ago from London, England, where I was associated with the lumber business.

We are greatly impressed with this wonderful province of British Columbia and all that it has to offer, but it grieves me to see the lumber industry of this province in the doldrums.

Houses are vitally needed in the United Kingdom and Canada. Yet the federal government is effectively blocking B.C. lumber in all its forms from being sold for this purpose.

This policy has already caused many lumber dealers and mills to shut down and unemployment is rearing its ugly head.

I have listened to all of the candidates for the Greater Victoria riding speak on this subject and there is only one who offers a sound solution to the problem, Mr. Waldo Skillings.

I can only pray that the voters will give him their support on June 10 and enable him to fight this ugly situation.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Now That It's Finished

THE national election campaign dies tonight. We can get along very well without it. Of the nine campaigns this reporter has covered, beginning in 1921—and these made up more than a third of all the campaigns since Confederation — this has been unquestionably the worst. Every party, except the Conservatives, managed its affairs with maximum incompetence. The Government, I think, knows how to manage the nation's affairs quite well but seems unable to manage its appeal to the nation. It has learned everything but salesmanship. The C.C.F. has limped along like a man who expects to drop before the journey's end. Social Credit began like the Power and the Glory and ended with a faint mouse squeal.

Hutchison

BUT the Conservatives produced a magnificent campaign. Their first decision revealed an unsuspected genius of showmanship. Having solemnly constructed a huge election platform at their Ottawa convention last December, they whisked it away before the electors could examine it.

Mr. Diefenbaker decided that this document was too precious, fragile and mysterious for the public view, so he locked it up and, wisely disregarding the convention, built a new platform of his own.

It is a splendid, towering platform, a unique feat of Canadian architecture, erected in defiance of gravity itself. Its soaring pinnacles and gleaming battlements could be seen all the way to Victoria and Halifax.

WITHIN its spacious chambers and noble corridors every kind of furniture, antique and modern, could be comfortably accommodated and Mr. Diefenbaker added a new piece at every meeting to satisfy all tastes.

In this new kind of political supermarket nothing was missing to please the whims of any housewife and the prices were marked down, even in these times of inflation, at bargain figures, something over a billion dollars in total, to assure drastic tax reductions, more money for everybody, lower interest rates and still lower prices later on.

How could the Government's old-fashioned family grocery store hope to compete with these new merchandising methods?

THE local Conservatives assure us — and they are truthful, modest men—that Mr. Diefenbaker already has become Canada's Greatest Statesman even before he has held office. If this has not yet been fully demonstrated, there can be no doubt that he is Canada's greatest salesman and whatever happens on Monday he has done the nation a great service.

He has awakened the Conservative Party from a long sleep and, I suspect, has begun to extinguish that internal revolt called Social Credit. If so, Mr. Diefenbaker has proved himself the nemesis of the Conservative rebel, Mr. Bennett.

Anyway, it is clear that Mr. Bennett's prognosis on the Conservative Party was somewhat premature. Having announced that the Conservative Party was dead, Mr. Bennett set out to bury it but found the corpse in a rude and inconvenient state of health.

This discovery threw Mr. Bennett badly off his stride and reduced him to the rather odd argument that we must achieve stable government by electing a stalemated Parliament of minorities so that he and a handful of his followers can run the country for its own good, according to the highest traditions of democracy.

NEVERTHELESS, one must not minimize Mr. Bennett's campaign. Time could not wither nor custom stale its infinite variety.

It began with the announcement that there was no inflation in Canada, only a bogey dreamed up by the Bank of Canada. It ended with Mr. Bennett promising to cure a dangerous inflation by creating more money.

In justice to Mr. Bennett it must be admitted, even by his strongest critics, that he has made, within a few weeks, one of the largest discoveries in the history of economics. For the first time in human record Canada has achieved an inflation by a shortage of money, raised prices by a deficiency of purchasing power and must now extinguish the conflagration by applying a steady stream of gasoline.

NO NATION has ever accomplished such a miracle before, all within a few weeks. Canadians can do anything if they set their minds to it. It is a pity the campaign had to end so soon before Mr. Bennett could complete his mighty apocalypse. He needed another full week to repeal the economic errors of five thousand years.

Apart from his revelations, the campaign gave us no new ideas that I can remember and it didn't give us even a particularly good show. Nor did it give us any issue clear enough to arouse the passions or raise the blood pressure perceptibly.

Yet in all this clash of trivialities, the thoughtful man might distinguish one fact — namely, that every party and every candidate has promised to give us more and bigger government in one form or another.

That, it seems to me, was the only permanent meaning of the campaign. It meant, if it meant anything, that the power of the state will continue to expand in Canada, as elsewhere, and no one is promising to expand it so much as those politicians who are constantly denouncing its expansion.

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG — By GUS SIVERTZ

Unchanging Hills—and Unchanging Malahat

THE last several weeks must have been very trying to motorists driving over the Malahat and a real shock to visiting drivers without previous warning of the really rugged sections of the famed road. But I can think back a few decades and dredge from my memories a ride over the Malahat that would make the present experience seem only a momentary bit of a nuisance. In fact the road was not open for traffic when I was seized with the silly notion of riding it on a bicycle.

Sivertz

It was a dandy bike; a three-speed Singer and it seemed to me about the very epitome of mechanical genius. But even the Singer was not designed for pumping over miles of mountain highway whose surface was simply a layer of crushed, sharp and jagged rocks.

At that time I had the chore of delivering a week's supply of food to an old gentleman who lived in a shack at Mill Bay, and it was on the return journey from one of these weekend expeditions that I determined to try to ride home over the Malahat.

Dusty Road

The bike and I traveled to Shawnigan Lake via the E & N train; the bike in the baggage car and I on the dusty red plush cushions of a passenger coach. We left the train at Koenig's station at the far end of Shawnigan, and set out on the dusty, winding dirt road that twisted in and out like a cow trail the five miles or so to Mill Bay.

It is still an interesting old road for those who are in no hurry and it still carries you through a hilly country of tiny—and no doubt rather unproductive farms. Stump farms, they were, with snake fences and a tangle of wild blackberry vines climbing along the fence rails.

Finally I coasted down to the old wooden bridge that spanned Millstream, then a lovely, gay and fast-flowing water that churned into creamy foam over the rocks and then rested in deep, dark pools before rushing off again to join the sea.

It was hard not to loiter on the sun-baked rocks below the bridge and I still think that to lean over a bridge rail and watch a stream flow by is one of the most rewarding forms of idleness.

However, my pack was heavy and so was the parcel lashed to the handle bars, and I sped fast along the road that now leads to the ferry but then was complete only a few miles beyond the Indian Reserve just south of Mill Bay.

In Seclusion

My destination was a few hundred yards up a rude trail where the old gentleman had built a shack—a rather decent one—hard by the lips of a beautiful little brook with damp mossy banks and cool little pools which served as his refrigerator.

He was avid for news and my midday meal was interrupted at each mouthful in an attempt to supply his insatiable appetite for information on a world which he professed to despise; but I thought it a very lonely place for an old man to live in solitude, particularly in winter when the snow was often two or more feet deep in the woods.

So when I could decently escape I made my farewell and set out at a spanking pace along the sea road with a high heart and a gay spirit.

It was wonderful and I met not a soul as I pedalled and walked up the long northern slope of the Malahat on which the road had a fair gravel surface as far as the shoulder which is now a lookout.

Here it was breathtaking. The Saanich Arm beneath me scintillated in the sun while beyond the neat pattern of the little farms around Keatings and Saanichton had a settled and snug look as though the tiny fields were all tucked in and tidied up.

Bamberton had not been built so that the foliage shone in a lush green coat and only over Tod Inlet was there a smoke and dust haze where Mr. Butchart's cement mill was contributing to the growth of our province.

But I dared not linger too long as it was still a long weary way home, and I had no idea of the state of the road on the south slope.

It wasn't bad up to the Fitzgerald cross road which led down to Shawnigan but after that it was appalling. I could well have cried for my poor tires as the beautiful bike bumped and slithered over the sharp rocks of the surface.

How they held out was a miracle, but it was asking too much of rubber and near the top of Tunnel Hill both tires emptied with a sort of gentle hissing sigh. And I was alone with a bike 17 miles from home. The ripped tires were beyond any possibility of patching so I set out on foot down the then nasty steep slope of the hill.

Gave a Lift

Well, it was not the end of miracles for I suddenly heard behind me the unmistakable sound of a powerful automobile so I crowded hard over to the edge of the road (we drove on the left then) and saw a great Winton Six pull up to a stop. Its kindly driver helped hoist the bike over the spare tire and then sat me on the soft cushions of this magnificent vehicle which rolled to Victoria as though the road was as smooth as carpet.

My good Samaritan took me right to my home and smiled away my thanks.

It was much later that I learned he was the owner of a prosperous Johnson Street saloon.

A Murder Attempt on the Living Language

From The Times, London

PHRASE-BOOK jokes and the kind of language that results from the literal translation for idiomatic phrases have, over the years, proved a rich source of innocent, if somewhat obvious, merriment and there is no intention of drawing on that source, of tapping that particular vein, here.

Yet it is difficult to pass over in silence one of the sentences in a Manual of Modern English Conversation which has been published in Hong Kong.

This work is, it appears, much in favor with students teaching themselves languages and, if it is followed with due care and attention, one of them may at any moment now come out with the following friendly comment on some young woman whose appearance has been called to his attention: "I always heard," he will announce with a beaming smile, "I always heard Miss Liv was a hot piece of calico."

So much for the joke, such as it is, but the matter cannot be left at that. What is calico doing there and what on earth is the involved, misguided reason for its presence?

Of all the materials least likely to support the dashing and attractive qualities Miss Liv obviously possesses, calico would seem at the bottom of the list, the end, the limit. It has certain prosaic virtues, it is true, and when torn it makes a noise like a shell passing overhead; but that would hardly seem enough.

Perhaps a hot potato was meant, but, whichever way it is looked at, potato into calico will not go.

Of course, it may well be that this Chinese manual is ahead of its time and is endowed with the gift of prophecy. Perhaps to call anyone a hot piece of calico will be the last word in chic and fashionable slang.

In preparatory school days slang was, after all, a kind of password proclaiming membership of a secret society, the inner circle of an elite, and the catchword, the slang phrase, the esoteric idiom, have never quite lost that particular characteristic.

Ripping, topping, smashing, divine, the accentuation and pronunciation of such adverbs as actually and positively, the language dealing in alligators and crocodiles, these had their day and ceased to be—or are still enjoying it—and wrote their particular footnotes to class distinctions and social history.

Perhaps a hot piece of calico will in the future be numbered among them. Perhaps, but the obstinate conviction remains that there is something wrong with it—but then the cat's whiskers, which is, as it were, in the calico category, never seemed quite right either.

BEFORE THE JUDGE — By SILENUS

Etaion Shrdlu

THROUGH all the clatter and clamor of the general election the Courts have been going quietly about their business as if nothing was going on outside. And rightly so, for their business is concerned not with legislators but with trying to make some sense out of what the legislators produce. And this is a full-time job. If our Judges sometimes have quiet private wishes that Government should restrict itself to providing good laws and seeing they are obeyed instead of nosing into every nook and cranny of people's business, they never let on.

—5th Century Terracotta
SILENUS

So while the storm rages outside, the law gets along wth it, serene in the peace and quiet of Victoria's magnificent old Court House. Once you're inside the door, the tumult and the shouting dies. This column can make a safe prediction that whoever gets to make the laws next Monday the Judges will still be there to see that they are kept.

Which is a pleasant sobering thought to this column, and no doubt to a lot of gentle readers who by now must be nigh deafened as the mounting music of politics reaches a crescendo. Such a symphony as we have heard demands the descriptive pen of colleague Gruber, not mine. Who but Hans could do justice to the sounding brass and tinkling cymbal of the Government, opposed by the sonorous strings of the Opposition, with the shrill screams of the local parish parties thrown in? While the muffled, rhythmic boom of partisan journalists thumping their tubs provides an appropriate background to the portentous pronouncements of the protagonists.

As Gilbert so wisely remarked (or sang),

The Law's the true embodiment
Of everything that's excellent . . .

It deals with facts. Hard facts. What splendid things they are! About the only hard fact in the election is the deplorable state of the nation's Parliament, and about that few people seem to care, though when it becomes too late to do so, doubtless they will. Which leads us to a subsidiary fact, equally hard, that unless the franchise is exercised with intelligence and with the good of the country in mind, democracy as we know it is in for a rough time. And then no more free Courts, no more voting and beyond question no new Courthouse.

Dean Inge it was who said that universal franchise pointed the way to the end of popular government, and there are plenty of examples in the world which say that he was right. The vote is a big responsibility, like every right is, and there is lots of evidence in this country to show that it has been exercised capriciously of late. But enough. Tag along after Louis, or follow John, but for heaven's sake don't do either without giving the matter some thought first. Consider the pros and cons on Sunday (the noise will have died down by then), and cast your sensible ballot next day.

And no matter what the news is on Monday night, next morning the Judge will be hard at it settling differences, awarding damages, listening to witnesses, struggling with intractable statutes and generally dealing with the facts that make up life in Victoria; which, under Louis or John, Frank or Bert, will doubtless continue without too much interruption. After all, it's summer.

LONDON LETTER — By WALLACE REYBURN

Glamorous Gaiety Girls

LONDON — News (sad) of four famous London theatres . . .

THE GAIETY: It really is going to be pulled down now. For just on 20 years it has stood empty on its commanding site at the corner of Aldwych and the Strand and during that time there had been many hopes that it would get a reprieve and re-open for business. But next month the demolition starts and in its place will be an eight-story building for the English Electric Company.

Reyburn

It is ironic that had the Second World War started just a few months before it did the Gaiety Theatre (opened in 1868) would probably be alive today. Just before the war the London County Council, landlords of the site, forced the theatre to close; it was to be pulled down to make more road space for the entrance to the new Waterloo Bridge. But the war's outbreak put an end to that bit of town planning.

After the war efforts to restore the theatre fell through because it was in such bad shape after lengthy disuse. So the home of many famous musical shows featuring the glamourous Gaiety Girls stood there, an abandoned shell of a building, as a reminder of the days when British musical shows with stars such as Leslie Henson, Stanley Lupino, Laddie Cliff, Phyllis Dare and Louise Browne were in their prime—before imported U.S. musicals took over.

* * *

DRURY LANE: Could it be that the present dominance of U.S. musical imports is at an end? This theatre that has been living on them for the past seven years (Oklahoma, Carousel, South Pacific, The King and I, etc.) announces that the one that recently ended its run there (Plain and Fancy) lost so much money that it wiped out the profits of all those previous U.S. shows. And Drury Lane's present American offering, Fanny, isn't doing great business.

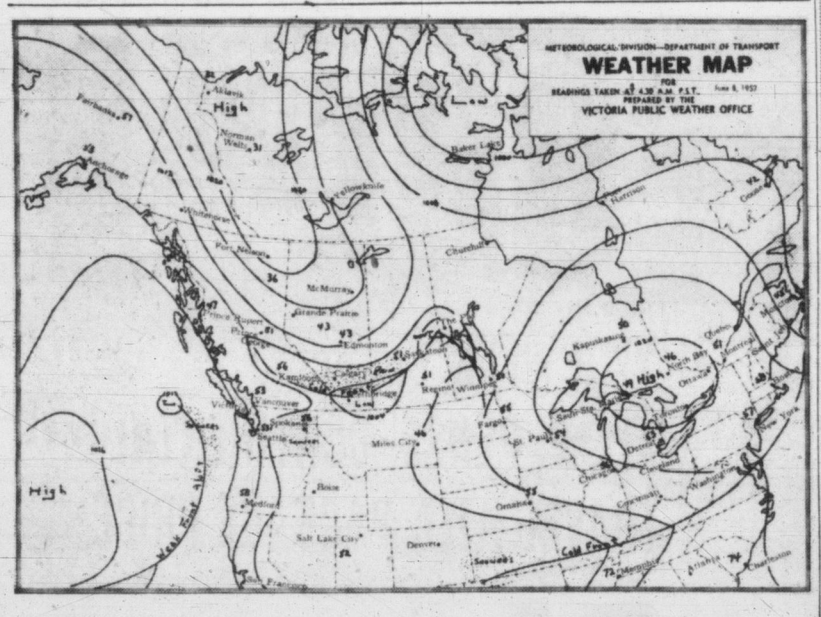
Likewise at the Coliseum, the other London home of American musicals, their new one—Damn Yankees—has opened to a lukewarm reception, including such scathing critques as "will be thoroughly enjoyed by all English baseball fans."

Meanwhile two British musicals (both well over 1,000 performances), The Boy Friend and Salad Days, continue to do sell-out business. This could mean that Drury Lane will drop U.S. shows and go back to British products, as in the old days of the Ivor Novello successes.

* * *

THE PALACE: This once thriving theatre half way up Charing Cross Road has been getting by over the last few years on a hodge-podge of visiting Chinese jugglers, Continental ballet companies and French theatre groups. Now its insides are going to be remodelled to accommodate the movie Around the World in 80 Days and it seems doomed as a live theatre.

THE STOLL: The sign "Theatre Closed" is up outside this one. Built by Oscar Hammerstein's dad in 1911, it has always been something of a white elephant. The management blame crippling entertainment taxes for the closure, but nearer the truth is what has always been its problem—it's tough to fill a huge 2,000-seater that is off the beaten track in the business area of Kingsway.



WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS — There were a few brisk showers along the southern coast Friday evening as a surge of cool air from the Pacific pushed across the coast into the interior. At the same time cool, moist air from the north and east moved into the interior of the province to cause considerable shower activity and a few sharp thunderstorms. As a result the whole province was covered by cool, moist air this morning and the outlook for both today and Sunday is for generally cloudy weather. Showers will occur quite frequently in the interior today with a few along the coast. A few showers will persist Sunday in the interior. Temperatures will average a little below what normally can be expected at this time of year.

Civil Servants Could Win Retroactive Pay—Bennett

REGINA (CP)—Premier Bennett said Friday night if the British Columbia legislature passes a proposed increase in civil service salaries at the next session, many of the increases may be retroactive.

He said he could give no definite commitment on retroactive increases but will recommend a raise in basic salaries. The increase should be voted by the legislature and not passed through order-in-council.

The premier made the statement in answer to a question from the floor during an election meeting here. The questioner asked him to comment on the provincial government's labor policy.

Mr. Bennett said his province has more persons unionized on a percentage basis than any other in Canada and also has the highest average wage. B.C. was the first province to give a five-day week to civil servants.

"No civil service was ever treated as well by any government as in British Columbia."

The premier added that basic increases for civil servants—above regular annual increments—were given in 1952 and in 1956. The last increase cost $2,000,000.

Provincial CCF Leader Robert Strachan charged today that Premier Bennett had "goaded (the civil servants) to rebellion by his adoption of a mid-Victorian employer attitude." Mr. Strachan called on Mr. Bennett to take immediate action "to prevent a breakdown of provincial government in B.C."

Ragpicker Dies, 25 Children Hurt In Bomb Blast

ZARAGOZA, Spain (AP) — More than 25 children from seven to 12 years old gathered around a ragpicker after he uncovered a 100-pound aerial bomb in a field.

They watched as the man handled the bomb. When it exploded the man was killed and 18 children were injured. The bomb was believed to have been left from the Spanish Civil War.

Shutter VIEWS

An important tool for control overlooked by many photographers is the use of selective focus. Judiciously used, selective focus can be employed to bring into bold relief specific subject matter while backgrounds which contribute little or, in fact, actually detract from the scene, are eliminated.

In theory, a lens focuses on only one plane with the relative degree of sharpness and quality of the scene as a whole dependent on aperture, distance and focal length among other mechanical considerations. It follows that if this plane of sharpness can be juggled and positioned at will to gain the most striking effect obtainable, the photographer will find a flexible new means of expression.

By the way, you shutterbugs might do well to practice a little selective focusing in the direction of JUS-RITE PHOTOS LTD. where you get fast service and the highest quality in developing and printing and the most reasonable prices in town.

ART IN REVIEW — By MONCRIEFF WILLIAMSON

Pure Abstraction Versus Drippage, Smudge and Spot

Last week I received a letter from a friend in London, England, who was serving as chairman of a selection jury for an exhibition of abstract painting. He remarked that there had been an enormous amount of activity in abstract painting in London recently.

The Refern Gallery had just finished a big show called 'Metavisual, Tachiste and Abstract." Londoners were flocking by their thousands to the Tate Gallery where a selection from the Guggenheim Museum of Non-objective Painting in New York was on view.

Williamson

Recently there had been an exhibition of abstract painting at the Institute of Contemporary Arts, while at the Marlborough Gallery Italian abstract art was drawing crowds in Bond Street.

Not to be outclassed, I notice, the Art Gallery for Greater Victoria is showing (until June 16) works by the Quebec Automatistes—members of the Association des Artistes Non-figuratif de Montreal.

Traditionalists Lured to Abstraction

Abstract art is the product of inquisitiveness and there is no doubt that it holds a remarkable fascination for painters and sculptors. In recent years several prominent artists, distinguished in the field of traditional and realistic painting, have been experimenting with abstract forms, and among the latest recruits to the ranks of abstractionists is Rodrigo Moynihan, R.A.

All over the world artists are evolving new methods of picture making—some mere novelties which do not merit serious consideration.

"Drippage" or the art of standing on a chair and dripping paint upon canvas spread on the floor, is perhaps the most unworthy claimant to the honors of the fine arts.

Most properly it is referred to as the art of the drip!

Tachisme, or the staining, spotting and smudging of paint upon various surfaces can be jolly good fun after a party and, like "drippage," often produces startlingly effeceive pictorial compositions.

The hard core of abstractionist painting, however, continues to arouse our curiosity and respect. It is 20th Century and virile.

It is a movement which advances rather than falters and its secret is extreme individualism. It would have appealed to Rembrandt who was a devotee of experiment and preached the rugged creed that art was only important if it expressed an artist's personal viewpoint.

Rembrandt-Like Individualism

His was a tough philosophy demanding great sacrifice. He remained aloof, firmly individual and ahead of his age.

Abstract art, being based on individualism, calls for the same aloofness and erects the same barriers of misunderstanding between artist and public which plagued Rembrandt when he experimented with the introduction of light into the dark canvases of the Netherlands.

Like Rembrandt, abstract artists paint alone and make no attempt at meeting the public half-way.

Much that is written about abstract painting or sculpture is incomprehensibile nonsense and the method of titling works as "Composition I" or "Project in Summer, 9," only adds to the bewilderment of well-intentioned seekers after enlightenment.

Obviously there is not space here for me to tell you why I, personally, enjoy abstract art. All I can say is that it has always fascinated me since I was a student at Edinburgh College of Art away back in the thirties. It is an appreciation which has grown with me, and whenever I try to explain it I grow verbose and unintelligible.

But I can, perhaps, give you a few aids to understanding.

Never, for example, pay attention to the titles. Every artist for business reasons must keep a record of his output. If his picture has no known subject, and if he painted a series of canvases using the same theme with variations, then composition 1, 2, 3, etc., is a satisfactory method of recording. If he embarked on a project of applying paint in a certain way during the summer months, then summer project 9, 10, 11 is equally satisfactory.

Never ask an abstract artist to explain his work to you in terms of story-telling. Avoid reading catalogue prefaces, pamphlets and other appreciative literature until after you have looked at the pictures.

Develop the habit of considering each painting as a separate pattern of colors in relation to the frame which surrounds it. An object without a story, like a bough hanging against the corner of a roof. Just keep an open and tolerant mind.

★ ★ ★

Whether you write letters to newspapers and sign yourself, "Traditionalist," because you regard abstract art and its adherents, victims of a sick and pestiferous world; or whether you respond sympathetically to the experimentations of sincere, hard-working artists who believe wholeheartedly in their objectives, it is worth remembering that abstractionists remain gloriously indifferent one way or the other.

Rembrandt would have been on their side.

BOOK TALK — By JAMES SCOTT

Free Press Tradition Upheld by Book Publisher

The release of a book by Alger Hiss called "In the Court of Public Opinion" provokes some thoughts on the role of the book press. In this case I was not so much concerned about whether justice had or had not been done Mr. Hiss (the issue has become so beclouded that a layman like I will probably never be able to make up his mind) as I was interested in the fact that a prominent U.S.A. publisher would publish such a book.

Scott

I may be very, very wrong but my guess is that this book will never become a best seller. In tone and presentation it is not very far away from a legal brief and such prose is generally not considered the most sprightly in the world. Besides, the case has been so long drawn out, Mr. Hiss has served his term and I doubt that public interest is at the pitch required for successful promotion of such a book as this. Yet publisher Alfred A. Knopf has given it the full treatment (it is a well printed and produced job) and seems willing to take his chances.

Justice From the Written Word

Of course, Mr. Knopf may possibly have some ulterior motive of his own, but I prefer to believe that he is following along a well-defined path in publishing and is keeping alive one of the splendid traditions of the free press.

Right from the time the printing press came halfway into general use, it has been used by men who felt they had received something less than justice, to present their case to what, happily, is still the final court in any free land—the court of public opinion.

The broadsides which were distributed in the streets of London in the sixteenth century, the pamphlets which were written by John Milton and many less famous men in the seventeenth, the renowned defences of men like Defoe (who wrote Robinson Crusoe) and Swift in the eighteenth century are all part of this tradition.

LASTING TESTAMENT

Even in our own era where other means of communication have been developed, the printed word—the book or pamphlet—still has its place.

The Duke of Windsor made one of the most famous appeals to the court of public opinion in the 1930's over the radio but twenty years later he found he was impelled to write a book about it, to give it firmer form and to have a more lasting testament of his convictions.

So now we have the case for Alger Hiss. After this I don't think there is much more to be said or written. His arch-accuser, Wittaker Chambers, has already written his book—Witness. Now, in much more sober tones, the accused has been given a chance to present his side to the public.

Another type of good publishing—and one which, fortunately, we see a good deal of in Canada—is that which undertakes to put in book form the good accounts of various aspects of local history. Latest to reach this desk is G. Elmore Reaman's The Trail of the Black Walnut, an account of the very important part played in the settlement of Upper Canada by the Pennsylvania German pioneers.

This is a very careful piece of research, well-documented and authentic which shows that in almost all sections of what is now Ontario these "Plain Folk" were the first people to establish stable communities.

McClelland and Stewart have underwritten the publication of this valuable piece of historical research.

Yet strangely enough, it is this same firm which has lent itself to a form of political propaganda which I have not seen in my lifetime in Canada.

Obviously cooperating with a political party, they are inundating a certain mailing list with advertising for Judith Robinson's frankly propagandistic This Is on the House. The advertising, which purports to come from the publisher is in

Whoever may or may not win in this case, certain it is that the publisher deserves another laurel leaf in his wreath for perpetuating a great tradition in book publishing.

The swimming pool is making room for the sport car as a Hollywood symbol. Cornel Wilde, who acts in and produces "The Devil's Hairpin," had studio files and car registrations checked to determine the availability of sport racing cars locally prior to starting production of his picture. The study shows that one of every nine Hollywood cars is a sport job, and this makes Hollywood possessor of the largest concentration of sport cars in the world. The distinction used to belong to the Riviera.

THE SOUNDING BOARD

Stratford Speech Expert To Give Lecture Series

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

No one can attend any public function where any sort of speech-making or commentary is made without realizing the drastic need for more attention to the purely mechanical process of being audible. Sloppiness of speech is one of the weaknesses of our age.

A few dozen years ago, for example, any entertainer worthy of the name could make himself heard in every part of the world's largest auditoriums. But with the age of the microphone, too many seem to have abandoned the effort to project speech.

Audrey

We are treated instead to the spectacle of many headline professionals clinging to a "mike" like a steel filing to a magnet.

But unless public address systems are installed and handled by experts, the mike can do more of a dis-service than otherwise to both the speaker and his audience.

Adjudicators, except those who happen to have been specially schooled in speech, perfectly illustrate the crucial importance of clear enunciation. They are a gold mine of information and specialized knowledge. They have been engaged on that basis. I have met only one or two in my whole experience who were not anxious to share as much as possible with every hungry mind within hearing.

But how many are within hearing when the beautiful words never issue fully formed from their lips?

"I can't hear him—I wish he'd speak up," are among the most commonly heard expressions at any festival, play (not always excepting professional either), meeting or forum.

This outburst—which is always simmering on the back of my mental cookstove—was brought to the boil by the imminent arrival in Victoria for a nine-day visit, of Miss Esme Crampton.

Miss Crampton is the speech specialist who, for the past two seasons, has trained Stratford Festival's Shakespearean actors. She was also a lecturer at the recent Dominion Drama Festival Conference in Edmonton and will give a speech course at University of B.C. Summer School in July and August.

In Three Countries

Her background is an impressive one. Born in England, after graduation from London University with diplomas in dramatic art and an International Phonetics certificate, she spent three years in professional repertory.

Later she embarked on a teaching career, which included classes for Sadler's Wells Ballet School, and in Australia and Canada.

She was engaged in 1955 by Tyrone Guthrie, as voice teacher for the Canadian Stratford Festival. Before coming to Victoria she has been giving a two-week speech course at the University of Alberta.

The supreme point of all this is, however, that Miss Crampton will give five consecutive evening lectures on the use of the voice, starting Wednesday in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

Lectures will be given under the following heads: "Use of the Voice" (in public speaking, preaching, toastmaking, etc.); "Use of Voice and Speech in Drama"; "Method of Voice Production"; "Use of Voice" (2) and a final theme to be announced. The lectures will take place from 7.30 to 9.30.

Choral Speech

The organizing committee have also arranged for Miss Crampton to conduct special sessions in choral speaking for children and adults on Saturday afternoon and evening.

Full details may be obtained by phoning Mrs. R. B. Fields, 2-2604 or Mrs. G. Williamson, 9-4038.

As has already been said, clear speech is a mechanical matter; the understanding and application of principals of resonance and articulation. It is something that, given the will to learn, can be accomplished fairly quickly.

ESME CRAMPTON

It is one of the few arts or skills whose foundations can be laid within the compass of so short a course when administered by an expert.

If many people who have occasion to speak from a public platform in this city—including actors—are honest with themselves and really want to be effective in their work, Mrs. Fields and Mrs. Williamson should be swamped with calls.

FESTIVAL BOX OFFICE SALES HIGH

It is reported from Stratford, Ont., that the box office pre-sale is more than $11,000 ahead of the same period last year. Total amount of tickets sold to date, is $136,970.

Music sales especially show a substantial increase over last season. Both "Hamlet" and "Twelfth Night" are selling well, with the latter a slight favorite. Last week of the season is being booked by substantial numbers of school groups.

Ticket orders have come from many points of the compass, including Hawaii, Texas and Kentuckey.

METROPOLITAN STAR ON NATIVE SOIL

(REVIVAL) "FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS" (Capitol):—Paramount's adaptation of Ernest Hemingway's novel about the Spanish civil war is proud proof, if proof were needed, that the best pictures made a decade ago can transcend the latest technical improvements and acting techniques to stand as fresh and inviting as the day they were made.

Filmed, if memory serves well, in the early war years, possibly about 1942, this is a film that should be seen by all those who enjoy hoarding memories of fine motion pictures. It should also be of interest to those who first saw it, if only to remember how beautiful Ingrid Bergman was as a shining new star, and how quietly handsome Garry Cooper was as the American teacher who went to Spain to fight, not because he wanted to, but because he had to, so great was his belief in the cause.

★ ★ ★

LIKE ALL good plays, "For Whom the Bell Tolls," was amply stocked with outstanding secondary and minor characters who gave the plot pith and depth. There is Akim Tamiroff as Pablo, the once-brave guerrilla chieftain; Katina Paxinou as Pablo's wife Pilar, who although tender in the ways of love was tough enough to vote for her husband's death in the name of the cause. There were Arturo de Cordova, Joseph Calleia and Vladimir Sokoloff as wily and intrepid mountain fighters and Mikhail Rasumny as the colorful and comical gypsy, Rafael.

But, above all, there were Cooper and Miss Bergman who are always paramount as Hemingway's Robert Jordan and Maria, bound together by lines and situations that can lead but to a desperate, despairing, short-lived love of three days. Because the bridge is always there, the bridge that Jordan must blow up at a precise time on an exact day.

Possibly Miss Bergman has never appeared quite so beautiful before or since "For Whom the Bell Tolls." Although she has been the subject of one of the most infamous of the barbarities of war she is incongrously naive in the ways of love. It is she, possibly, who most of all makes the film the memorable one it is.

Van Johnson told Playhouse 90 to find a story for him. He's ready for his home screen debut.

RECORD SHOP

TV Influencing Children's Taste

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Some interesting trends are reported by record companies.

These show that the sale of children's records is decreasing. On the other hand demand for pop records, which has always been heaviest in the teen-age bracket, is now growing in the 8-10 age limit. It seems that television is effecting the musical tastes of children.

Speaking of new records, one of the finest to be released this month is Columbia's "Johann Strauss Fledermaus Suite." This music performed by the Philadelphia Orchestra really sparkles under the baton of Eugene Ormandy.

Davy

Die Fledermaus, by the way, was Strauss masterpiece in the field of light opera. Some of the finest waltzes ever composed are heard in this work.

The disc also features several other selections, such as "Music of the Spheres," "Sword and Lyre" and "Thousand and One Nights." You can't lose on this record.

★ • ★ ★

Columbia has released another first-class record which will surprise anyone who is not too familiar with Saint-Saens' tone poems. The disc goes under the title of "Dance Macabre," one of the best-known works of the composer.

The special feature of this record, however, is not "Dance Macabre," but three other tone poems which are little known and are equally as interesting. These include "Omphale's Spinning Wheel," "La Jeunesse D'Hercule" and "Phaeton."

In "Omphale's Spinning Wheel" Saint-Saens depicts the whirling and whirring of the wheel spinning flax into fine thread. It is pretty effective.

POPS LIBRARY

Aficianados of the Spanish guitar are referred to "Guitarra Estupenda," a Foremost LP presenting Adomono on the strings. Adomono isn't Spanish but is of Hungarian and Romanian descent and this explains the gypsy touch that makes his work outstanding. Sound—excellent.

This story, by the famous Canadian author and newspaper correspondent Lionel Shapiro, won the Governor-General's Award in 1956. Essentially a story of romance under wartime conditions in Britain, there is actually very little war action until climaxed by "D Day, the Sixth of June." Filmed in rural England and Metropolitan London, the story is graphically portrayed by an excellent cast starring Richard Todd who made such a success of his role in "A Man Called Peter," and who served during the war with the British Airborne Troops for six years. A great picture which we can well recommend. To commemorate the landings which took place 12 years ago this date.

TOKYO (AP)—"Slacks poorly fitted to figures and figures poorly fitted to slacks are combinations that lend little grace to any public occasion or building."

That pronouncement on feminine attire was contained in a warm-weather note today from Maj.-Gen. H. J. Cairns to "women of the American military community in Tokyo."

It warned wives and daughters of military personnel that shorts, pedal-pushers and halters "are inappropriate for street wear and for wear in military installations."

B.C. Climbers to Tackle Mt. Fairweather in '58

The first attempt by Canadians to scale the highest peak in British Columbia will be made next year by a group of B.C. mountaineers.

The B.C. Centennial Committee announced it has approved a proposal to finance B.C. alpine climbers in an expedition to scale the 15,300-foot Mt. Fairweather, situated on the B.C.-Alaska border.

Victoria climbers may be invited to take part in the expedition which is being organized by the aVncouver section of the Canadian Alpine Club and the B.C. Mountaineering Club.

U.S. TEAM

The mountain, guarded by deep gorges and treacherous glaciers, was scale donce before by a U.S. team of mountaineers. They climbed the peak from the American side.

The B.C. expedition would challenge the mountain from the Canadian side.

An eight-man team will be selected this fall from members of various alpine clubs. They will train through the winter and tackle Mt. Fairweather in late May and early June. The climb is expected to take at least one month.

Special high-altitude equipment and clothing will be necessary for the expedition. Several camps will also have to be stocked with supplies by parachute.

A. W. Lash, former chairman of the Victoria section of the Canadian Alpine Club, said some Victoria members had planned to scale the mountain this year, but decided to drop the project for the time being.

MT. FAIRWEATHER, highest peak in this picture, is B.C.'s tallest mountain, 15,300 feet.

Building Garage Without Permit Costs Man $20

For building a garage on his property without a permit, Robert Fleming, 2490 Sinclair, was fined $20 Thursday in Saanich police court.

He argued through counsel the work had been completed more than six months before the charge was laid, and applied the statute of limitation in his defence. Two witnesses said they had seen work being done within the six months prior to the charge being laid.

A second charge, of storing automobiles on his property in violation of a zoning by-law, was adjourned for judgment.

THE BALD BOY—CHAPTER SIX

Hair-Raising Medical 'Facts'

By ELMER WHEELER

Certain forms of falling hair can be caused by improper diet (malnutrition) and anyone losing their hair should see a good diet doctor and find this out.

That was my own doc's advice.

"As for you," he snapped, "you've enough minerals and vitamins cashed away in that pot belly and your doubde chin to nourish six men."

I told him o.k.— no need for more sarcasm. That since I was not losing my hair from lack of minerals and vitamins, then what was the next step to take?

Was it heredity? And how come a guy just entering college often loses his hair before he makes the football team? How come? Inheritance?

He then told me people have no control over their heredity. "You can't pick out your parents," he said.

He told me that if pa and grandpa had no hair, that the chances of you having none are good, although no positive guarantee could be given. He told me that this didn't always work out, but research indicated it might.

I TOLD him my grandpa had a real Daniel Boone head of hair at his death, that my pa also had lots at 72.

"Then you aren't inheriting it," he said, "unless back farther in your life there was a string of bald boys and the strain is catching up to you."

"Then mine may be due to some neglect, need, or ailment?" I asked.

That was some hope.

"Quit diagnosing yourself," he suggested. "Remember a guy who diagnoses his own ailment has a fool for a doctor.

He went on.

HE TOLD ME many interesting things, such as: The scalp for redheads had about 90,000 hairs, brunettes about 100,000, and blondes 140,000.

That hair grows about half an inch a month and is only alive a short distance beyond the bulb or papilla where it starts from.

That contrary to popular belief, the cutting of the hair does not have any effect on its rapid growth, such as when you cut the lawn.

He told me that deep in the scalp is a bulb like a tiny growth called the papilla. Surrounding the upper part of this bulb or papilla are cells which multiply and form hair.

Blood and oxygen carried by blood vessels in the papilla feed these cells from which hair forms.

As the cells continue to multiply and the hair grows, it literally pushes itself out of the skin through a shaft or tunnel in the skin called the follicle.

ON THE WAY up the hair passes a lubricating sac known as the sebaceous gland and comes bursting out into the world with a natural sheen.

That is, he advised me, if there are no disorders of the sebaceous gland. "And thus we come to something that may stop your hair from falling."

I tried to pin him down but he stood up and said my five bucks was up for the day, and to come back later on. That I had enough information for the time being.

If I'd come back again he'd go into such curable causes of falling hair as a disturbed sebaceous gland, emotions, disorders of the system and just plain "worry."

I left.

I had a more pressing problem. What should I do with the bottle of glue?

Lawn Sprinkling Ban Unlikely This Year

City engineer J. C. Garnett said Friday it is likely no lawn sprinkling regulations will be enforced in the city this year. However, the situation will be closely watched during the reconstruction of Point Ellice Bridge which necessitates closing off a main pipeline which crosses the bridge at present.

Election Returns Monday Night at 7 On C-2 and 7.30 C-6

Ray Bolger, Dinah Shore End Season; Canada's Durell Fights on Friday

Biggest TV show of the year for Canadians is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday when CBUT, Channel 2, Vancouver, brings viewers up-to-the-minute election returns. Channel 6 will come on the air half an hour later.

Since the end of the Second World War, at least, by the time British Columbia listeners tuned in on their radios (and a few their TV sets last election) the election, because of time lag between east and west, was over for all practical purposes and the triumph conceded to the Liberal Party.

This year, however, if the polls and reports from Canadian newsmen and political pundits can be relied upon, the final result may be still in doubt, needing the outcome of the B.C. votes to swing the decision one way or the other.

Both stations will carry the results until 9 p.m., or, it is understood, later if necessary.

Other highlights of the week include Wednesday's debut of the new Pacific 13 series which starts off with the "Cloverdale Rodeo" at 10 p.m. on Channels 6 and 2.

On Thursday, at 8, on Channel 4, Ray Bolger will offer his final hour-long variety show of the season. His guests will include Canada's Gisele MacKenzie, Benny Goodman, Martha Carson, Muriel Landers and Kay Armen.

The same night at 9.30, Channel 11, Playhouse 90 will offer an hour-and-a-half adaptation of Clifford Odet's play, "Clash by Night." This is about Jerry Wilensky who invites his best friend Earl Pfeiffer into his home. Pfeiffer's gratitude to his buddy is so great that he promptly makes love to Mae, his wife. The cast is a strong one, including Kim Stanley, Lloyd Bridges, E. G. Marshall and Edgar Stehli.

Friday night's fight, Channel 4, at 11, promises to be interesting if only because a Canadian, 10th ranked middleweight Yvon Durell of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., takes on Tony Anthony, the No. 1 boy.

The same night at 9 on Channel 4 Dinah Shore puts on her final 60-minute variety show of the season. Her guests will be Nanette Fabray, Fred MacMurray, Minnie Pearl and singer Dean Jones.

PUZZLES and PASTIMES

NUMBERS, PLEASE

No.

Each of these jailbirds has let his prison identification number go to his head, as you can see. Anyone should be able to figure them out literally.

Each prisoner's serial number is composed of a single digit used successively. The figure at top left, for instance, is based on sevens. You are asked to determine how many.

No.

Prisoner portraits may be turned upside down, sideways, etc., even viewed in a mirror, in "getting their numbers." How quickly can you insert the correct figures in the spaces provided?

Answer: Numbers are, respectively, left to right and down, seven used thirteen times; five used eight times; two used eight times; eight used four times.

No.

TAKES AN HOUR TO SOLVE THIS

A clock that strikes the hours only has struck 21 in the last three hours. What time is it? How quickly can you answer?

Answer: It's eight o'clock (morning or night).

UNPOPULAR LETTER

Try this one on your friends. The only letter of the alphabet not used in spelling the names of the 48 states is also the only letter omitted from the telephone dial.

Within one minute, what is the letter?

Answer: The alphabet's seventeenth letter.

TWO TWISTY TONGUE TESTERS

Repeat the following statements aloud rapidly and see if you can avoid tripping your tongue.

She stood at the door of Fargus' fish-sauce house. A group of dozing guppies in a dollar copper pot.

UP-DOWN BRAINWORK

A ladder rests against a wall, with its top projecting. When the foot of the ladder is 16 feet from the wall, 3 feet project over the top. When the foot of the ladder is 9 feet from the wall, 8 feet project over the top. How high is the wall?

Answer: The wall is 12 feet high.

No.

WHAT NUMBER IS IT?

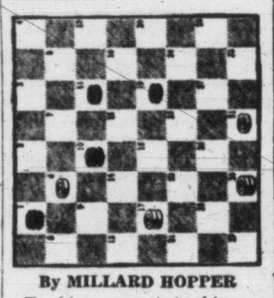
What is the smallest number that can be divided by 8, 9, 10 and 12 with the remainder 5 in each case?

Answer in two minutes.

Solution: White 12-16, Black 10-17, White 31-26, Black 1-10, White 26-22, Black 17-26, White 30-23-18-1-14.

Answer: Three hundred and sixty-five.

IT'S YOUR MOVE



By MILLARD HOPPER

To king or not to king — that's the question here. White's man on square six is the key piece as White, moving up the board, moves first and wins in four moves. Can you plot White's moves accordingly?

GOING IT ALONE?

Billy was glad when Grandpa's dog joined him for a walk, because there didn't seem to be any other company in sight. But if he had looked more closely he'd have seen he had lots of companions. At least nine other creatures are in hiding. They include:

2 piglets
1 squirrel
1 kitten
1 goat
1 bunny
1 turtle
1 chicken
1 duck

How quickly can you find them?

Your Social Credit Candidate for Victoria

A lifelong Liberal and a prominent Victoria resident phoned me Thursday to report that he will cast a Social Credit ballot on Monday.

"I will not support a political party that can repudiate British people as the Liberals did during the Suez Crisis," he said.

Statements by both the Prime Minister and the Minister of External Affairs, and the actions of the Canadian delegation at the United Nations were "the most unkindest cut of all."

Sir Anthony Eden could expect such condemnation from Moscow. With the on again, off again diplomatic policies of the United States, he could have expected anything from Washington.

But from Ottawa, he had every right to expect at least a full analysis of the Middle Eastern problem. Instead his plan of action was condemned without consultation and within minutes after it was announced.

We have done nothing to solve the problem of the Middle East. We have only prolonged the inevitable day of reckoning, and the longer it is delayed the more difficult and more costly will be the solution.

We are now committed to support the dollar diplomacy of the United States, a formula that has been notable in the past ten years for its failures.

The United States and the Liberal Government at Ottawa denounced Great Britain and France for attempting to protect their life line through the Suez Canal.

But how long would the United States—and Canada—stand by if the Republic of Panama, with the backing of a powerful Communist empire, announced that it was revoking the Panama Canal treaties and was assuming full control of that canal?

Put the shoe on the other foot and see how well it fits.

I have received a letter from the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association concerning my use of the colloquialism "a Chinaman's Chance." I have always been an outspoken advocate of equal rights and equal privileges for all races and I would not at any time jeopardize my friendship with members of the Chinese Community by saying anything derogatory about them or about their race. Certainly no derogatory meaning was implied in the use of this phrase and I sincerely regret that it has caused any concern among our Chinese residents.

GENE RAN INTO A TOUGH TIGER

Former world's middleweight champion Gene Fullmer (left) displays battle cuts over eye and forehead inflicted by rugged Ralph (Tiger) Jones, who is shown connecting with a right in the final round of their 10-round bout in Chicago. Fullmer, from Salt Lake City, gained a unanimous decision over the sixth-ranked Jones, but received criticism for his backing-up tactics. (AP Wirephoto.)

Gene Went to Movies To Teach Tiger Lesson

CHICAGO (UP) — Ex-middleweight champion Gene Fullmer was back on the comeback trail today with a victory over Tiger Jones, earned by going to the movies and hanging around corners.

"Sure, Jones had me in corners almost all through last night's fight," Fullmer said. "But that's the way I had it figured. I wanted him to corner me. He just fell right into place."

Fullmer said he and his manager, Marv Jensen, studied movies of every one of Jones' 44 previous fights they could get hold of.

"We saw the way," Jensen said. "Jones likes to come in with his head down until he can corner his man. Then he pounds the guy as deep into the corner as he can and stands up straight, wide open with no guard."

Jensen said he decided to have Fullmer, 161, just go into the corner himself, without waiting to be pounded in, then to wait for Jones, 157, to straighten up and let him have it.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT

Fullmer worked the pattern into a unanimous, 10-round decision over Jones. Judges Howard Walsh and Frank Clark each had the West Jordan, Utah, welder in a copper mine five points ahead of Jones. Referee Joey White scored it 49-46.

Jones, 29, from Yonkers, N.Y., said he kept yelling at Fullmer to "come on and fight."

"How are you going to fight a guy who's running?" Jones asked. "If Fullmer had run backwards any faster I never would have caught him."

Fullmer grabbed the middleweight crown from Sugar Ray Robinson in January, then lost it May 1 here when Robinson sent him sprawling with a left hook.

IT SEEMS TO ME BY Doug Peden

This is the year of decision for Norm Boden.

Remember Norm? The shy, rosy-cheeked youngster from Gorge Vale who had Victoria's golf alley in a tizzy last summer when he won the Gorge championship and the city amateur crown?

The loose-limbed, 20-year-old's swing showed promise. His putting had a touch of greatness. Here, they said, was another Bob Fleming. And Norm was eager to prove them right. Golf was his life and, he hoped, his future career. He did everything but take his clubs to bed with him. Things were rosy in Bodentown.

Since then he has been an also-ran more often than a $100 plater.

Norm has matured since that day at Uplands when he snatched the city title from under Fleming's nose on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff. But his golf game has behaved like a juvenile delinquent.

NORM BODEN

The crew-cut kid still gave the orders, but his swing had ideas of its own. For the first time in four years, golf was no longer fun. It was torture.

As the pain and scores increased, Norm's visits to Gorge Vale decreased, and then almost stopped.

When he was down among the duffers in a few minor tournaments during the winter and far off the pace in this year's Island Open, the locker-room critics wrote him off as a one-summer wonder.

Since he opened with rounds of 82 and 79 and will begin Sunday's final 36 holes of the city amateur tourney 14 strokes back of the leading trio, the diagnosis, on the surface, looks good.

But the dope from the par paddock could be wrong.

Let's see what's been happening to Norm.

When his scores began to skyrocket and the fun of golf was gone, Norm knew he was as stale as last week's buns. It was time for less playing and more thinking.

He gave his clubs a rest for a while then ripped his swing apart at the seams and began putting it together bit by bit. When he was missed at the golf club, he was in the back yard, studying his swing by the hour, looking for flaws.

"Now," he says, "I think I know what I have to work on. There's lots of time, but by September I should know if I have a future in golf."

A Long Trip, But Norm Should Make It

To help his plans, Boden switched jobs and went to work at the Gorge club this week. He starts at 4 in the morning and finishes around noon, leaving lots of time for practice.

But he won't be making the same mistake as last year, when he was on the course from morning till night. This time it will be only two or three hours a day.

Also important is the fact that his confidence has returned. "The swing is coming back," he says. "I'm sure I'll be as good as ever."

That "good as ever" included a 68 at each of the area's four courses. It also included the ability to produce under pressure, shown in the city amateur last year when he roared through the final nine holes in 32 strokes to tie Fleming and refused to crack in the extra-hole playoff against a tourney-tested foe.

He is tackling the job in the right way and he has the physical equipment. But Norm still has a long way to go before convincing the locker-room crowd he isn't a one-summer flash. And he'll have to do it this year.

The thought from this corner is that he should make it. The sun may be shining in Bodentown again by September.

AT FIRST DIVISION DOOR

Rainiers Hand Key To Duane Pillette

By The Associated Press

Duane Pillette takes the mound tonight for Seattle in an effort to open the Pacific Coast League first-division door to the Rainiers.

By winning three of four games in the current series, including a twin-bill Friday night, Seattle has jumped to within a game and one-half of fourth-place Los Angeles. Another Rainier victory would put the fourth-place ranking at stake in the teams' Sunday doubleheader.

Pillette faces Tom Lasorda in the Seattle-Los Angeles clash. Friday night, Larry Jansen pitched the Rainiers to a 2-0, first-game shutout and they wrapped up the nightcap, 2-1, in 10 innings.

CONTINUE ROUTINE

Vancouver and San Francisco made what's getting to be a routine swap of first and second place. The Mounties moved into the PCL leadership by defeating seventh-ranked Portland, 5-4, while the Seals were being dropped, 6-5, by third-place Hollywood.

Joe Stanka hurled last place Sacramento to a third victory in four starts this series against San Diego. He allowed 11 hits and seven walks but struck out eight for a 5-3 triumph over the Padres, now in sixth.

Jansen backed up his own shutout pitching when he doubled in the third inning of the opener to bring home the first Seattle score and then crossed the plate himself on Ed Basinski's triple for the second.

In the nightcap the Rainiers scored in the first inning but Los Angeles tied it up in the ninth. Seattle came back in the bottom of the ninth to load the bases but couldn't score. They pushed across a game-winning tally in the 10th.

Portland errors helped the Mounties as they came from behind for victory. The Mounties, trailing 4-1, tied it up in the eighth when they scored three times on two walks, a single and an error by Beaver second-sacker Billy Demars. He muffed what should have been a double-play throw from shortstop.

Vancouver won the game in the ninth, again with the help of the Beaver infield.

Jack Saved Big Punches To Pound Phils Near Top

Chalks Up Seventh Win; Reds Lose to Dodgers

By Associated Press

The story goes that Jack Sanford had to threaten a club official with a poke in the nose to stick with the Philadelphia Phillies this spring. It seems incredible—now that the fast-balling righthander is 7-1 and tops the National League with an .875 percentage.

In early April, however, it almost figured that Sanford might have to put the slug on somebody to make the majors. He was 27 and had kicked around in the minors for seven years.

He had pitched 11 no-hitters—but six were in high school, and the others were in service at Fort Bliss, Texas.

He was 1-0 in three games last year, winning with a seven-inning job against the Chicago Cubs after joining the Phils when he left the army late in the season—but in his last full season in organized ball he was 3-14, with Syracuse in 1954.

SECOND SHUTOUT

An incredible yarn? Sanford made it virtually preposterous Friday night. He three-hit the Cubs, striking out 13 for a 1-0 victory—his second consecutive shutout, in which he has allowed only five hits and fanned 24—that hoisted the third-place Phillies within a half-game of first-place Cincinnati. He now is tied for the National League lead in strike-outs with Brooklyn's Sandy Koufax, each having 59.

The skidding Redlegs lost their sixth in the last 10 games, beaten 6-3 by second-place Brooklyn and the three-hit pitching of Roger Craig—who hadn't had a complete game in 17 starts since beating the same Redlegs 5-2 last July 26. The Brooks' fourth victory in a row put them just three percentage points behind the Redlegs.

BRAVES MOVE UP

Fourth-place Milwaukee moved to within two games of the lead, beating Pittsburgh 5-0. And St. Louis beat the New York Giants 5-3 in 11 innings.

In the American League, Chicago's White Sox stayed five games out front, despite a 3-2, 11-inning defeat by Baltimore, as second-place New York was spilled 6-3 at Detroit. The Tigers moved into third place as Cleveland lost its fifth in a row, 11-7 to Washington.

Kansas City handed Boston a fourth consecutive loss, 6-3.

Solo home runs by Rube Walker and Don Zimmer brought the Dodgers a 4-2 lead in the fourth against loser Johnny Klippstein.

Warren Spahn, the shutout king, blanked the Pirates on seven singles to win his sixth.

Tito Francona's single brought home the run that beat Jack Harshman and ended the White Sox' winning streak at four games. George Zuverink won his fifth in relief as the White Sox blew two chances with base-running mistakes while out-hitting the Orioles 12-8.

The Tigers came from behind with four runs in the seventh to chase Don Larsen. Frank Bolling's two-run single was the clincher for Jim Bunning's fifth victory.

The young right-hander gave up Mickey Mantle's 14th home run but closed the Yankees' winning streak at four by fanning 10 and allowing only four more hits before giving way to a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Frank Lary mopped up.

Yogi Berra, who suffered a broken nose Wednesday, rolled out in a ninth-inning pinch-hitting role as the Tigers made it four out of five against the Yankees this season.

MRS. LAWSON WINS

Ladies' monthly medal rounds were played Friday at Uplands Golf Club with Mrs. K. S. Lawson winning the Silver Medal with a net 84-7, 77, and Mrs. W. J. Kempster taking the Bronze with a net 105-32, 75.

SOLARIUM DERBY

Importance of the work being done for crippled children by the Queen Alexandra Solarium is well known to Bruce Colegrave.

BRUCE COLEGRAVE
. . . man to see

Bruce's wife, Margaret, was a nurse at the Solarium for three years and both learned how the hospital has given new hope to many of B.C.'s crippled youngsters.

Bruce has been active with Solarium derby committees since the annual one-day salmon-fishing competition was started 11 years ago by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. This year he has already sold more than 100 derby tickets to qualify for the derby's 1957 Century Club.

All proceeds from the derby go to the Solarium and Bruce hopes to sell at least 300 more ducats before the event is staged at Saanich Inlet July 21.

Past president of the Navy Anglers' Association and a member of the VSIAA since 1937, Bruce lives at 2950 Millgrove Street. If you want either a derby ticket or information about the fish-fest, Bruce is one of the men to see. He can be reached by dialing 2-9902.

Trail Southpaw Retains Crown

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pete McIntyre, a southpaw swinger from Trail, won an easy third-straight B.C. Seniors' golf championship Friday when he defeated Larry McCooey of Victoria, the same man he faced in last year's final, 5 and 4.

A brief rally begun by McCooey on the 11th fairway could not overcome McIntyre's six-hole lead after 10 holes.

It was the third consecutive grand championship flight win for the 57-year-old Trail blazer. He had no trouble anywhere along the way. He defeated Archie Hazeldine of Vancouver, 5 and 4, in Thursday's semi-final, disposed of Pat Rogers of Vancouver, 4 and 3 Wednesday, and Tuesday topped the qualifying round with a 76 on the 72-par Marine Drive course.

McCooey, a Royal Colwood member, entered the final by edging former champion Hugh O'Callaghan, 2 and 1 in the semifinal round.

Five other flight winners were declared Friday.

John Park won the class "A" championship for 75 years and over. Charlie Wood triumphed in Class "B" for 70-75-age group, and Bob Dickenson took the class "C" title for 65-70. Bob McEwen won the class "D" 60-65 age title, and New Westminster Sheriff Frank Cotton walked off with the "Baby" championship, 59 or under.

CHASING CITY TITLES Sunday will be Frank Scroggs (top) and Dib Noble. Scroggs shares lead in Victoria amateur golf tournament with Bob Woods and Laurie Kerr and trio will start Sunday's final 36 holes at Oak Bay with three-stroke lead. Noble will be on firing line at Victoria Gun Club in search of Victoria trap-shooting title being defended by Henry Pottinger.

Annual Shoot Slated Sunday

Naval riflemen from the Pacific Coast Rifle Association will defend the Gordon Trophy at Heals Range Sunday.

Open to service units in the Greater Victoria area, the annual shoot will start at 9 a.m. with six teams attempting to dethrone the defending champions.

Also entered are squads from the Canadian Scottish, 25th Militia Group, 25th Medical Corps, Queen's Own Rifles, RCMP and a second Navy team.

Firing will be from the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges with marksmen firing 10 shots from each range.

OAK BAY CRICKET

Following is the Oak Bay Cricket Club team scheduled to meet Incogs Sunday at Windsor Park at 2.15 p.m.
J. Sparks, D. Warren, T. W. Gadban, Z. Woolfson, J. Sheather, J. Adams, A. Wright, K. Wright, G. Odgers, H. Dutton and A. Kay.

Leaders Gain As Stillson Beats Mary's

Gerry Stillson, pitching for Fletchers in the Senior "B" Men's Softball League, scattered seven hits last night and waltzed home an easy 9-1 winner over Mary's Coffee Bar at Heywood Avenue Friday night.

Stillson was in trouble only in the first inning, when Mary's picked up their sole run, and went from there to throw shutout ball.

Clothiers waited until the top of the fourth before they started to move with a pair of markers. They added four more in the sixth and three in the eighth to win going away.

The win moved Fletchers farther out in front of the league, giving them a full-game edge over second-place Brodie's.

Bolt Not Thundering Except on Scoreboard

AKRON, Ohio (UP)—Tommy Bolt, who tries to control a hot temper, and Dow Finsterwald, who apparently doesn't have one, start the third round of the $22,000 Rubber City Open golf tournament today sharing a one-stroke lead.

Bolt of Los Angeles continued to keep his temper in check Friday and added a 68 to his first-day 67 for a six-under-par 135. A bogey-five on the final hole kept him from taking undisputed first place.

Finsterwald, the even-tempered pro from Tequesta, Fla., who has finished in the money in the last 30 PGA-sponsored tournaments he has played in, added a four-under-par 67 to his first-round 68 to catch Bolt.

Finsterwald collected five birdies in the second round, three on the back nine over the 6,620-yard Firestone Country Club course.

Three younger pros—Gay Brewer, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio; Johnny Pott, of Shreveport, La., and Walker Inman, Jr., of Bolton, Mass.—tied for third at the halfway point with 136s.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., former amateur champion and second-ranking money winner on the 1957 pro tour, took second-round scoring honors. He went out in 31 for the day's best nine and ended with 66, the best round fired so far in the tournament. He was sixth with a 137.

Wizardry On Greens Paying Off

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Wiffi Smith carried a hot putter, a well-trained nine iron and a four-stroke lead into the third round of the Ladies' Professional Golf Association championship today.

Miss Smith, who has been playing golf for half her 20 years, dazzled a large following at the 5,761-yard Churchill Valley Country Club course Friday by one-putting seven greens. But she held back her payoff shot until the 18th hole.

On the 18th green, she let her putter cool in favor of a nine iron and sank a 30-foot chip shot for a birdie three that gave her a one-over men's par 71.

Wiffi's 71, combined with an opening round 68—a women's record here—gave her a 36-hole total of 139 and four-stroke bulge over her closest competitor, Louise Suggs, the LPGA president from Sea Island, Ga. Miss Suggs was 68-74—143 going into today's 18.

Friday's only par was turned in by Marilyn Smith, of Wichita, Kas., who posted a 34-36—70.

Close behind Miss Suggs and tied for third with 36 holes remaining were defending titlist Marlene Bauer Hagge, of Dallas, Texas, and Joyce Ziske, of Waterford, Wis., both with 144s. Tied for fifth with 145s were Alice Bauer, of Palos Park, Ill., and Patty Berg, of St. Andrews, Ill.

Ladder Derby

Two salmon were all that were registered in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby Friday, to bring the total of rungs occupied in the third week of competition to 11.

M. Alexander, with a four-pound, four-ounce fish, moved into fifth rung, while Merle Rimmer, with a 3-pound, 7-ouncer took over seventh place.

Good fishing has been reported but there are still 39 rungs to be claimed by Sunday night.

Unofficial ladder follows:

1—Capt. A. C. Cruchley	9.07
2—Gordon Balfam	8.06
3—Dr. W. J. Campbell	5.06
4—John Swedberg	5.05
5—M. Alexander	4.04

WHO TAKES 'PEP-PILLS'?

Gridders, Yes Milers, No

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bruno Banducci, former all-pro guard for the San Francisco '49ers and Toronto Argonaut player, said Friday that United States players in the Big Four, including himself, used so-called "pep pills" in games when he was in that league two years ago.

Banducci's statement was made in connection with charges by the American Medical Association that such pills are used in amateur and professional sports.

"I used them myself when I was with Toronto," Banducci told reporters. "All of the fellows who came from the United States did. They felt they had to in order to play the entire game as was expected of them.

Banducci said he knew the drug used in Canada as benzedrine.

HANGOVERS

Banducci, released by '49ers in 1954 after nine years with the club, said he thought the pills stimulated him.

"I played through all of the games and I didn't feel tired, and I doubt that would have been the case without the 'bennies.'

"The pills seemed to deaden the pain of injuries but, when their effect wore off," everything hurt and it was difficult for me to sleep after a hard game.

"The guys used to call them 'bennie hangovers'."

SWIMMERS, TOO

In Melbourne the world mile record holder, John Landy, vigorously denied he had ever used a stimulant to help in his races but a swimmer said "pep pills" are common among Aussie swim champions.

"Running the four-minute mile depends on hard, consistent training," said Landy. "I know of no case of a miler using drugs to better his performance."

Judy Joy Davies, one of Australia's crack swimmers, said, "some of our champion swimmers fearlessly admit they take pep pills to help them shatter records."

Archie Talks Big Money

DETROIT (AP) — Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore, suspended Friday by the National Boxing Association, has counterpunched with a threat to sue the NBA for $10,000,000.

The veteran boxer was suspended when he officially failed to appear for a scheduled bout with top-ranking contender Tony Anthony.

Moore was in Gelnhausen, Germany. Upon learning of his suspension and an NBA warning that his title will be declared vacant if he doesn't defend it by July 7, he stabbed back with his threat.

"Let him sue," was the reply of Floyd Stevens, NBA president.

Stevens disclosed plans for a tournament to select a champion should Moore not meet his obligation to defend within a month.

Stevens said his last communication with Moore was May 4. At that time Moore agreed to fight Anthony here Friday night if his terms were met, Stevens said. Moore said he wanted $100,000.

Moore denied he ever agreed to fight Anthony.

WIN BY 151 RUNS

Rain, Denis Help West Indies Team

BRISTOL, England (Reuters) —An undefeated century by Denis Atkinson, a timely shower of rain and good spin bowling by Garfield Sobers enabled the West Indies touring cricket team to beat Gloucestershire by 154 runs here Friday.

Declaring their second innings closed at 309 for 7 the tourists set Gloucestershire 331 to win at the rate of about 100 an hour. The county made a brilliant start but rain intervened and they were all out for 176.

Atkinson, captaining the West Indian side for the first time, hit his first century (101) of the tour in two hours, including one six and nine fours.

Close-of-play scores:

Derbyshire 223 and 242. Middlesex 127 and 175. Derbyshire won by 163 runs. Derbyshire (14 points.)

Worcestershire 288 for 7 declared and 207 for 5 declared. Oxford University 188 and 129. Worchestershire won by 178 runs.

Northamptonshire 213 and 111. Surrey 311 and 14 for no wickets. Surrey won by 10 wickets. Surrey (14 points.)

Nottinghamshire 250 and 239. Somerset 154 and 65 for 1. Draw. Nottinghamshire four points.

MCC 349 for 8 declared and 188 for 5. Lancashire 365 for 6 declared. Draw.

Sussex 276 and 101 for 1 declared. Royal Navy 177 for 9 declared and 131. Sussex won by 69 runs.

Lester Gets Double With Oaks Stakes Win

EPSOM, England (UP)—Carozza, a 100 to 8 shot, touched off one of the loudest cheers ever heard at the ancient Epsom Downs track Friday when she won the Oaks Stakes for Queen Elizabeth.

Carozza, ridden by Lester Piggott, scored a head victory over Joe McGrath's Silken Glider. It was the first victory that Queen Elizabeth has scored in one of England's classic races and the crowd let out a mighty roar when the bookmakers began shouting "hats off for the Queen" as the leaders neared the finish.

It also was a big day for Piggott, who won the English derby Wednesday with Crepello. Rae Johnstone, an Australian who won the derby and Galcador and the Oaks with Asmena in 1950, is the only other jockey who has won both classics in the same year.

Carozza's triumph in the mile-and-a-half Oaks was worth $45,082 to the Queen, one of the world's richest women and the top money-winner among British race horse owners this year.

Brooklyn's Reese Out With Chipped Left Rib

BROOKLYN (AP) — Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn's veteran shortstop, has a chip on his left rib, it was discovered today.

X-rays were taken Friday night and physicians said Reese will be out indefinitely, although he may be able to take batting practice in a week or so.

HARVIE WARD

Golf Champ On Probation For One Year

CHICAGO (UP) — Harvie Ward, winner of the last two national amateur golf championships, no longer was an amateur today and the U.S. Golf Association said "misinterpretation of the rules" got him into trouble.

The USGA executive committee Friday slapped a one-year probation on the San Francisco player. It said he "had violated his amateur status" and "no longer was considered an amateur."

Ward was with the committee when the decision was announced. He murmured "I feel terrible about this whole thing" and "I didn't realize I did any wrong," and then walked out.

The USGA contended Ward "violated his amateur status" by accepting expenses "incident to participation" for a four-year period beginning with the British Amateur in May, 1952, and ending with the Colonial tournament in Fort Worth, Tex., on May 6, 1956.

USGA executive director Joseph Dey of New York said it was "usual" for the group to penalize a case such as Ward's "beginning with the date of the last violation."

TO KEEP TITLES

Thus Ward would be eligible for reinstatement, if the USGA thought such action advisable, by May 6, 1958.

Dey said Ward would not be eligible to participate in the 1957 amateur at Brookline, Mass., in September to defend his title, but that the USGA had no intention of declaring his previous titles, won in 1955 and 1956, vacated.

"We don't do things that way," Dey said. "Ward will be allowed to keep his previous titles."

MAYOS KAYOED

Earned or Not Gorge Likes 'em

When opoprtunity knocks, you can rest assured that Gorge Hotelmen will answer.

The Innkeepers, threatening to run away with the Senior "A" Men's Softball League pennant, were the opportunists Friday night and the front-runners extended their hold on first place to two full games.

The Gorge boys made the most of errors and walks, plus a few timely hits, to knock off the cellar - dwelling Duncan Mayos 5-2 despite the fact that each club came up with the same amount of hits—seven.

FREE GIFTS

Three of the Gorge runs were unearned and fourth resulted after a wild pitch with two out. That was all Dave Price needed for a working margin. Price, working effectively, allowed Duncan two runs in the third but had things pretty well to his own liking the rest of the route. He struck out five and walked five.

Centre fielder Jim Peterson and Lou Schrenan each tagged Price for two hits, but they were well spaced.

The victim was Brian McKinley, Duncan's starter who gave way to Gerry Capps in the fourth as Gorge struck for three runs on two hits, a two-out error and three walks.

The second, third and fourth men in Gorge's batting lineup—Chick Newman, Leroy Bond and Ab Wiebe—each collected a pair of hits. Newman and Bond each scored twice while Wiebe ran across with the fifth tally. Wiebe, who went two-for-three, reached base all four times to the plate.

POTTINGER SETS PACE

Optimists Climb; Defeat Melrose

Ed Pottinger set the pace Friday night in the Victoria Babe Ruth League, hammering out a two-run homer to lead Centennial Optimists to an 11-6 victory over Melrose Service and move into a third-place tie with the losers.

Only three games separate all six teams in the tight league race. Menzies are in front by a full game and Tillicums, UCT and Optimists are all bunched on the second plateau with 5 and 4 records.

In the Saanich Babe Ruth League, Kilduff doled out four hits to Bapco Paint Supply as Brotherhood of Painters came up with a 4-2 win to go out on top of their loop by a full game.

Victoria Tire gave Steve Bishop flawless support at Windsor Park as they beat Pacific Sheet Furnaces, 8-2, with each team picking up five hits.

In the Carnarvon Pony League, Oak Bay Police dropped Victoria Police 5-1, with Bill McAdam throwing a four-hitter.

In the only Little League game played Friday, Kinsmen hammered out 16 hits for 14 runs against Tuglets who gained seven runs on 10 hits in the American League tussle.

Four pitchers saw action in the game, which left the two teams deadlocked on top of the league, one and a half games in front of third-place Lions.

La Belle Rose Wins

TORONTO (CP)—La Belle Rose, owned by E. P. Taylor, Toronto, won the $10,000 Woodbine Oaks at New Woodbine Friday. The Oaks is a stakes race for three-year-old fillies and traditionally contested on the eve of the running of the Queen's Plate.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor started a three-horse entry and won first, third and fourth moneys. Taffy Smash, owned by Lanson Farms, came very fast through the final furlong to finish second and spoil a clean sweep for the Taylor fillies. Illuminant was third and Touring was fourth.

BABE RUTH STARS HERE NEXT MONTH

City to Host B.C. Playoffs

Provincial minor baseball tournaments will be held for the first time in Victoria this year with the staging of Babe Ruth and Little League playoffs in July and early August.

British Columbia's Little League championship series will be staged at Little League Park early in August. Although tournament details are still to be arranged, entries are expected from Duncan, Cowichan Lake, Victoria and the Vancouver-New Westminster area.

The tournament season opens July 24-28, when Royal Athletic Park will be the site of the Babe Ruth playoffs.

Colin Kilburn, chairman of the provincial Babe Ruth committee, said district champions from various parts of B.C. are expected to enter the knockout competition.

DOUBLEHEADERS

Doubleheaders will be staged in the park each night, with the first game commencing at 6 p.m. and the second following at approximately 8 p.m.

Various functions have been arranged for the boys during their stay in Victoria, including free movies and a picnic. Final plans for the boys' free time have not been completed. It is also proposed to have the boys attend the Northwestern International Semi-Pro Baseball League game which will be played at Athletic Park July 27.

The tournament is under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club of Victoria and committees are now busy making plans to ensure the success of this event.

MOUNTIES GAIN AT GATE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League have drawn two-thirds again as many fans to their home games as they had at this time last year.

The winner of the series will have the right to represent British Columbia in the regional tournament to be held at Chehalis, Wash. There they will compete against teams from the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and the champion team from Alberta.

Last year, British Columbia was represented by a team from the Victoria and District Babe Ruth League. B.C. was eliminated in the semifinals by the team which eventually went on to win the regional tournament and a berth in world championship play.

Teams from various parts of British Columbia, including Powell River, and as far away as Nelson and Penticton, will be here for the tournament. British Columbia has been divided into six districts and each district is to provide one winning team for regional play. In all, a total of seven teams will enter, with two of these teams coming from Vancouver Island, including Victoria's entry.

The Victoria team will be an all-star selection to be chosen by the coaches and managers of the present Victoria and District Babe Ruth League teams.

When a man seeks public office, the voters are interested in, and entitled to know, something of his personal background as well as as the policies and the program for which he stands.

In the past four weeks, Waldo Skillings, your Social Credit Candidate for Victoria, has outlined the program that he will foster and support at Ottawa. We believe that you would like to know more about Mr. Skillings himself—his family life, his interests in Victoria, and his political background.

Waldo Skillings was born in Ontario 50 years ago, and his parents brought him to Victoria before he was a year old. He has lived here continuously since 1907.

He was educated in Victoria schools and he has been an active member of the business community here for the past 25 years.

His unrelenting opposition to special privileges for vested interests, and his eagerness to fight for the rights of the individual were demonstrated repeatedly in the six years that he served as an alderman in Victoria, and the three years that he was a member of the local school board. At present he is a member of the Capital Improvement District Commission.

In 1937 he married Miss Helen Harris, member of a pioneer Victoria family. Mr. and Mrs. Skillings have five fine sons: Waldo Jr., serving with the Royal Canadian Navy (University Naval Training Division); and David, Hugh, Patrick and Roger at home. They are active church members, and Mr. Skillings has given generously of his time in support of the Canadian Red Cross and the Community Chest.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Water deeply all trees, shrubs and flowering perennials which have been set out this spring.

Supply surface watering and spray over the foliage of azaleas, rhododendrons and tuberous begonias. Spray the foliage after the sun is off them.

In greenhouse or sunny porch dampen staging between pots, and the walks, to keep up humidity. Give all ventilation possible.

Cut off the old flower heads of hydrangeas grown in pots.

Roses may be given a light feeding of quick acting, complete fertilizer.

Potted azaleas should be placed in half shady position outdoors and kept well watered, and the foliage lightly syringed with clear water.

Cease the cutting of asparagus and mulch the bed with manure or compost.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Fertilized Plants Starve Without Ample Watering

Side dressing, or supplementary feeding, of both flower and food plants commences in June. Whether the plants will benefit or not depends on the way the fertilizer is applied.

Plants have no boarding house reach by which to obtain their food. They can starve in the midst of plenty unless it is in a usable form and right against their roots.

Plants cannot chew on lumps of chemicals. The nutrients must first be dissolved in water after which they enter the feeding root hairs by a process called osmosis.

Jack

That is why we are told to water well after fertilizer is applied to the soil, first to dissolve the chemicals, secondly to carry them to the root area of the plants.

There is another point which is often overlooked, and that is the moisture content of the soil when the chemicals are applied.

Dry soil contains air and practically no moisture. When water is applied it runs through the air spaces and does very little in the way of moistening the soil particles.

WATER APLENTY

A considerable quantity of water is needed to saturate the soil from the surface to the root area, and this is rarely accomplished with the small amounts used to wash in fertilizer.

For this reason both chemists and fertilizer manufacturers warn us not to apply powder, to a dry soil.

In a dry soil the fertilizer does not reach the roots, but remains near the surface. The plants receive no benefit, the time and the materials are wasted, and the gardener blames the fertilizer.

Later in the season, when the fall rains come, the plants get a feeding at the time growth should cease, and this is the cause of much winter dieback of soft new shoots. In the case of vegetables, the crops have been removed before this happens.

FOLLOW INSTRUCTIONS

Fertlizers are quite safe to use on plants, and are essential to good cropping in the limits of a home garden. In nearly all cases of plant damage the cause can be traced to disregard of the manufacturers' instructions, or to the belief that the more we use the better the results will be.

Plants require only minute quantities of each chemical and an excess can have toxic effects. When soil conditions are right, only small quantities are needed for side dressings, and it is best to err on the low side and repeat at short intervals.

There are three steps to successful summer feeding: (1) soak the soil to a depth of six inches at least, (2) apply the fertilizer in the quantities recommended by the manufacturer, (3) water in immediately.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM YOUR PREMIER

The outcome of this Federal election will have a tremendous effect on the economy of British Columbia. The present Federal policies of tight money, exorbitant taxation, restrictive housing and high interest rates will reduce employment and lower the living standard of everyone in our province.

It is therefore vital that you vote for your Social Credit candidate. Don't be fooled by propaganda of the political machines. It is only by having your Social Credit representative in Ottawa that you can support your Provincial Government's policy of getting things done.

Vote Social Credit.

Sincerely,

W. A. C. Bennett

Swimming Ban At Ross Bay, Kinver Beach

Swimming areas at Ross Bay between St. Charles and Howe and at Kinver Beach have been classed as unsuitable for bathing by city health authorities.

Earlier, sanitary inspector Elwood Gropp had ordered "no swimming" regulations for Banfield Beach in Victoria West.

Ross Bay pollution emanates from a city sewer outfall at Clover Point. A sewer outfall is to be extended promptly to permit opening of Kinver Beach this summer. The Banfield closure is expected to be short as pollution is lessening.

Conservative Finale Fizzles As Pearkes Fails to Show

The local Progressive Conservative campaign ended with a bit of a fizzle Friday night.

A meeting at St. Luke's Parish Hall was billed as the final appearance of candidates Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, and A. De B. McPhillips after a Saturday night rally at the Fox Theatre was cancelled. But Gen. Pearkes didn't make it.

He missed his plane connections returning from Prince Albert, Sask., where he had gone to campaign on behalf of national party leader John Diefenbaker.

Mr. McPhillips did his best, but it was apparent the 40 people present had come to hear "the General."

The Victoria riding candidate was interrupted by applause only once in his hour-long talk —when he gave Gen. Pearkes credit for accomplishments claimed by Liberal Dr. F. T. Fairey.

St. Luke's Hall is in Gen. Pearkes' riding of Esquimalt-Saanich.

Mr. McPhillips touched on all the main Conservative election themes, and aimed a special barb at Premier W. A. C. Bennett and the Socreds.

He referred to the "amazing spectacle" of the premier gallivanting around the country seeking votes.

His avowed desire to win the balance of power in the next Commons was "simply a desire for power," Mr. McPhillips said.

Mr. McPhillips wound up his talk at about 9.15, but there was still no sign of Gen. Pearkes, whose plane was scheduled to arrive at Pat Bay at 8.30.

The chairman got up and told a couple of jokes, Mr. McPhillips came back to make a few more remarks, while a party official stood outside the hall hopefully looking for Gen. Pearkes' car.

They gave up soon after 9.30. A number of the audience were overheard grumbling about the "poor show" as they filed out of the hall.

PROGRESS REPORT BY TCA

TCA pioneers research into new electronic reservations system

Faster service for the jet age

Every year, more Canadians are taking to the air . . . in 1956, over two million passengers flew TCA. The planned expansion of TCA services is to go on. With the introduction of new fleets of DC-8 jetliners and prop-jet Vanguards in 1960 and 1961, TCA will become the first of the world's intercontinental airlines to operate an all-turbine fleet.

The speed of air traffic in the jet age . . . the growing volume of passengers . . . will call for a swiftly-moving reservations system, capable of keeping in step. So TCA is experimenting with totally new methods, making use of the modern miracle of electronics. Reservations offices across the continent would be connected directly with a giant electronic "brain" . . . completely automatic, able to plot every seat on every flight months in advance, to give flight information and make reservations, in seconds. TCA is setting the pace in jet age planning . . . enlisting the latest methods to bring you still better, faster service.

PRESENT SYSTEM

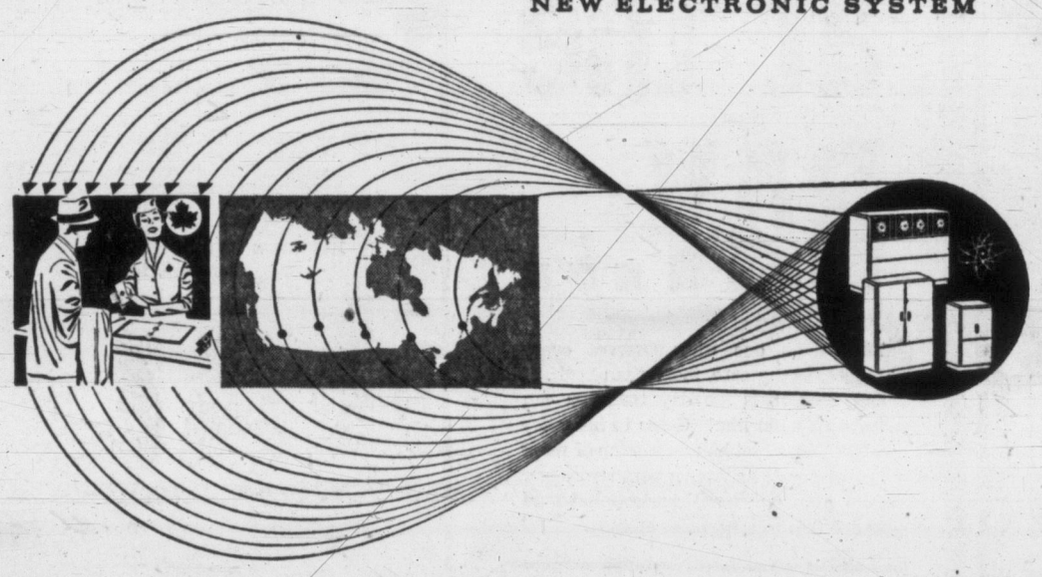
1 Your request for a reservation is phoned by the counter clerk to the local reservations centre . . .

2 . . . where the traffic board shows, at a glance, availability of any flight.

3 The local centre is linked by teleprinter and telephone with TCA's national control centre . . .

4 . . . where all bookings, from centres in every part of Canada, are correlated.

NEW ELECTRONIC SYSTEM



Under the plan now being tested, TCA offices across Canada would be linked by direct line with the Central Electronic Seat Inventory — an electronic "brain" able to "memorize" the reservation position on every stage of every TCA flight for weeks ahead.

The ticket agent indicates your requirements on a card. This card, put into a "transactor" machine on the counter, activates the "brain". Back comes your reservation, or information — quick as a flash.

Instead of the present system, maintained in many offices across the country, there would be one compact electronic system. Error reduced to a minimum . . . speed sufficient to handle several reservation requests in a second.

on the ground . . . as in the air

TCA is planning to bring you still better service!

Rudder Lost, Giant Bomber Lands Safely

Pilot Practiced On Cloud Formation

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A B-36 bomber lost its rudder in flight but landed safely Friday after its pilot practiced landing approaches on clouds for more than two hours.

Capt. Albert D. McKinnon brought the 10-engined bomber in for what onlookers called a beautiful landing. He had 27 men aboard who were not even shaken up.

McKinnon said he heard a great rending noise at the rear of the big plane—162 feet behind him—when they were at 15,000 feet.

He did not know what had happened until he felt the rudder controls go limp. Other controls, including the tail elevators, functioned normally, so he straightened the plane out, took it up higher, and made some practice runs on clouds.

He brought the plane, with a wingspan of 230 feet, in on a long, low approach and set it down in the middle of the runway. He steered by using ailerons and varying the speed of his six piston engines and four jet motors.

VICTORIA, B.C., SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1957

ONLY FOUR MILES OF ROAD REMAIN to be built to make first loop trip on Vancouver Island a reality. Broken line between Port Renfrew and Jordan River indicates section of road to be built by provincial government, with completion scheduled for end of August. About half of road between Port Renfrew and Shawnigan Lake is private, and can be used only outside working hours of logging company.

ROAD TO RENFREW—68 YEARS LATER

He Walked It, Now to Ride

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

A Victorian who is looking forward with intense interest to driving to Port Renfrew by the coast road now nearing completion, and returning via Shawnigan Lake, is Frank Hobbs, 94, of 3830 Hobbs Street, Cadboro Bay.

It is not only because he is interested in the development of Vancouver Island that he wants to travel over the Island's first loop road system.

"I first saw that country in 1889, and I walked all the way from Victoria to Port Renfrew while working on the stringing of the telegraph line," he told the Times. "I'd love to be one of the first party to drive in."

Mr. Hobbs was fresh out from England, with little money but a hankering to have land of his own. The telegraph job seemed to provide both pay and education, so he took it.

"I didn't see much land, but I saw some splendid timber," he said, "and felt the time was coming when it would be worth money."

He never lost sight of it, and by 1901 or 1902 had some cash available to pay for timberland being sold cheaply by South African War veterans who were given the land in grants.

LIKED TIMBER

"Some years later an American financier came to Port San Juan, as Renfrew was known then, to see a mine prospect. He never saw the mine — lost interest in everything but the timber as soon as he spotted it. I sold part of it and retired."

Mr. Hobbs made his home in Cadboro Bay, soon found himself a general merchant and postmaster, and prospered.

"But I still kept my land at Port Renfrew because the government had promised to put a road in," he said. "The tax burden was heavy, though, and when the government doubled it during the hard times of the 30s I had to let the land go. I could see that if I tried to keep it I might jeopardize my other interests."

The Cadboro Bay patriarch has no regrets at having missed out on a fortune that could have been gained from timber sales.

"No one knows what might have happened," he said, "and I've made a comfortable living at Cadboro Bay. I can't complain."

"You can express my satisfaction that the road we worked toward for so many years finally will be built," he said, "I guess there aren't many of us oldtimers left to see it."

The private road between Port Renfrew and Bear Creek, west of Shawnigan Lake, was built by B.C. Forest Products.

The same company, working under terms of a forest management licence, has built a section of road southward from Port Renfrew, and Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Co. Ltd., of Jordan River has nearly finished its share of the same road up the coast.

Only the connecting link of four miles is yet to be built, and work by provincial government crews is going quickly.

MONTE ROBERTS

You can turn the radio on again, mother. The following is no longer a paid.

It is a great tribute to the perseverance and fortitude of Canadians, the way they stood up, undaunted, to the election blasts shattering the air waves.

I suspect the way most Canadians stood up to the blasts was to exercise democracy's greatest freedom—the freedom to not listen.

But I do hope not many exercise that other freedom—the freedom to not vote.

In fact, no Xcuses will be Xcepted from non-voters.

Things are certainly quiet around here now. So quiet you can hear a whim drop.

And if you don't think voters have whimming ways, ask any defeated candidate Tuesday.

Which reminds me.

Tuesday will be "whatever became of" day in this space.

There is nothing more dismal on the day after election than an election poster—whether it be for a winning or losing candidate.

That's why I have such great admiration for a certain mainland candidate in the election of four years ago.

The day after election he, personally, set out around his constituency and tore down every picture of his sincerely-smiling face.

If every candidate would do likewise, what a happy, happy world this would be!

How about it, dear hard-working candidates? In your post-election statement, how about including a clean-up pledge?

I might even say, clean-up and shut-up, but that would be rude.

Just one more reminder for election day—which is Monday, in case you didn't know.

It isn't essential to know who your candidates are before going to the polls.

But it might help.

AVERAGE WAGE UP $4 WEEKLY TO $72.84

The average B.C. worker at March 1 was paid $72.84 weekly.

This was a gain of $4 a week from March, 1956, it is reported in the current monthly bulletin of business activity issued by the provincial bureau of economics and statistics.

The increase in wages was general across Canada with the Dominion average rising from $63.20 to $67.48, the report said.

Mayor Details Attitude on Municipalities

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today his remarks Thursday in connection with the city's move for a full revision of the municipal act were not intended as a criticism of the provincial government which piloted the act through the Legislature.

His statement followed a declaration by Attorney-General Robert Bonner Friday that the city's attack on the act was "ill-considered nonsense."

Mr. Scurrah said he thought that in making his observations Mr. Bonner had misunderstood or been misinformed as to what transpired at the meeting of civic legislative committee Thursday.

SOLICITOR, NOT HIM

The mayor pointed out that the blanket criticism of the municipal act had been made by City Solicitor Terence O'Grady, not by himself, although the mayor supported the committee resolution to ask the Union of B.C. Municipalities to press for major revision of the law.

"I stated publicly at the municipal officer's convention that in my opinion the act, by and large, was a good act, but that there were a number of bugs in it which needed to be remedied," the mayor said.

Mr. Scurrah, at Thursday's meeting, was quoted as saying; "The government has done a poor job—and its just too bad for the government."

He explained today what he actually said was that if the government had done a poor job then it would be too bad for them, which was a much different thing.

TRAILING 11 OTHER CITIES, SURVEY SHOWS

City Dragging Feet On Parking Problem

By PETE LOUDON

Victoria is dragging far behind other Canadian cities of comparative size in meeting the ever-growing problem of downtown parking.

A survey of 11 Canadian cities shows Victoria to be the only one with no publicly-owned parking facilities.

The survey, conducted by the city of Saskatoon, places this city at the bottom of the ladder, both in meeting the current demand and in planning for the future.

With exception of Victoria, each of the city's polled has acted to meet and defeat the danger of a decentralized business community.

As business moves to the outskirts, downtown tax revenues drop. The tax load shifts from downtown stores to the residential home owner.

Nine cities used their parking meter revenues or set up special funds to avert this situation.

So far, Victoria's tax revenue has been diverted into general revenue and eaten up by other city costs.

Saskatoon, Calgary, Windsor and Sherbrooke use their meter revenues for provision of off-street parking. London uses its meter income for parking and for street widening.

St. John, Halifax and Regina place meter income into general revenues but St. John and Halifax draw on these for additional parking facilities.

RESERVE FUND

Regina has set up a special $20,000 reserve fund for improvement of off-street parking.

Victoria has no elected or appointed body specifically empowered to deal with provision of off-street parking. Edmonton, St. John, London, Regina and Winnipeg have either parking commissions or comparable bodies.

Ten out of the 11 cities have some off-street parking facilities owned by the city. Victoria is the only exception.

The publicly-owned lots charge short-term rates to encourage shoppers. Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg charge 10 cents an hour. Windsor, Halifax, Sherbrooke and Regina operate lots which charge five cents an hour. In St. John there is no charge.

LOWEST

Victoria's situation was compared to nine California cities of similar population by Jackson D. Faustman when he compiled a parking report this spring. Of the nine, this city had the lowest percentage of short-time parking facilities.

Of all parking lots in this city 59 per cent are geared for the long-term parker with rates varying between $2.50 and $10 a month.

Victoria traffic planner, engineer Norman Worsley, says new city legislation may make parking an even more vital question in the city soon.

There is a prospect of large number of meters being removed to ease the traffic flow on certain narrow streets. Others will be taken out as angle parking areas are converted to parallel parking.

City council hasn't come to grips with the problem. It was outlined by Mr. Faustman and his recommendations were for off-street parking lots, a parking commission and adoption of a local improvement plan to finance a major project.

The city should seek legislation, he said, permitting taxation of merchants who would benefit to provide the new lots. So far no action has been taken on his studies.

What are the reasons that Canadian cities have diverted their parking meter revenue to provision of off-street parking? Why have these cities set up publicly-owned parking lots?

SALES GAINS

They have found that 45 per cent of shopping is done by people who used cars to come downtown. They have found sales gains of 21 per cent where parking was adequate in downtown areas.

They have found where it is inadequate, business moves to the suburbs. Lack of parking facilities will encourage Woodwards and Simpson-Sears (to cite a local example), to develop in the outskirts, in other muncipalities.

Mr. Worsley sums up "either the merchants or the city must act to protect the tremendous investment of downtown."

MARILYN TO RETIRE, GUS HINTS IN LETTER

Both Marilyn Bell and Gus Ryder plan to "take it easy" this summer, the famous swim coach said in letter to the Times today.

A hint that Marilyn may retire altogether was contained in Ryder's sentence:

"There just aren't any swims that would be of interest to her and if nothing comes up, that's it."

Ryder concluded: "Please remember us to all the fine Victoria folks . . . without whom we could not have made the two-way Bell and Lumsdon round trip."

Doctor Testifies In Damage Suit

Mr. and Mrs. John Whitehead of Victoria were "a most devoted young couple who took particular joy in their home life," Dr. D. M. Whitley told the B.C. Supreme Court Friday.

The doctor was giving evidence in an action for damages against the Royal Jubilee Hospital brought by Mr. Whitehead of 5661 West Saanich Road, and his children, Marilyn, 9, and Richard, 5.

His wife died in the hospital in March, 1956, after her feet had been accidentally burned by a hot water bottle.

Mr. Whitehead claims that the burns led to a golden staph infection which caused her death.

Victoria barrister, John G. McIntosh, said although Mr. Whitehead has since re-married, he suffered intensely after the death of his former wife.

"How did you regard Mrs. Whitehead as a wife?" he asked Dr. Whitley.

"She was devoted to her husband," the doctor replied, "and he was devoted to her."

When asked for his opinion of Mrs. Whitehead as a housewife, the doctor replied:

"I can speak highly of her cooking. It so happened our birthdays occurred on the same date and every year she sent me a fine cake."

Dr. Whitley said Mrs. Whitehead was under his care for some time before she entered the hospital on November, 1955. She suffered from diabetes and her eyesight was affected.

"If she had not contracted this infection in hospital, what would her life expectancy have been?" Mr. McIntosh asked.

"Anything between three months and 20 years," the doctor said. "It is impossible to make any predictions where diabetics are concerned."

Mr. McIntosh said Mrs. Whitehead was admitted to the hospital in November, 1955, suffering from a diabetic coma.

SKIN GRAFT

One of the nurses' aides gave her a hot water bottle, which burned her feet and necessitated a skin graft. Soon afterwards a golden staph infection entered her system.

"Because of her diabetic condition the infection became uncontrollable and caused, her death," he said.

Mr. McIntosh asked specific damages for expenses incurred and unspecified general damages, alleging negligence.

J. Alan Baker, appearing for the hospital, said there was no proof that Mrs. Whitehead died in consequence of the burns she received.

"We are not opposing the specific damages," he said, "but we contend there are no grounds for general damages in this most unfortunate case."

Mr. Justice A. E. Lord reserved judgment on the action.

Operation Polio Ready To Provide Second Shots

Second phase of the Victoria Medical Society's "Operation Polio" will take place next week.

The doctors will administer the second shots of Salk anti-polio vaccine to the 15,560 adults who received the first injections in the week of May 13-17.

The organization, which worked so efficiently last time, will be set up again at the nurses' residences at St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee Hospitals. The hours are from 2 to 10 p.m.

Day of the week and the hospital you should attend are printed on the registration card given out last month. Payment of the $1 fee for the cost of the vaccine will be made when you go to receive the injection.

The 400 persons who registered last month but did not turn up, can receive their first shot next week. The third, or booster, injection will be given next January.

Record Vote Expected Monday; Socred Windup Rally Tonight

Except for a Social Credit rally at Central Junior High tonight, the federal election campaign has ended locally.

The voters will render their decision at the ballot boxes on Monday.

A record vote in both local ridings of Victoria and Esquimalt-Saanich is forecast.

Apart from heightened interest in the election this year, there are 4,052 new voters in Esquimalt-Saanich and 1,164 in Victoria over 1953.

68% VOTED

Victoria, with 50,785 eligible voters, has the third highest total in the province. In 1953, 68% of the eligible voters cast ballots.

Returning officers issued a final reminder to voters today to check their copy of the voters' list to find out where to vote.

In the rural sections of Esquimalt-Saanich, including View Royal where there is some confusion, polling places are given on the "Notice of Poll" lists posted last month.

★ ★ ★

Voters in the View Royal district of Esquimalt-Saanich riding will cast ballots Monday at Strawberry Vale Community Hall, election officials emphasized today.

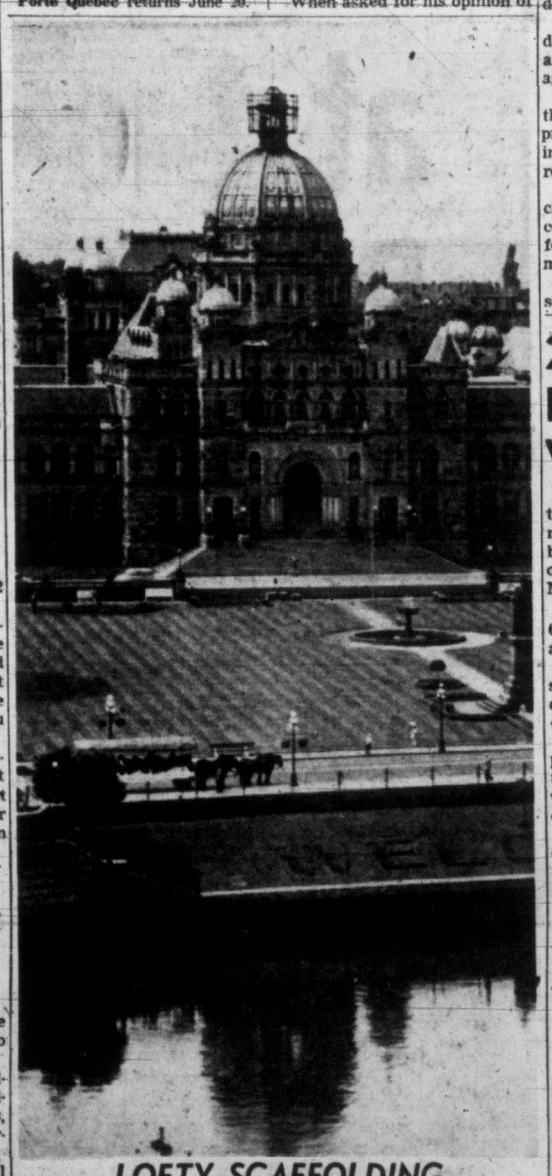
Returning officer S. S. Penny said he was unable to secure suitable accommodation at View Royal. Community association officials denied, however, that they had not co-operated with the returning officer.

It's a good idea to take the slip or voters' list with you to the polling place.

A total of 22 voters cast ballots in the Victoria riding advance poll in the first two days, returning officer Alan Macfarlane reported today.

The poll will be open until 11 p.m. tonight for special classifications of employees who will be away in the course of their business on voting day.

Mr. Macfarlane said the number of votes cast so far had been "just about what we expected."



LOFTY SCAFFOLDING

2 Out of 3 Fail RCMP Vehicle Test

Two out of three vehicles tested by RCMP in the Courtenay and Campbell River areas between Tuesday and Thursday of this week failed to meet Motor-Vehicle Act standards.

An RCMP report today said 650 cars and trucks were tested, and 420 were found wanting.

Tests were carried out by a six-man team from RCMP headquarters in Victoria.

420 WARNED

Check-up slips for minor repairs were issued to owners of the 420 vehicles. If not complied with within a specified time, charges would be laid.

Twenty of the drivers were charged with offences such as failing to have a current driver's licence or chauffeur's licence.

The RCMP said the highway check, of a type carried out periodically, would be typical of any part of B.C.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Would you kindly tell me anything you know about "chopsticks" such as children play on the piano? A.R.

A. This is a quick waltz tune performed as an amusement. In the traditional manner the flat hand is held perpendicular and notes struck with its side, with a touch of glissando. The operation has no reference to the Chinese table tool, but rather to the operation of cutting firewood. A famed collection of composition based on "chopsticks" is the joint work of Borodin, Rimsky-Korsakof and Liszt. It consists of 24 variations, published under the title of "Paraphrases."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Peace of Mind

HAVE you felt that inner yearning for Peace?—a release from the noisy grind of a machine-made civilization? Are you constantly reminded of a treadmill of work in a static condition of your life? Have you sought the meaning behind the veil of modern false reality? If you have suffered—this is for you.

The complacent smile of a Buddhist saint or messiah suggests no smug aloofness from the world or imperturbability to its suffering. It radiates instead the consolation and confidence experienced by one who can envision a tomorrow when yet burdened with today. It subtly conveys a feeling of hope amidst surroundings of despair. It portrays one who has put in order his own mind and found therein Peace Profound.

Special Congregational Meeting to consider Church Hall

Left—These youngsters enjoying a romp under the supervision of volunteer Mrs. John Stobart (at teeter-totter), and occupational therapist Mrs. Olga Kiernan in the outdoor playground at the clinic don't realize it, but all the equipment on which they are having so much fun has been carefully designed to strengthen their muscles and improve their co-ordination.

Above—"Swimming" in the large warm-water tank at the Jubilee Hospital is popular with the young clinic patients. Volunteers take each child into the water while he kicks and splashes. Left to right, Mrs. W. M. Martin, holding young Keith James; Mrs. Rob Stevenson, and Mrs. George Beith with her daughter, Leslie. Miss Alice Mair, the clinic physiotherapist, looks on.

Women Give Spare Time To Aid Palsied Children.

Women volunteers donate more than 200 hours of their spare time every week to the vitally important task of helping young cerebral palsy victims to enjoy a normal childhood in spite of their handicaps.

They assist at the Cerebral Palsy Clinic at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, where 53 Victoria children come every day to do school work, play with an assortment of toys, and be treated for their condition, which is not a disease but the result of brain damage.

Professional staff—a school board teacher, speech and occupational therapists—are employed at the clinic, but because of varying ages (from toddler to teenager) and handicaps, each child presents an individual problem and needs individual attention.

This can only be provided by volunteer help—without the 68 women at present on the roster, the clinic would have to curtail operations.

The volunteer movement was begun early in 1955, by the Women's Auxiliary to the clinic. Now volunteers include many non-auxiliary members.

A typical volunteer gives a morning or an afternoon a week, doing the rounds with the Bunny Bus, driven by off-duty firemen, to collect the children, helping them in the schoolroom, playing with them, and generally taking an interest in the development of each child.

Now more volunteers are needed, especially for the summer holiday period. Qualifications necessary are a cheerful nature and real affection for children. Volunteer chairman is Mrs. D. B. Ascott, and women interested can telephone her at 3-5137.

A tag day to aid the clinic is being held Saturday, June 15, and assistants are also needed for this. Anyone caring to help with the tagging may call Mrs. L. F. Dunn at 3-4582.

Her smile is confident and triumphant—four-year-old Carey Taylor, above, walks sturdily down an inclined plane in the playground at the Cerebral Palsy Clinic. Woman volunteers are always on hand to join in playtimes and see that young patients like Carey are enjoying themselves on the specially-designed equipment.

Above—Three volunteers who assist with speech therapy talk over their weekly work schedules with Mrs. D. B. Ascott, right, volunteers chairman of the Clinic Women's Auxiliary. They are, left to right, Mrs. D. B. Turner, Mrs. J. C. Garnett and Mrs. N. S. Lockyer. Volunteers contribute an average of three hours a week—one-half day, either morning or afternoon.

Right—Children handicapped by cerebral palsy welcome the chance to go to school. Here in the cheerful little schoolroom under the direction of a professional teacher the youngsters enjoy their reading, writing and arithmetic. Volunteers on hand to assist unsteady little hands and offer praise and encouragement are, left to right, Mrs. Fred Smithers, Mrs. R. K. Harbour and Mrs. J. G. Wallace.

SHOPPING GUIDE

How to Eat Spaghetti? —Miss Vanderbilt Knows

By PENNY SAVER

If you've ever found yourself faced with such problems as how to eat a pile of crisp shoestrings with knife and fork without shooting them off your plate across the table, or what to do with the seeds of a slice of watermelon, or how to manage a plateful of Italian spaghetti and not have each strand leave a trail of tomato sauce across your chin, you'll be interested in an etiquette book that gives you all the rules for coping with difficult food.

Not that Amy Vanderbilt's "Everyday Etiquette" deals only with food—you'll find lots about correct invitations, signatures, clothes, travel and party-giving.

The book consists of questions and answers and is very well indexed so you can find what you want in a hurry. Only word of warning — some of the answers Miss Vanderbilt gives apply more in the States than in Canada; for instance, the shortened answer to a formal invitation is not yet considered correct here.

This book is in a pocket edition, for 50c.

By the way, about those shoestring potatoes—it's quite okay to pick them up in your fingers. And the watermelon seeds can be dropped (discreetly) into your cupped hand. Spaghetti strands should be firmly wound onto your fork by holding it against the large soup spoon which should be provided with it. So says Miss Vanderbilt.

GAIETY FROM ITALY

Speaking of things Italian, I think the new raffia shoes from Italy are the gayest things for summer. They'd be just right for the beach or any casual wear.

I've found three styles—all in natural-toned raffia with cork soles and bright little raffia flowers on the insteps. For $5.95 you can choose from flat ties with criss-cross vamp, backless wedgies, or wedge-heeled sandals.

Real luxury items from Italy are shawls of the most incredibly fine wool—it's almost transparent. They come in either oblong or square shapes, nice and big to be draped gracefully, in Paisley prints of the lovely colors I always think of in connection with Italy, and have wide fringe borders. I've left the price to the end—they're $18.95.

I'll tell you where I shopped if you phone me at 2-3131.

LEAVE MONDAY FOR GERMANY

Picnic Planned For Veterans

At a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Veterans' Hospital, Mrs. J. Barr was named convener of a picnic for the patients to be held at Mt. Douglas Park on July 17 at 2 p.m. If the weather is unsuitable the picnic will be postponed until July 24.

Mrs. Wallace Courtney presided and plans were made to buy a croquet set for patients at the hospital. Library convener, Miss Jean Roberts, reported that 313 books and many magazines were distributed to patients in the past month. Mrs. E. C. Hart, convener of the dogwood fete in July, asked for donations for the food hamper, superfluities, and the "Lady With a Thousand Pockets," to be taken to the hospital as soon as possible.

There's a Challenge in Being Pretty Mother-To-Be

By NONA DAMASKE

Recently at one of our frequent all-girl gatherings we had a guest from out-of-town who is expecting her first baby. How wonderful to be able to truthfully say that although she was nearing the end of her period of waiting, she was the most attractive person in the room.

Nona

She is naturally a good looking girl, but now, with an aura of happy expectancy, worn like a silver cloud, she is positively radiant.

Before joining the young married group and moving to Montreal she was one of Victoria's best dressed young women. Now she is clever enough to realize that more than the usual amount of care is necessary to overcome the fact that her figure is somewhat out of proportion.

She knows that she must not overlook the tiniest detail of good grooming even though there is a natural tendency to lassitude at this time. She has made up her mind that it is fun to "wait" and that there is a real challenge to being a well dressed mother-to-be.

Unfortunately all expectant mothers are not as wise as my friend . . . statistics show that at present time there are aproximately 460,000 storks in flight in Canada. The majority of these expectant mothers, according to an extensive survey undertaken by a baby products company feel "dowdy, neglected, and generally out of the things."

According to the survey one of the most prevalent problems for the expectant mother concerns her hair. It is not uncommon for a lady-in-waiting to find her hair will fall out, become straight and difficult to permanent wave. All these conditions are temporary, and can be partially alleviated with hot oil shampoos. A leading beauty authority suggests short hair styles for expectant mothers because of their practicality and easy care. Short hair is easier, and takes less time to curl, dries faster after shampooing, and can always be kept looking neat and well groomed.

The skin may be a bit of a problem at this time . . . there may be a condition resembling teen-age acne. This is best treated by controlled diet . . . eliminating fats and chocolate. In addition, many ladies-in-waiting develop reactions to their favorite cosmetics, especially skin creams and make-up bases.

For the expectant mother who has this problem, gentle baby oil is recommended to cleanse and lubricate her skin, and there are several hypo-allergenic products available which are less irritating to the skin than ordinary cosmetics.

Although doctors recommend additional rest for the mother-to-be, this does not mean that she should become a recluse. A few short naps in the middle of the morning and afternoon, or just relaxing with a good book and some music for an hour or two during the day, in addition to a good eight hours at night should suffice.

Exercise is another important routine to be included in every lady-in-waiting schedule. Walking is an especially good form of exercise . . . a brisk mile a day is good for posture and figure. In addition, the lady-in-waiting who continues to lead a normally active social life is a happier lady-in-waiting, and a happier parent!

This "lady-in-waiting" knows the value of vertical stripes in her fight to look slim and neat. Her ensemble gives the trim look so much desired.

Race Committee—Mrs. H. Henshall, Mrs. F. Logan, Mrs. L. Coles and Mrs. H. Rogers (prizes) make up the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual ladies' predicted log race for the Edna Henshall trophy. The race will be to Bedwell Harbor on Saturday, June 15, arrival at 6 p.m. The committee was named at a luncheon meeting of the Ladies' Auxuliary to Capital City Yacht Club, held in Eaton's private dining room. HERBS IN THE HOME

Rosemary Has Many More Uses Than In Tasty Tea or Usual Hair Rinse

I know someone in Victoria with a large rosemary bush which she wants to use to more advantage, other than rosemary tea and the usual well-known hair rinse. Here are a few ideas I've come across in my herb scrapbooks:

With Roast Fowl: Rub chopped parsley and a little rosemary (fresh) with butter or margerine and insert under the skin and thighs of fowl before roasting.

Rosemary Scones: Put a pinch of rosemary in the dough when prepaging hot scones or biscuits.

Savory Rice: Add ½ teaspoon to rice-pilau dishes.

Pork Chops: Put a pinch of fresh rosemary into the gravy just before pouring it over your chops.

Leg of Lamb: Slice one or two cloves of fresh garlic and insert with a teaspoon of rosemary into slits made in the meaty part of leg of lamb.

Savory Carrots: Add to sliced boiled carrots a pinch of dried rosemary, a teaspoon of lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. Heat thoroughly. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley.

Fruit Salad: Cut rosemary into little "dots" and sprinkle over fruit salad or fruit drinks in summer.

Chicken Gravy: Put a rosemary sprig into the gravy pan to give it a special aroma, just before serving.

Cheesespread: Work fresh rosemary tips through a "Parsmint" cutter straight onto the tops of toasted cheese spread open sandwiches.

Chicken and Pea Soups: Add a sprig of rosemary when soup is just having its last simmer.

Pot Roast: This takes on a new flavor with a pinch of rosemary added to the liquid halfway through the cooking.

Turnips: Mash well with butter, then sprinkle (sparingly) with rosemary, cut straight onto the dish through a "Mouli" grater.

Green Beans: Mix ¼ cup snipped fresh parsley with ¼ teaspoon dried rosemary, ¼ teaspoon dried basil, ¾ teaspoon salt. Work into ¼ cup butter or margerine. Add ¾ cup minced onions and 1 chopped clove garlic. Saute for 5 minutes. Pour over cooked green beans.

Herb-Stuffed Potatoes: Scoop out baked potatoes without breaking skin. Mash with butter; add cream to make fluffy. Stir in ½ teaspoon dried rosemary, ½ teaspoon fresh chives, ½ teaspoon fresh parsley. Pinch dried sage (optional). Pile into potato shells. Brush tops with melted butter. Reheat later.

Nuptial Mass Celebrated At Mooney-Ross Wedding

Cynthia Diane Ross was a regally lovely bride Friday evening as she entered St. Andrew's Cathedral on the arm of her father to exchange marriage vows and rings with Charles Peter Mooney. Rev. Father M. Costelloe celebrated nuptial mass for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross, 1021 Cook Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph Mooney, Glasgow, Scotland.

The bride's full-length gown was styled on princess lines with empire waistline, high straight neckline and bishop sleeves. It was of crisp white nylon organdy billowing out over gleaming satin. A white hat in Mary Queen of Scots headdress held her chapel veil. Her bouquet was formed of pink rosebuds with cascading mauve sweet peas.

Her only attendant was Miss Marlene Vance, who chose a princess-line gown of mauve nylon organdy over pink satin with draped shoulder-line. Her headband was of pink sweet peas, and she carried pink sweet peas and mauve gladioli.

Tall baskets of pink and mauve stocks, snapdragons and gladioli decorated the church, and traditional organ music was played by Miss M. MacKay.

Jack Shepherd of Vancouver was best man, and ushers were James Kerr and Kenneth Bostock.

A reception followed at Swiss Harbor House, where pink and mauve flowers formed a setting for the three-tier wedding cake. The bride's mother, wearing a sheath gown of wedgewood blue lace over taffeta with blue and white accessories and mauve orchid corsage, assisted in receiving guests.

For a honeymoon motor trip in Washington and Oregon the bride donned a neutral-tone wool and silk suit with matching accessories, tangerine hat and corsage of pale yellow rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Mooney will make their home at 1063 Chamberlain Street.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Often when we need exercise most we feel less like it. The fatigue most of us experience comes from nervous tensions rather than physical labor. Much of it is abetted by lack of physical exercise.

Practically any exercise you take will be beneficial if it is not too strenuous for you. You will feel refreshed and relaxed to an amazing degree once you push yourself on to self-exertion. However, there are some exercises which are especially fine after a tough day.

1. Kneel on all fours. Push up with the middle of your back like you have seen cats do. Now collapse the back, sinking downward in the middle of the back. Continue.

2. Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms, reaching high over your head. Do the exercise slowly, feeling the stretch.

3. Sit on the floor with your legs straight. Lean back on your hands. Lower your head back slowly; slowly raise it. Continue lowering and raising the head. Now make circles with your head, moving first in one direction and then in the other.

Here comes another part of this exercise. You are in the same position. Raise your hips from the floor so that your body weight is supported by your heels and your hands. Lower head. You should have a straight line from your head to your feet. Return hips to the floor.

4. Sit or stand. Make circles with your shoulders, circling backward. After a while circle forward.

Rev. H. P. Collins officiated and organ music was played.

The bridal gown was fashioned of delicate chantilly lace with flaring skirt and fitted bodice topped with a matching jacket featuring stand-up collar and pointed sleeves. The bride's three-quarter length veil was held by a crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Maid of honor Miss Maureen Greenless wore a ballerina-length gown of light blue net. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink carnations. The bride's sister, Miss Calferne Borglund, was bridesmaid, in a gown of pink net with blue carnation bouquet, while the groom's sister, Miss Gail Hobday, acted as junior bridesmaid, wearing deep pink nylon and carrying a pink and blue bouquet.

Best man was James W. Cockrill and ushers were Dick Wilde, Victoria, and Egidio Zanardo, all, like the groom, in naval uniform.

Bob Kostuik, Victoria, proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in the Hungarian Hall, Abbotsford.

For a honeymoon trip to Seattle the bride wore a suit of black flecked with navy, pink and black accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds.

Lt.-Col. J. C. Cave and Mrs. Cave, at left, and Cmdr. D. L. Macknight and Mrs. MacKnight, were among the great throng who attended the June Ball Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Humber, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mallett, were also among the dancers.

'Fair Lady' Appears At June Ball

"My Fair Lady" appeared posed demurely among the decorations and swirling gracefully on the dance floor to introduce an echo of Edwardian charm to the June Ball in HMCS Naden last night.

Colorful model "Fair Ladies" swung in silver hoops decked with flowers and pastel tulle from the ceiling of the vast gymnasium at Naden, while their real-life counterparts, many with jeweled upswept hairdos and elegant tulle and chiffon gowns in keeping with the theme, danced to music by the HMCS Naden Band.

As the nearly 1,500 guests arrived, they paused to admire the Edwardian scene which had been created beside the swimming pool to the right of the entrance, with two satin-clad figures posed in a summer garden.

RECEIVE GUESTS

Then they continued down the staircase to be received by J. Courtney Haddock, president of the Armed Services Centre which sponsored the ball, and Mrs. Haddock; F. A. E. Manning, chairman of the June Ball committee, and Mrs. Manning; and Commodore P. D. Budge, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Budge. Guests' names were announced by Cmdr. Garfield Dixon.

Mrs. Haddock chose a floor-length gown of champagne net and lace, strapless, accented with turquoise and rhinestone jewelry. Mrs. Manning wore a slender sheath gown of deep shades of coral interwoven with glittering silver, while Mrs. Budge chose a classic gown of pale blue brocade with slightly draped bodice.

Flowers were everywhere in profusion — peonies, larkspur, snapdragons and roses shading from deep pinks and blues to the paler shades and white—while gardenia corsages cast a heavy scent.

Supper was served in the upper gymnasium from a buffet centred with a sugar replica of Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park as it was at the turn of the century, the work of PO. William Meadmore and AS. Wallace.

MODEL CARRIAGE

Guests sat at tables centred with vases of pink roses, while some carried their trays to a podium at the centre of the dance floor, where a model Edwardian carriage was a centre of attraction.

Many of the women attendeding had taken advantage of this year's early hot weather to acquire suntans, which were shown to advantage by their strapless gowns. Slim sheath dresses were more in evidence than they have been for some years, though billowing skirts were still the choice of the majority.

Mrs. J. C. Cave chose a floor-length sheath of grey lace featuring a sweetheart neckline. Her jewelry was summer white. Turquoise satin accented with a red rose fashioned the princess-style gown worn by Mrs. Jack Fawcett, and she had sparkling jewelry.

Mrs. R. D. Higgins was in a ballerina-length gown of bouffant white nylon sprinkled with bright blue flowers, the same color being repeated in touches of velvet. She had iridescent earrings. Mrs. H. F. Pullen wore a grey lace floor-length gown with inset godets of net shading from grey to rose.

Pale blue brocade was chosen by Mrs. R. F. MacKay for her flaring, full-length gown. Mrs. Jack Barraclough was gowned in black net over white tissue taffeta.

Hospital Matron Looks Back On Experience-Packed Career

When Miss Roberts came as matron to Veterans' Hospital in Victoria, in March, 1947, the main building was just being opened. She had six nurses under her.

Today, as she leaves, to go into voluntary retirement, there are 70 nurses working in the hospital and the main building has been extended to include a pavilion for elderly veterans and permanent-care patients.

The years between have seen tremendous organization work done in the hospital, also a very active women's auxiliary and a co-ordinating council formed to assist with the many needs outside the regular routine.

Miss Roberts, as well as watching over her patients, and training her nurses in the work of the hospital, has had much to do with the organization work.

"It's been a very rewarding experience," she says, with the shadow of many memories in her eyes. "I'm going to miss it very much."

However, she goes on to say that "the time has come to make a change."

NEW PLANS

For the summer she plans to stay at Point No Point where she will assist a friend, Miss Packham, at her popular resort. "Then, we'll see," she says. "A little home perhaps . . . a small garden . . . I might take up golf again . . . and I'll have time to enjoy my music records. I definitely want to do some sort of volunteer work, too."

Miss Roberts has an enviable record of hospital service. In the First World War she served with the "QA's" (Queen Alexandra Imperial Nursing Service Reserve) before transferring to the Canadian Army Medical Corps in France. Following the war she joined the staff of the Department of Veterans' Affairs and was named matron of Deer Lodge at Winnipeg. From December, 1939 to July, 1946, she saw service in the Second World War at Winnipeg and Ottawa and latterly as matron of the Military Hospital at Toronto, where she assisted with organization work after the move from the old College Street establishment. She was promoted to district matron with the rank of major, became matron-in-charge at Camp Borden and when a new military hospital was opened at Camp Shilo she went there as matron.

Following the war Miss Roberts spent some months at Shaughnessy Hospital, "marting time." Then came to Victoria, "It's all behind me now," she says with a reminiscent smile. "I wouldn't have missed any of it but at the same time I'm looking forward to a little relaxation."

Going into retirement with her is her pet Siamese cat Tana. "I don't know whether she is going to be happy," says Miss Roberts, "like me, she's had a wonderful life here."

Miss S. J. Roberts looks forward to "some leisure and time to do the things I've always dreamed of doing."

Diane Mathison a Charming Bride In an All-Pink Setting Today

One of the loveliest weddings of the summer season was solemnized in the Church of St. George the Martyr in Cadboro Bay this afternoon, when Miss Marilyn Diane Mathison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mathison, 5070 Lockhaven Drive, became the bride of Lieut. Maurice Tate, RCN, son of Lt. Cmdr. R. W. Tate, CD, RCN, and Mrs. Tate of Ottawa, Ont., formerly of Vernon and Kelowna.

Early summer flowers banked the altar of the church for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. W. Hills.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a picture, in a model gown of blush pink nylon organza and Belgium lace. The square neckline extended to tiny shell shoulder sleeves and the bodice shaped to a small V at the front. From the lowered waistline was fashioned a bouffant, flowing skirt to full length en train. Insets of the delicate lace highlighted the bodice and skirt of the gown. From a dainty crown of iridescent sequins and seed pearls misted a full-length veil of matching blush pink tulle. Her bouquet was a cascade of deep pink rosebuds with marguerites.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Miss Margo Mathison, maid of honor, and Miss Karen Mathison, bridesmaid. They wore gowns of deeper pink silk organza embossed with tiny white rosebuds. The maid of honor wore a picture hat of pink tulle, while the bridesmaid wore a bandeau of flowers in her hair. Their bouquets were of bonny briar carnations in a pink shade and white stock. Flower girls were Elizabeth Tate, niece of the groom and Linda Miller, who also wore white embossed pink organza dresses styled identically to the senior attendants' gowns. They carried dainty baskets of pink and white daisies.

The groom had his brother, FO R. W. C. Tate, RCAF, as best man. Ushers were Lieut. Donald MacDonald, RCN and Lieut. H. Palmer, RCN.

The pink and white theme of the wedding and entourage was repeated in the church decoration where pink snapdragons and gladiola blooms and white stock formed the floral background. Pink bows with daisies marked guest pews.

John Dunbar sang "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by organist, Malcolm Hamilton who also played during the ceremony.

RECEPTION

Following the wedding, guests were received by the newlyweds and their families at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. A three-tier wedding cake made by the bride's father was on a mirrored stand on the bride's table, where pink and white flowers completed the setting. Fresh rosebuds and heather decorated the cake. Dr. Simon Marinker proposed the toast to the bride. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. W. C. Courtney and Mrs. J. G. Nordal.

Mrs. Mathison wore for the occasion a Ceil Chapman dress of delphinium blue lace with matching shoes and pink rosebud corsage. Her hat of pink straw had a brim of tumbled tulle. Mrs. Tate wore an ensemble of tawny beige complemented with a corsage of rosebuds.

The young couple left for a honeymoon to be spent on the mainland. For travelling, the bride wore a winter white wool suit with beige accessories and a green orchid corsage.

Lieut. and Mrs. Tate will then return to Victoria for three months before travelling to Halifax, N.S. to make their home.

Mason-Stanbury Wedding Vows

A wedding of interest was solemnized this afternoon in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, when Rev. H. J. Jones performed the marriage ceremony for Leita Suzanne Stanbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Whitworth Stanbury, 1621 Prospect Place, and Gene Aubrey Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mason of Walla Walla, Wash.

Traditional organ music was played as the charming bride walked up the aisle on her father's arm. She wore a gown of pale blue chiffon and lace, the full skirt flowing to a graceful waltz length. Her short tulle veil matched her gown, and she wore blue satin pumps. Tiny white roses tied with blue satin ribbon formed her bouquet.

Dennis O'Brian of Seattle was best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where the toast to the bride was proposed by Charles Heisterman.

The newlyweds left for a motor trip to Walla Walla, where they will make their home.

Consumer Interest—At last meeting of the season for the Victoria Branch, Canadian Association of Consumers, a panel was presented, moderated by Mrs. H. S. Clark, on economic problems of special interest to the consumer. Other panel members were Mrs. J. L. Andrews, Mrs. P. R. A. Coombs, and Mrs. D. Davidson.

Young Dancer Home for Holiday After Strenuous Ballet Season

By DEE LAVOIE

Ballet dancer Jacqueline Ivings has left her dancing shoes in Toronto and is spending a five-week vacation in Victoria just relaxing.

Miss Ivings, a trim 21-year-old with her hair twisted up in a sophisticated bun, had no apologies to make for this lapse from a dancer's rigid routine.

"After such a strenuous season as this has been, I decided I wasn't going to do any practising at all during my holiday," she announced, crossing slender legs and leaning comfortably back in an easy chair at the Ten-Mile Point home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ivings.

"I'll be stiff when I start again, but at least I'll be rested."

Miss Ivings is the only Victoria girl in Canada's National Ballet. She now ranks as an "oldtimer," having joined the company in September, 1953, just two years after it began operations.

This past year has been the most exciting in the company's brief history.

A tour through the principal cities of the eastern and southern States, right to Florida and Texas, brought one rave notice after another for the Canadian dancers.

"We traveled in two buses—the 36 dancers, 25 musicians and the technicians—with our scenery going on ahead in four trucks" Miss Ivings said. "We did one night, sometimes two, in each place."

"When we got back we had a brief holiday and then did a tour of northern Ontario centres, which we have just finished."

Ordinary routine when the company is home in Toronto involves all-day every-day rehearsals with nightly performances, so Miss Ivings spends most of her time in ballet costume or practice clothes. She has been sharing an apartment with another dancer.

"Don't know what I'll do when I go back, though" she said thoughtfully. "My roommate has married a sculptor and is going to Rome to live."

During the past season, Miss Ivings created her first leading role—in a one-act ballet called "Postscript" by a young Montreal choreographer.

This summer, besides attending a six-week refresher course, she and 11 other dancers from the company have been chosen to give a week's performances at Jacob's Pillow, Mass., well-known American ballet centre.

She has appeared on television on a Wayne & Shuster show.

Next spring, Miss Ivings is looking forward to the company's first appearance in her home town in four years. The success of this season's tour has prompted the arrangement of a West Coast tour to include major Canadian and American cities.

'GOOD HOUSEKEEPING'

$475 Million in Tax Cuts Since 1953, Says Fairey

Since 1953 the Liberal government has reduced taxes by $475,000,000 and paid off $162,000,000 of the national debt, said Liberal candidate Dr. Frank Fairey in an address to 51 people in the Oak Bay Junior High School Friday night.

"That is good housekeeping," he added, "and it has saved the taxpayers interest charges that would probably have amounted to $10,000,000 a year.

"No one can say the government in Ottawa has not been prudent with your money."

Dr. Fairey denied having said that the recent increase in the old age pension from $40 to $46 was "enough."

"I did not say it was enough, but I don't think we can do more at present when we are so heavily committed to expenditures for defence."

Dispite huge necessary expenditures Finance Minister Walter Harris had been able to reduce taxes, Dr. Fairey said.

At this point a woman in the audience interrupted to say that the prices of food and consumer goods had gone up in recent months.

"A few things may have gone up in price, but others have gone down," Dr. Fairey replied. "Mr. Harris took the tax off tea and the price has dropped by 10 cents."

"Seven cents," argued the woman.

"Well, we won't quibble about that," Dr. Fairey answered.

C[illegible] ACTOR

Of Progressive Conservative leader John Diefenbaker he said:

"He is a good friend of mine and we once belonged to the same battalion. He is a good lawyer and a good actor. He acted in the Victoria Memorial Arena the other week and he acts in the House of Commons.

Political opponents talked of "old men" in the federal cabinet, yet none of the four old men referred to had collapsed under the strain of a parliamentary session which caused the collapse of younger men.

Rev. William Hills, speaking as "a man of God," said he felt reasonably happy with Liberal policies and Liberal administration.

NOT PERFECT

"The Liberals do not claim to be so perfect they are incapable of making mistakes. They are fallible human beings like the rest of us.

"Even Premier Bennett sometimes makes mistakes, although he doesn't think so. The B.C. Municipal Act proves it."

Turning to the old-age pension, Padre Hills asserted that the Conservatives when in power "wouldn't touch" old-age pensions or family allowances.

"During Lord (R. B.) Bennett's interregnum in Ottawa (1930-35) it was considered almost Communistic to talk about old-age pensions and national health schemes."

"JUNE 'n' MOON ????"

By Maurice Humber

Years ago . . . for some reason . . . I can't explain,
I helped a fellow in a Federal campaign,
I was "audience" . . . public relations, & chauffeur too,
A sort of yes-man midst the big bally-hoo:
I tacked up posters & wrote dialogue,
One particular meeting, we had 7 men & a dog.
He spoke out at Colwood . . . Metchosin & Sooke.

We studied hecklers & the fast re-buke.
They loved us at Shawnigan & that Cobble Hill place,
But up at Chemainus . . . we fell flat on our face.
So we re-wrote our stuff, with more beguile,
As we sailed away for Salt Spring Isle.
What a grand reception . . . 'twas really a ball,
We packed 'em in . . . the Mahon Hall.
And they threw a big dance, cookies to crunch,
All the beautiful belles, brot a box lunch.
And one gal sed . . . "Oh . . . how she was wishin',
I was a farmer, and NOT a big politician"? ?
'Course I had more fun than my pal ever had,
He could only kiss "babies" & shake hands with Dad.
Yes, they treated us royally . . . simply swell,
We joined in the tennis in the old world Hotel.
Everyone lazed around . . . tea on the lawn,
The men wore flannels . . . the gals in chiffon.
Then we sailed to other places in lovely white boats,
And so felt we'd sewn up . . . most Island votes.
I don't think I knew . . . as I heard him spout,
Just what in the blazes it was all about.
Guess I was too young . . . & 'twas more fun to spoon,
I "Ottawaed" known better . . . but then, IT WAS JUNE.

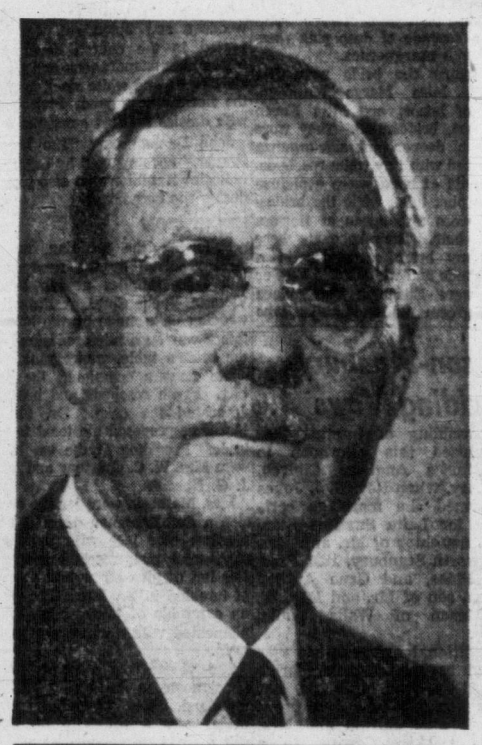
THIS is the MAN for VICTORIA — OAK BAY Township of ESQUIMALT



RE-ELECT FRANK T. FAIREY

All who know him or who have heard him during this campaign are unanimous in the opinion that Dr. Frank T. Fairey is a man admirably fitted to represent Victoria AGAIN in Parliament! He is not the type of man to rant or make extravagant, impossible promises. He has enjoyed a career in the service of this Province and particularly in the training of our youth without any improvised self-importance. As a distinguished educationist, a capable wartime soldier, as an administrator of such capacity that he was selected for service in Burma by UNESCO, and acted as delegate to Parliamentary conferences in Paris and New Delhi, India, he has tackled big jobs and accomplished them with little show. Let's not trade this ACTION for the extravagant promises of a party that has nothing to offer but criticism.

FRANK FAIREY has done wonders for VICTORIA as your Member of Parliament these past four years!

Including:

FEDERAL ASSISTANCE FOR ADMIRALS ROAD!

FULL PROPERTY TAXES ON FEDERAL BUILDINGS!

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

South's three no-trump bid was downright bad. He did have a minimum opening and he did have most of his high card strength in the unbid suits but he also held three spades to the jack and his partner had made a big and a jump rebid in that suit.

North didn't like to leave three no-trump in but his void was in a suit bid by his partner and North had bid his spades very strongly so that North could not really expect to find his partner with three spades to the jack.

Four spades would of course have been a lay down. There was no play for three no-trump but South did give it the old college try.

He won East's king of diamonds with the ace and took two rounds of spades, stopping in his own hand.

His next play was the jack of diamonds and West was in with the queen.

West had quite a decision to make. All leads looked bad. Finally West decided that South had taken away his two spades in the hope that he would lead a club. Hence, West decided against a club lead under any circumstances.

West's next decision was that he had better cash a diamond and see what his partner would discard.

The diamond play was all that was necessary. East discarded the 10 of hearts whereupon West cashed his remaining diamond and led a heart to set the contract.

U.S. Boom Slows, Business Costs Rise

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cost increases loomed for many American businessmen this week as the boom continued to lose momentum.

Signs of slowdown were noted in such key areas as freight carloadings, pape rand paperboard production, cheque clearings, and retail trade. Except for a one-day flareup, the stock market was sluggish and dull.

Plus indicators included a slight pickup in steel production and the highest rate of auto production in 10 weeks. Observers close to the situation warned, though, that the upturn for both autos and steel was likely to be a temporary flash in the pan.

Many businessmen tried to adjust themselves to a nerve-wracking combination of stepped-up operating costs and slower sales.

While prices of some raw materials inched lower, other costs of doing business continued to rise. There was every indication that interest rates would stay at today's high levels for some time. And a continued upward trend was evident for other business costs, notably taxes, wage rates and transportation.

Retailers reconciled themselves to the prospect of another substantial hike in freight rates. Eastern and Western railroads are asking the interestate commerce commission to allow an increase of 22 per cent; Southern railroads want a boost of 15 per cent.

NEWSPAPER AWARD PRESENTED

Victoria Newspaper Guild award for the top junior high school newspaper published on the Island was presented Friday afternoon to Woodlands Junior High School at Nanaimo. Winning paper, "Dragnet," was edited by Carole McIntyre, 17, handicapped by a crippling disease at the age of five, who entered a regular school for the first time in 1955. Miss McIntyre was presented with the Guild shield and a cheque for $50. From left to right: Pete Sallaway, Guild president; Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo; Miss McIntyre, and Peter McLoughlin, Woodlands teacher and sponsor of the school paper.

Boy, 5, Escapes In Primer Blast

CROFTON—Five-year-old Randy Ryzak, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ryzak, luckily escaped serious injury when a blasting cap he was playing with went off in his hand.

The youngster suffered only superficial cuts to the hand and body.

The blasting caps had been kept in the topmost cupboard in the family kitchen, where they were thought to be out of reach.

Randy evidently climbed up on a chair and scrambled up on a ledge to get at the caps.

He took one outside to play with, and it went off when he pried it with a knife. Fortunately he was holding it away from his face, or he might have lost a finger, hand or eye.

Dr. G. Heylen treated the injured youngster who was later released.

Rotarians Give $100 to Kinsmen Lifeguard Fund

CHEMAINUS — The Rotary Club has approved a donation of $100 to the Kinsmen Club's lifeguard fund.

"We are well aware of the fine job Kinsmen are doing at the local beach and we trust that their drive to raise funds to hire a lifeguard will meet with generous support," club president Harry Ewart said.

The Rotary Club will also make a donation of $30 to send a high school student to the United Nations seminar at UBC in August.

Provincial Property For New Sidney Park

SIDNEY — Provincial lands and forests department offer of five lots in Sidney to the village commission for use as a park has been accepted.

The property is situated on two sides of Sidney Avenue at Fourth Street.

WINNER of the $400 MacMillan & Bloedel university scholarship at Cowichan High is Raymond Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peters, Glenora Road, Duncan. He plans to use the scholarship to enter UBC and become a high school teacher. The winner obtained consistently high marks throughout his high school career and was active in student affairs.

Tight Money Policy Non-Existent, Ignorance Real Enemy—Cameron

CHEMAINUS — There is no such thing as a tight money policy, Colin Cameron, CCF candidate for the Nanaimo riding, told the Rotary Club.

Quoting from a report prepared by the governor of the Bank of Canada, he said:

"So-called federal credit controls do not exist. In 1955 and 1956 there was more credit available in every field of lending."

There was no money available, simply because large Canadian and United States corporations were engaging in a huge, unplanned capital expansion.

"This has caused an enormous competition for money, and there is none available for the little man, the municipalities or the school boards, because they can't afford the high interest rates.

PARKSVILLE - QUALICUM BEACH PROGRESS: With the opening of the tourist season just around the corner, it is a good time to take stock of one habit which can never be overdone — courtesy.

In addition to the usual enquiries regarding merchandise or services, we can expect to be asked scores of questions regarding the road to Errington, the distance to Qualicum Bay and the best bait for cohoes and springs. We can answer these questions to the best of our ability and toss in a friendly handshake and a smile or we can snap back with an answer which will leave a sour taste in the mouth of every tourist we encounter.

It's just that simple, and the district which goes all out for courtesy will find that it pays off in the long run.

The businessman who goes out of his way to assist a tourist is a real salesman, not only for his store but for the entire community. He is doing a selling job which will be remembered long after our visitors have left town. Chances are, too, that those visitors will be back again next year.

Let's remember, too, that a tourist is just another citizen away from home. He's right pleased when he meets folk who enquire about his hometown, and the friendships formed in that manner often link the two in a brotherhood which stands the test of time.

Given a chance to work on our behalf, courtesy and friendliness can be our greatest assets.

Farewell

SIDNEY REVIEW: This newspaper learned with sincere regret this week of the disbandment of Sidney-North Saanich Musical Society which has played an important part in the cultural life of the community during the past few years. Resignation of the society's leader and gradual falling off of membership was responsible for the decision to wind up the organization's activities.

All progress cannot be viewed as sound, sensible progress. If the speeding up of our daily lives and the impact of television have resulted in cultural loss, it is to be deeply regretted.

The Review pays tribute to the sponsors of the society and those who kept it a buoyant force in the community to which it brought much honor. We hope that conditions will allow it to be re-established soon.

This district has already won recognition in cultural fields and a further feather in the community cap was the outstanding success of a North Saanich high school play last week. The players and their director were showered with unstinted praise. This is the best kind of publicity for any area.

AN EDITORIAL

A Time for Reflection

CIVILIZED men needed some five thousand years to devise the system of government known as democracy. It is the best system so far devised but, like the human race, it is not perfect.

This weekend, therefore, when the citizens of Canada finally make up their minds about Monday's election, they will remember that they cannot hope to choose a perfect government. They can do no more than choose the best available government.

On election day every citizen in a democracy faces a direct, personal and inescapable responsibility. His duty is to vote.

A newspaper also has a responsibility. Having enjoyed the right of free argument possible only in a democracy, it is bound to tell its readers, whether they agree with it or not, why it supports certain causes and rejects others.

During the last four years this newspaper has frequently criticized the St. Laurent Government, sometimes rather roughly. If the Government is re-elected we expect it will continue to make mistakes, like all governments, and we shall continue to criticize it.

But, recognizing the imperfections of this and all governments, we have no doubt about Monday's decision. The Government, in our view, deserves to be returned for reasons that appear unanswerable.

In the first place, this has been an able, honest and courageous government, as governments go. Its ability is reflected in the state of the nation. Its honesty has not been questioned by any scandal in more than two decades, which must be a Canadian record. Its courage in often following unpopular courses which it thought necessary may have damaged it among thoughtless voters but will commend it to the public's second-thoughts.

It is not too much to say that a glance about the world will reveal no more successful government than that of Louis St. Laurent. Nowhere in the world today is there a nation so fortunate as Canada.

To be sure, the Canadian economic revolution is not solely or even mainly the work of the Government, but the Government's policies have created a climate favorable to it. Assuredly another kind of government, policy and climate could have greatly retarded the Canadian boom.

Moreover, our exsting policies, though sometimes mistaken in detail, have sought to distribute our increased wealth as fairly as any free society permits. Every important welfare service in Canada, without exception, is the work of the Liberal Party—old age pensions, children's allowances, health grants, subsidies to the provinces and now a national scheme of hospital insurance.

These services probably have been the most generous in the world but they have been kept, so far, within our means. The Government has not expanded them, merely to win votes, faster than our means allow, as its opponents propose to expand them regardless of the taxpayers' ability to pay the bill.

★ ★ ★

The Canadian boom has been so large, indeed, that it has bred inflation as we try to build and consume even more than we can make or borrow. Only the Government, among all the political parties, has dared to face this danger.

It has not yet succeeded in curing inflation. No nation has yet succeeded. But assuredly without the present fiscal policies the Canadian inflation would now be much worse than it is and the alternative to its policies, as advocated by all the opposition parties, would be to abandon every measure against inflation, to let it run wild and further debase our money and savings.

In such a situation soft policies may win some votes. They will also assure soft money. The government deserves credit for putting the people's savings above its political convenience. Every other party has done the opposite.

If the government deserves re-election on its domestic record, its record in international affairs is even more commendable. To keep Mr. Pearson in charge of our foreign policy seems to us perhaps the strongest reason for a Liberal vote, since Canada's chief danger comes from our foreign enemies. Is Mr. Pearson to remain in charge of our foreign policy or is he to be replaced by some unknown? That question should be well pondered before Monday's ballot.

★ ★ ★

If an abler government were in sight the virtues of the present government would not entitle it to re-election. Where is there such a better alternative?

Actually, no opposition party has the chance to form any kind of government, good or bad. That fact may be disagreeable in theory. It is none the less a fact in practical politics today.

The revival of the Conservative Party, which is to be warmly welcomed, has not gone far enough to give it the chance of a parliamentary majority.

The two splinter parties—the CCF running on a policy known to be unacceptable and Social Credit on the proposition that a small minority should dominate a stalemated Parliament against the will of the majority—offer us nothing but chaos.

There are only two real possibilities in this election. One is a working Liberal majority. The other, a remote prospect, is stalemate and paralysis.

The splinters have nothing but nuisance value. What does the Conservative Party offer us? It offers us gigantic increases in expenditure and gigantic decreases in taxes.

Everybody knows, including Mr. Diefenbaker and all his candidates, that this equation does not make sense and is nothing but mathematical nonsense invented for an election campaign. It is proposed, in disregard of mathematics, solely because the Conservative Party knows that it will not have to redeem impossible promises and thus can promise anything.

★ ★ ★

If it could be elected, a Conservative government attempting to enforce this program would plunge us into deficits and debt at the height of a boom, would precipitate a run-away inflation and would then be forced to raise taxes far above their present level or risk national bankruptcy.

Yet after this show of complete irresponsibility in the election campaign the Conservative Party asks for the responsibility of office. Clearly, on this record, it is not ready for office, but its vigorous campaign indicates that it is prepared to provide a strong and useful opposition.

The sovereign question on Monday will be identity of the next government but there is another question. Every constituency must select its own Member of Parliament and try to find the best man to represent it.

The Liberal Party may not be so fortunate elsewhere, but in Victoria and in Esquimalt-Saanich it has nominated excellent men. Dr. Frank Fairey and Mr. Alistair Fraser deserve election, we believe, not only because they represent the government but because they have the qualities needed in the next Parliament.

For all these reasons we think Canada will be wise to maintain its government, the policies that have succeeded so abundantly in recent years and the progress on all fronts that is now the admiration of the world.

13,000 Hear PM At Toronto; Boy Heckler Hurt

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent closed out his national tour with a colorful splash Friday night. But the monster rally, the biggest of the campaign, threatened to fall into turmoil as a Liberal official shoved a youthful heckler to the floor.

Warmed up by musical entertainment and shenanigans of local candidates, the audience, estimated at between 12,000 and 13,000, gave the 75-year-old Liberal chieftain a tremendous ovation as he was piped into brightly-decorated Maple Leaf Gardens.

But he no sooner launched into an attack against John Diefenbaker and the Progressive Conservatives when one of a group of hecklers mounted the speaker's platform and slowly tore a St. Laurent placard before the prime minister's eyes.

F. Vincent Regan, president of the Toronto and York Liberal Association, got up from his platform seat and shoved William Hatton, the 15-year-old heckler, down the platform steps.

The youth fell down the six steps and hit the back of his head on the cement floor. The crowd burst into an unroar as Hatton lay still for a moment. Scores milled around him. A teen-ager mounted a table nearby and shouted:

"That's the way you Liberals behave!"

Incident Disturbs PM

The youth was assisted to his feet and taken to hospital where he was found to have suffered slight head bruises. He was not detained. Police said there would be no charges arising out of the incident.

But the event, first of its kind on Mr. St. Laurent's six-week, cross-country tour, visibly disturbed the prime minister and dampened the rally's spirit. He stood grimly and silently before the speaker's rostrum and later as he resumed his speech, commented:

"It is, of course, unfortunate that this young man fell down the steps. I hope that those who are attempting to prevent me from being heard realize that this was not the right thing for this young man to do.

"I am sure that this is not the way Toronto audiences usually act. We are happy to learn that there are no other consequences from this incident than this momentary disturbance."

In his speech, Mr. St. Laurent charged that Conservative Leader Diefenbaker had deliberately refused to allow the country to see his party's platform.

"Surely Mr. Diefenbaker is the first leader of a political party in Canada that has kept its platform secret."

He defended the government's action in aiding trans-Canada natural gas pipeline construction. The heckling became a bit more persistent and Mr. St. Laurent expressed the hope that the arena was not to be turned into a "madhouse" by a dozen or so hecklers.

As some in the audience booed, he remarked that "They boo tonight but they will live long enough to benefit from this pipeline." There were laughs and loud cheers.

Some shouted at Finance Minister Harris as he derided the Conservatives and praised accomplishments of the Liberals. External Affairs Minister Pearson also was cheered and booed when he defended the government's Suez policy.

France Ends Suez Boycott; Would Pay Tolls in Sterling

CAIRO (Reuters) — France has decided to end her lone boycott of the Suez Canal and has offered to pay shipping tolls in sterling, the Egyptian finance ministry announced today.

A French government spokesman said in Paris that "contacts have taken place about this matter between French and Egyptian banks." He declined further comment.

A spokesman for the Egyptian finance ministry said negotiations are going on through the Swiss Embassy here for the resumption of French shipping through the canal.

All the main Suez Canal user countries except France lifted their boycott last month after agreeing provisionally to pay tolls directly to Egypt's nationalized Canal Authority.

STUDY REQUEST

The Egyptian spokesman said: "The Egyptian government has received a request from the French government through the Swiss Embassy in Cairo, asking that French ships passing through the Suez Canal should be allowed to pay tolls in sterling.

"The French request has been submitted to the finance ministry for study."

French business interests were reported to have exerted heavy pressure on the government to lift the boycott after Britain decided May 14 to permit her ships to resume use of the waterway.

48% OF POPULAR VOTE

LIBERALS HOLDING BIG LEAD IN POLL

British United Press and Canadian Press reported today that the latest Canadian Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll) of election thinking in Canada shows the Liberals holding 48% of the popular vote across the nation.

The poll shows Progressive Conservatives with 34%, the CCF with 10%, Social Credit with 7% and other with 1%.

On the basis of these figures, the Liberals have only 2% less of the popular backing than they did in 1953, when they were returned with an enormous majority, and have 1% more than was shown by the same poll a month ago.

Conservatives have gained 3% since 1953 and 1% since May. The CCF is down 1% from both polls.

Social Credit is shown with the same percentage as in 1953, but 1% less than it was in May.

Editors of the poll, the BUP says, emphasize that the latest figures refer only to popular vote and the effect on seat distribution might well be proportionately greater.

The popular vote proportions as shown by these latest reports compare as follows;

	1953	May 1957	June 1957
Liberals	50%	47%	48%
Progressive Conservatives	31%	33%	34%
CCF	11%	11%	10%
Socred	7%	8%	7%
Others	1%	1%	1%

The institute said the "analysis of Canadian voter opinion" was "based on that segment which had made up its mind a week before" the election.

The institute said that "during the campaign a trend toward the Conservative party developed in Ontario but appeared to lose some of its steam in the latter days." The net result, it says, was an institute figure of 45% for the Conservative party in Ontario compared to 43% for the Liberals, 11% for the CCF and 1% for other parties.

In Quebec the Liberals hold a large margin with 70% against 24% for Conservatives.

'More or Less Protest' Says Youth

TORONTO (CP)—A youth who interupted a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent by mounting the platform and tearing up a placard said today the stunt was "more or less a protest, I guess."

William Hatton, 15, of nearby Malton, either fell or was pushed off the platform to the concrete floor and suffered a bump on the head.

Hatton gave this version to the Toronto Telegram: "I climbed the steps to the platform. I began to tear the placard up. As I was doing this, some fellow approached me from the side. I'm not sure what he said; something about 'what are you doing? You have no business up here.'

"The next thing I knew I landed on the floor and struck my head." A doctor said Hatton suffered no serious injury.

The Toronto Star says Mrs. Fred Hatton, the boy's mother, described what happened as "just a schoolboy prank."

Election Clerk Jailed; Admits Padding List

MONTREAL (CP)—Two federal election enumerators charged with adding fictitious names to a voters' list were arraigned in court today. One pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three days in jail.

The second pleaded not guilty and was remanded to June 13.

William Burt, 56, pleaded guilty and was returned to the cells where he had been detained since his arrest Friday night.

Edward Roland, 21, pleaded not guilty and was released on bail of $500.

The men served as enumerators in a polling division of Montreal St. Lawrence-St. George constituency. Mr. Burt was appointed by the Liberals and Mr. Roland by the Conservatives.

Their arrests came during an RCMP investigation made at the request of Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer.

9 Million Canadians Eligible for Voting

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians make their decision Monday on the makeup of the next Parliament and, consequently, the political stripe of the government.

Between 8,900,000 and 9,000,000 of the Canadian population of 16,500,000 are eligible to vote between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. local standard time in the 23rd federal general election since Confederation in 1867.

The winning political party must take at least 133 seats in the 265-member House of Commons to form a majority government.

During the last week of the campaign two of the four major party leaders referred to the possibility of a minority government—that is, a government in which the top party in the Commons does not command a majority and could be turned out by the combined opposition.

Social Credit Leader Low said there is a "distinct possibility" of a minority government. There hasn't been one in Canada since the 1920s.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said that if the Liberals do not win a majority no other party will. He expressed doubt that a Parliament without a majority party would be a good thing for Canada.

The voters will decide whether to return to office the Liberals who have governed Canada for 22 years or install as their government the Progressive Conservatives or CCF.

The Social Credit party has not enough candidates to form a majority government.

There are 858 candidates in the field—262 Liberals, 255 Progressive Conservatives, 161 CCF, 114 Social Credit and 66 others. The Liberals already hold one seat in the new House of Commons. C. W. Carter was returned by acclamation in the Newfoundland riding of Burin-Burgeo.

Russia Reveals Scientific Parties Worked 150 Miles from Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Russians have made some 30 landings on Polar Ice within 150 miles of Canadian territory in the last two years.

This information is contained in a 382-page book entitled Across the Pole on the Drifting Ice and published in Moscow this year by a state publishing house.

A copy of the book recently came into the hands of Canadian Arctic experts and they say there is no reason to doubt the information in it.

The landing closest to the Canadian shore, likely made by helicopter, was 121 miles from Ellesmere Island, the northern tip of which is some 400 miles from the North Pole. The landing was made in 1955.

Authorities here say they had suspected the Russians might be working fairly close to Canadian territory but that this was the first evidence they had actually done so.

Far's all this election name-callin' goes, m' preacher friend reminds me thet many are called but few are chosen.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Help us, O God, to be honestly ourselves and devoted to Thy service. If we limp, may we limp toward Thee. If we stammer, may we stammer a word of witness to Christ, our Savior. If we are a bit peculiar, find a little crooked space, O God, where we may fit into the building of Thy Church. Amen.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Fraser Rankled By Fake Charges

Alistair Fraser, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, Friday night accused the Conservatives of creating "spurious charges" in the election campaign.

Mr. Fraser addressed an audience of 147 persons at his windup meeting in Saanichton Agricultural Hall.

The main feature of opposition criticism in the campaign and at the last session of Parliament, he said, was "its merciless and ruthless endeavor, not to point out fault where fault may actually lie, but to create spurious issues and to levy spurious charges, purely for the sake of having something to say."

An example was the recent attempt by the Conservatives to set up "straw men" in the campaign.

"They charged the other day that Liberals were saying if a Conservative administration were returned, armed services pay would be cut—and they denied the rumor indignantly.

"Well, I am just as indignant about it as they are."

No one in the Liberal party had made such a statement, Mr. Fraser said.

The Liberal candidate branded as "nonsense" criticism of the prime minister for sending campaign literature to the armed services.

"We Liberals have never taken the view that soldiers are second-class citizens," Mr. Fraser said. "More than anyone else, they have a stake in public affairs."

Voters Confused

Revision of the Canada Elections Act was called for Friday night by Noel Bell, Social Credit candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

"The act makes it very difficult for people to know if they are on the voters' list, difficult for them to find out how to get on it if their names are missing," Mr. Bell said at a meeting in Colwood Community Hall.

Many eligible voters had been disenfranchised, because they were not at their normal residence when the enumerator came around, he said.

"There should be a government organization or body to help the electors," Mr. Bell said. The returning officer is overworked and hampered by an outdated law."

Stand Together

An appeal for the labor vote was made Friday by Victoria CCF candidate Victor Williams in a noon-hour talk at Bapco Paint Co.

"When the workers stand together with the civil servants, housekeepers and young mothers of Canada, everyone will be able to own a small part of Canada in the form of a low-cost home," he said.

"Under the systems advocated by the trained seals of the other three-ringed capitalists circuses, the only piece of Canada to which you are legally entitled is a six-by-three plot for which you pay the shocking price of more than $5,000 an acre before you can lie in it in peace," Mr. Williams said.

Slogan Trouble

Progressive Conservative campaign officials are worried that those "Follow John" footprints stencilled on cars and buildings in B.C. might be considered illegal on election day.

The Conservatives estimated about 3,500 cars, including 200 in Victoria, are carrying the signs showing two footprints and the slogan "Follow John!" in removable paint.

Soap and water will not take it off and the best way is with petroleum-base solvents.

Those "Follow John" footsteps were found leading to the entrance of Mr. Bennett's hardware store in Kelowna.

Passersby recalled that Mr. Bennett was once an ardent Conservative himself.

Hid $90 Million

Premier Bennett, campaigning in Regina, accused the Liberal government of "deliberately hiding" $90,000,000 in funds for the new Canada Council to avoid increasing old-age pensions.

He told a party rally Friday night that money budgeted this year for the council, recently established to promote Canadian cultural activities, could have paid a large part of a pension increase and help give farmers parity prices.

Mr. Bennett said he is not opposed to programs supporting the advance of culture but he objects to the government taking $100,000,000 out of revenues in one year to be used during the following 10 years.

The government should have budgeted $10,000,000 annually, he said.

Car Insurance Rate Hike Almost Certain

Speculation that automobile insurance rates will be increased again this year has a strong basis in fact, an insurance companies spokesman at Vancouver said today.

The unprecedented mid-year jump would follow an 8 per cent increase in 1957 rates, which became effective Jan. 1.

Although there is "nothing definite" about the rumored increase, "some agencies have received instruction from automobile insurance companies to withhold renewals of insurance for July and some for August, too," the spokesman said.

"There is no doubt that something is in the wind."

The rumors have not been quashed by rate-setting groups—the B.C. Underwriters' Association and Independent Insurance Conference of B.C.

The situation is being studied by board companies, Ken Sabiston, manager of B.C. Underwriters' Association, said.

Automobile insurance rates, usually set once a year, are based on claim statistics in six rating territories in the province during the previous year.

CITY PARENTS INVITED TO MASS YOUTH MEETING

Parents were urged today to attend a mass meeting of the National Youth Club for adults and teenagers at the Plaza Theatre Sunday afternoon. Doors open at 12.15.

Meeting was scheduled for Newstead Hall but was switched to the theatre to accommodate an expected crowd of 1,000.

Supervisory manager of the club, Con Watling, today rapped Victoria's "lackadaisical" attitude towards teenagers and their problems.

"The only problem I can see is that parents won't give the time to help their children," he said. "They seem to forget they were teenagers once themselves."

POLICE SNAFU

City Soldiers Astray in U.S.

Esquimalt-based 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, in convoy and headed for Camp Wainwright, Alta., was intercepted by Everett, Wash., police and sent on a wild goose chase Friday.

Artillerymen were temporarily on the wrong route and headed for Seattle when the error was discovered, the convoy located and re-routed for Stevens Pass.

About 140 men, 37 trucks and eight weapon carriers for 90 mm. guns were directed south at Everett, Wash., where they should have been started eastward.

PATROLMAN MIXED UP

A city patrolman got his instructions mixed.

Instead of turning them east over Highway 2 he escorted them south, showed them Highway 99, waved a friendly goodbye and returned to his post.

A short time later, police headquarters got a call from a state patrolman at Cavallero's Corner, between Everett and Snohomish on Highway 2. The conversation went something like this:

"Where's that Canadian Army?" . . . "They've passed through Everett." . . . "They haven't got here yet." . . . What?" . . .

Quick check. The outfit was finally located halfway to Seattle on Highway 99.

The Everett police officer is still blushing.

Slated to take the same trail next Friday is Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Liberals, Tories 'Betrayed' Farmers CCF Leader Charges

BIGGAR, Sask. (CP) — CCF Leader Coldwell Friday night charged the Liberal and Conservative parties with "betraying" the farmer and urged the establishboard.

"Both the Liberals and the Conservatives have supported all kinds of special privileges for special interests but have opposed even the most elementary justice for agriculture embodied as that is in a program of full parity," he said.

He denied claims by Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner that the present support prices are better than parity prices. Support prices, he said, should go up as farm costs increase.

ONLY FOUR MILES OF ROAD REMAIN to be built to make first loop trip on Vancouver Island a reality. Broken line between Port Renfrew and Jordan River indicates section of road to be built by provincial government, with completion scheduled for end of August. About half of road between Port Renfrew and Shawnigan Lake is private, and can be used only outside working hours of logging company.

ROAD TO RENFREW—68 YEARS LATER

He Walked It, Now to Ride

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

A Victorian who is looking forward with intense interest to driving to Port Renfrew by the coast road now nearing completion, and returning via Shawnigan Lake, is Frank Hobbs, 94, of 3830 Hobbs Street, Cadboro Bay.

It is not only because he is interested in the development of Vancouver Island that he wants to travel over the Island's first loop road system.

"I first saw that country in 1889, and I walked all the way from Victoria to Port Renfrew while working on the stringing of the telegraph line," he told the Times. "I'd love to be one of the first party to drive in."

Mr. Hobbs was fresh out from England, with little money but a hankering to have land of his own. The telegraph job seemed to provice both pay and education, so he took it.

"I didn't see much land, but I saw some splendid timber," he said, "and felt the time was coming when it would be worth money."

He never lost sight of it, and by 1901 or 1902 had some cash available to pay for timberland being sold cheaply by South African War veterans who were given the land in grants.

LIKED TIMBER

"Some years later an American financier came to Port San Juan, as Renfrew was known then, to see a mine prospect. He never saw the mine — lost interest in everything but the timber as soon as he spotted it. I sold part of it and retired."

Mr. Hobbs made his home in Cadboro Bay, soon found himself a general merchant and postmaster, and prospered.

"But I still kept my land at Port Renfrew because the government had promised to put a road in," he said. "The tax burden was heavy, though, and when the government doubled it during the hard times of the 30s I had to let the land go. I could see that if I tried to keep it I might jeopardize my other interests."

The Cadboro Bay patriarch has no regrets at having missed out on a fortune that could have been gained from timber sales.

"No one knows what might have happened," he said, "and I've made a comfortable living at Cadboro Bay. I can't complain."

"You can express my satisfaction that the road we worked toward for so many years finally will be built," he said, "I guess there aren't many of us oldtimers left to see it."

The private road between Port Renfrew and Bear Creek, west of Shawnigan Lake, was built by B.C. Forest Products.

The same company, working under terms of a forest management licence, has built a section of road southward from Port Renfrew, and Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Co. Ltd., of Jordan River has nearly finished its share of the same road up the coast.

Only the connecting link of four miles is yet to be built, and work by provincial government crews is going quickly.

MONTE ROBERTS

You can turn the radio on again, mother. The following is no longer a paid.

It is a great tribute to the perseverance and fortitude of Canadians, the way they stood up, undaunted, to the election blasts shattering the air waves.

I suspect the way most Canadians stood up to the blasts was to exercise democracy's greatest freedom—the freedom to not listen.

But I do hope not many exercise that other freedom—the freedom to not vote.

In fact, no Xcuses will be Xcepted from non-voters.

Things are certainly quiet around here now. So quiet you can hear a whim drop.

And if you don't think voters have whimming ways, ask any defeated candidate Tuesday.

Which reminds me.

Tuesday will be "whatever became of" day in this space.

There is nothing more dismal on the day after election than an election poster—whether it be for a winning or losing candidate.

That's why I have such great admiration for a certain mainland candidate in the election of four years ago.

The day after election he, personally, set out around his constituency and tore down every picture of his sincerely-smiling face.

If every candidate would do likewise, what a happy, happy world this would be!

How about it, dear hard-working candidates? In your post-election statement, how about including a clean-up pledge?

I might even say, clean-up and shut-up, but that would be rude.

Just one more reminder for election day—which is Monday, in case you didn't know.

It isn't essential to know who your candidates are before going to the polls.

But it might help.

AVERAGE WAGE UP $4 WEEKLY TO $72.84

The average B.C. worker at March 1 was paid $72.84 weekly.

This was a gain of $4 a week from March, 1956, it is reported in the current monthly bulletin of business activity issued by the provincial bureau of economics and statistics.

The increase in wages was general across Canada with the Dominion average rising from $63.20 to $67.48, the report said.

Mayor Details Attitude on Municipalities

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today his remarks Thursday in connection with the city's move for a full revision of the municipal act were not intended as a criticism of the provincial government which piloted the act through the Legislature.

His statement followed a declaration by Attorney-General Robert Bonner Friday that the city's attack on the act was "ill-considered nonsense."

Mr. Scurrah said he thought that in making his observations Mr. Bonner had misunderstood or been misinformed as to what transpired at the meeting of civic legislative committee Thursday.

SOLICITOR, NOT HIM

The mayor pointed out that the blanket criticism of the municipal act had been made by City Solicitor Terence O'Grady, not by himself, although the mayor supported the committee resolution to ask the Union of B.C. Municipalities to press for major revision of the law.

"I stated publicly at the municipal officer's convention that in my opinion the act, by and large, was a good act, but that there were a number of bugs in it which needed to be remedied," the mayor said.

Mr. Scurrah, at Thursday's meeting, was quoted as saying; "The government has done a poor job—and its just too bad for the government."

He explained today what he actually said was that if the government had done a poor job then it would be too bad for them, which was a much different thing.

TRAILING 11 OTHER CITIES, SURVEY SHOWS

City Dragging Feet On Parking Problem

By PETE LOUDON

Victoria is dragging far behind other Canadian cities of comparative size in meeting the ever-growing problem of downtown parking.

A survey of 11 Canadian cities shows Victoria to be the only one with no publicly-owned parking facilities.

The survey, conducted by the city of Saskatoon, places this city at the bottom of the ladder, both in meeting the current demand and in planning for the future.

With exception of Victoria, each of the cities polled has acted to meet and defeat the danger of a decentralized business community.

As business moves to the outskirts, downtown tax revenues drop. The tax load shifts from downtown stores to the residential home owner.

Nine cities used their parking meter revenues or set up special funds to avert this situation.

So far, Victoria's meter revenue has been diverted into general revenue and eaten up by other city costs.

Saskatoon, Calgary, Windsor and Sherbrooke use their meter revenues for provision of off-street parking. London uses its meter income for parking and for street widening.

St. John, Halifax and Regina place meter income into general revenues but St. John and Halifax draw on these for additional parking facilities.

RESERVE FUND

Regina has set up a special $20,000 reserve fund for improvement of off-street parking.

Victoria has no elected or appointed body specifically empowered to deal with provision of off-street parking. Edmonton, St. John, London, Regina and Winnipeg have either parking commissions or comparable bodies.

Ten out of the 11 cities have some off-street parking facilities owned by the city. Victoria is the only exception.

The publicly-owned lots charge short-term rates to encourage shoppers. Edmonton, Calgary and Winnipeg charge 10 cents an hour. Windsor, Halifax, Sherbrooke and Regina operate lots which charge five cents an hour. In St. John there is no charge.

LOWEST

Victoria's situation was compared to nine California cities of similar population by Jackson D. Faustman when he compiled a parking report this spring. Of the nine, this city had the lowest percentage of short-time parking facilities.

Of all parking lots in this city 59 per cent are geared for the long-term parker with rates varying between $2.50 and $10 a month.

Victoria traffic planner, engineer Norman Worsley, says new city legislation may make parking an even more vital question in the city soon.

There is a prospect of large number of meters being removed to ease the traffic flow on certain narrow streets. Others will be taken out as angle parking areas are converted to parallel parking.

City council hasn't come to grips with the problem. It was outlined by Mr. Faustman and his recommendations were for off-street parking lots, a parking commission and adoption of a local improvement plan to finance a major project.

The city should seek legislation, he said, permitting taxation of merchants who would benefit, to provide the new lots. So far no action has been taken on his studies.

What are the reasons that Canadian cities have diverted their parking meter revenue to provision of off-street parking? Why have these cities set up publicly-owned parking lots?

SALES GAINS

They have found that 45 per cent of shopping is done by people who used cars to come downtown. They have found sales gains of 21 per cent where parking was adequate in downtown areas.

They have found where it is inadequate, business moves to the suburbs. Lack of parking facilities will encourage Woodwards and Simpson-Sears (to cite a local example), to develop in the outskirts, in other muncipalities.

Mr. Worsley sums up "either the merchants or the city must act to protect the tremendous investment of downtown."

MARILYN TO RETIRE, GUS HINTS IN LETTER

Both Marilyn Bell and Gus Ryder plan to "take it easy" this summer, the famous swim coach said in letter to the Times today.

A hint that Marilyn may retire altogether was contained in Ryder's sentence:

"There just aren't any swims that would be of interest to her and if nothing comes up, that's it."

Ryder concluded: "Please remember us to all the fine Victoria folks . . . without whom we could not have made the two-way Bell and Lumsdon round trip."

Doctor Testifies In Damage Suit

Mr. and Mrs. John Whitehead of Victoria were "a most devoted young couple who took particular joy in their home life," Dr. D. M. Whitley told the B.C. Supreme Court Friday.

The doctor was giving evidence in an action for damages against the Royal Jubilee Hospital brought by Mr. Whitehead of 5661 West Saanich Road, and his children, Marilyn, 9, and Richard, 5.

His wife died in the hospital in March, 1956, after her feet had been accidentally burned by a hot water bottle.

Mr. Whitehead claims that the burns led to a golden staph infection which caused her death.

Victoria barrister, John G. McIntosh, said although Mr. Whitehead has since re-married, he suffered intensely after the death of his former wife.

"How did you regard Mrs. Whitehead as a wife?" he asked Dr. Whitley.

"She was devoted to her husband," the doctor replied, "and he was devoted to her."

When asked for his opinion of Mrs. Whitehead as a housewife, the doctor replied:

"I can speak highly of her cooking. It so happened our birthdays occurred on the same date and every year she sent me a fine cake."

Dr. Whitley said Mrs. Whitehead was under his care for some time before she entered the hospital on November, 1955. She suffered from diabetes and her eyesight was affected.

"If she had not contracted this infection in hospital, what would her life expectancy have been?" Mr. McIntosh asked.

"Anything between three months and 20 years," the doctor said. "It is impossible to make any predictions where diabetics are concerned."

Mr. McIntosh said Mrs. Whitehead was admitted to the hospital in November, 1955, suffering from a diabetic coma.

SKIN GRAFT

One of the nurses' aides gave her a hot water bottle, which burned her feet and necessitated a skin graft. Soon afterwards a golden staph infection entered her system.

"Because of her diabetic condition the infection became uncontrollable and caused her death," he said.

Mr. McIntosh asked specific damages for expenses incurred and unspecified general damages, alleging negligence.

J. Alan Baker, appearing for the hospital, said there was no proof that Mrs. Whitehead died in consequence of the burns she received.

"We are not opposing the specific damages," he said, "but we contend there are no grounds for general damages in this most unfortunate case."

Mr. Justice A. E. Lord reserved judgment on the action.

Operation Polio Ready To Provide Second Shots

Second phase of the Victoria Medical Society's "Operation Polio" will take place next week.

The doctors will administer the second shots of Salk anti-polio vaccine to the 15,560 adults who received the first injections in the week of May 13-17.

The organization, which worked so efficiently last time, will be set up again at the nurses' residences at St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee Hospitals. The hours are from 2 to 10 p.m.

Day of the week and the hospital you should attend are printed on the registration card given out last month. Payment of the $1 fee for the cost of the vaccine will be made when you go to receive the injection.

The 400 persons who registered last month but did not turn up, can receive their first shot next week. The third, or booster, injection will be given next January.

Record Vote Expected Monday; Socred Windup Rally Tonight

Except for a Social Credit rally at Central Junior High tonight, the federal election campaign has ended locally.

The voters will render their decision at the ballot boxes on Monday.

A record vote in both local ridings of Victoria and Esquimalt-Saanich is forecast.

Apart from heightened interest in the election this year, there are 4,052 new voters in Esquimalt-Saanich and 1,164 in Victoria over 1953.

68% VOTED

Victoria, with 50,785 eligible voters, has the third highest total in the province. In 1953, 68% of the eligible voters cast ballots.

Returning officers issued a final reminder to voters today to check their copy of the voters' list to find out where to vote.

In the rural sections of Esquimalt-Saanich, including View Royal where there is some confusion, polling places are given on the "Notice of Poll" lists posted last month.

★ ★ ★

Voters in the View Royal district of Esquimalt-Saanich riding will cast ballots Monday at Strawberry Vale Community Hall, election officials emphasized today.

Returning officer S. S. Penny said he was unable to secure suitable accommodation at View Royal. Community association officials denied, however, that they had not co-operated with the returning officer.

It's a good idea to take the slip or voters' list with you to the polling place.

A total of 22 voters cast ballots in the Victoria riding advance poll in the first two days, returning officer Alan Macfarlane reported today.

The poll will be open until 11 p.m. tonight for special classifications of employees who will be away in the course of their business on voting day.

Mr. Macfarlane said the number of votes cast so far had been "just about what we expected."

2 Out of 3 Fail RCMP Vehicle Test

Two out of three vehicles tested by RCMP in the Courtenay and Campbell River areas between Tuesday and Thursday of this week failed to meet Motor-Vehicle Act standards.

An RCMP report today said 650 cars and trucks were tested, and 420 were found wanting.

Tests were carried out by a six-man team from RCMP headquarters in Victoria.

420 WARNED

Check-up slips for minor repairs were issued to owners of the 420 vehicles. If not complied with within a specified time, charges would be laid.

Twenty of the drivers were charged with offences such as failing to have a current driver's licence or chauffeur's licence.

The RCMP said the highway check, of a type carried out periodically, would be typical of any part of B.C.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Would you kindly tell me anything you know about "chopsticks" such as children play on the piano? A.R.

A. This is a quick waltz tune performed as an amusement. In the traditional manner the flat hand is held perpendicular and notes struck with its side, with a touch of glissando. The operation has no reference to the Chinese table tool, but rather to the operation of cutting firewood. A famed collection of composition based on "chopsticks" is the joint work of Borodin, Rimsky-Korsakof and Liszt. It consists of 24 variations, published under the title of "Paraphrases."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Peace of Mind

HAVE you felt that inner yearning for Peace?—a release from the noisy grind of a machine-made civilization? Are you constantly reminded of a treadmill of work in a static condition of your life? Have you sought the meaning behind the veil of modern false reality? If you have suffered—this is for you.

The complacent smile of a Buddhist saint or messiah suggests no smug aloofness from the world or imperturbability to its suffering. It radiates instead the consolation and confidence experienced by one who can envision a tomorrow when yet burdened with today. It subtly conveys a feeling of hope amidst surroundings of despair. It portrays one who has put in order his own mind and found therein Peace Profound.

How to Obtain Inner Peace

A free book will be sent to you giving the answer of Peace Profound in your practical living. The Rosicrucians (not a religion), a world-wide philosophical and mystical movement for peace, invite you to investigate, with no obligation. Send the attached coupon for the free book, The Mastery of Life, which explains further or address your inquiry to: Scribe B.C.L.

28 SPEEDERS TRAPPED BY RADAR AT QUALICUM

QUALICUM BEACH — Twenty-eight drivers were convicted in police court here Friday for speeding, all clocked by RCMP radar in 50-mile-an-hour zones.

The slowest was registered at 64 and the highest at 96 m.p.h.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

400 Men Battle Interior Fires

PRINCE GEORGE — Four hundred men battled three major forest fires in central B.C. Friday.

A fourth big fire was burning near Fort Ware, 300 miles northwest of here in the Rocky Mountain trench. The fire area was so inaccessible that authorities decided to let it burn until rain puts it out. There was no estimate of the number of acres destroyed.

Five new fires broke out in the Prince George district Thursday but all were extinguished or brought under control.

Biggest of those still causing anxiety was at Buckhorn Lake, 20 miles southeast of here, where 2,000 acres of old logging slash had been consumed. One mill had been destroyed and preparations were made to evacuate several others.

Nearly 200 men fought the blaze Friday. Operations were hampered by wet ground and a flame-spreading wind.

Ninety men fought a 1,200-acre fire at Valemount, 120 miles east of Prince George on the Canoe River. The blaze was believed to have been started by lightning. It was burning high up on a mountain and firefighters found it impossible to send equipment in.

High winds hampered fire-fighting operations at Pine Pass, 140 miles north of here, where flames had consumed 1,700 acres.

MEDICAL ALERT

VANCOUVER — Medical officials in Vancouver haven't issued any formal warning about the danger of an influenza epidemic in southeast Asia having effects here but they are watching the situation.

Dr. J. L. Gayton, assistant Vancouver medical health officer, said: "There is nothing to indicate it is in the city but it could occur any time, especially with the speed of travel today."

JUVENILES CHARGED

VANCOUVER — City police have charged eight juveniles with 50 counts of breaking and entering involving 22 separate gasoline stations and two stores. Youths range in age from 14 to 16 years. Two are girls and six boys.

OFFICIALS SUSPENDED

PENTICTON — Mayor C. E. Oliver went to the Penticton Creek dam Thursday and found it only half full. Friday, he suspended works superintendent E. R. Gayfer and irrigation foreman Robert R. Dennis. Mayor Oliver said Mr. Gayfer had assured him that the dam would be full.

BCHIS EXTENSION URGED

KELOWNA—The B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce at its convention here Thursday called for extension of B.C. Hospital Insurance benefits to out-patients, and also asked for establishment of traffic safety councils in Canadian communities to promote all phases of safety and accident prevention.

INDIAN BOY FOUND

VANCOUVER — Benjamin Joseph, two, heir to the chieftainship of the Squamish Indians, was found alive and well Friday after being missing all night in dense bush at the Capilano Reserve, across Burrard Inlet from here.

The RCMP tracking dog Rip found the boy sitting wide awake on a log in a shallow ravine near the Lions Gate Bridge. He had last been seen 14 hours earlier playing on Capilano Way in the reserve.

Police said the ringleader, a 15-year-old boy, faces 19 charges.

WILDCAT STRIKE

KELOWNA—The natural gas pipeline project in Kelowna has been brought to a standstill by a wildcat strike of 15 pipefitters and welders.

The strike started Thursday when Dutton Williams Ltd. dismissed a worker for incompetance.

The men refuse to go back to work until the worker in question is rehired.

Newspapers Provide Forum For Community

Newspapers are the forum for community ideas, the focus of community attention, Brian Tobin, associate editor of The Victoria Daily Times, told the Victoria Lions Club Friday. The speech marked the annual international observance of Freedom of the Press Day.

"A free press is as necessary to democracy as a fettered press is to dictatorship," Tobin said. Canadians must be alert to the occasional attempt, even in this country where freedom is taken for granted, to nibble at our rights.

Press freedom also carries a responsibility, he said. "It is the right of access to news and the right to print it. It is the responsibility to gather all sides of the news and print a fair report."

A newspaper, Tobin said, is not something separate from the community. "It is part of the community, just as much as people are." For this reason a newspaper reflects closely the type of community it serves. Critics of a newspaper are often in reality criticizing the public which shapes it.

Oils Lead Market Trading At New High Price Levels

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Western oils dominated Canadian stock market trading this week as they repeatedly soared to new highs amid the heaviest trading in several weeks.

For six straight sessions — the advance began near the end of the previous week—the oils continually ran up big gains and most of these generally held their winnings despite some light profit-taking Friday.

Observers said the oil advance was long overdue considering the development reports and consumer demands. The activity was also aided by American and other foreign buying.

On the Toronto Stock Exchange, the western oil index, compiled from the action of 15 key stocks, soared to all-time highs in nearly every session. On the week, they gained four points and Thursday touched 192.99, a gain of nearly seven points over the previous week.

Almost every oil stock on the board moved ahead. Fargo was the feature of the advance. It gained $1.70 in the five sessions and touched a 1957 high of $7.20 before closing at $6.65.

Other strong issues included Pacific Pete, up 75 cents to $30.87½. It touched a new high of $34.75 before losing $3.50 Friday. Canadian Atlantic gained 90 cents to $9.50 and touched $10.12½. Royalite was up $3 to $21.75 and touched $23.25. Several other issues gained 25-70 cents.

With the upsurge in oils, industrials were forced to the background for the first time in several weeks and few stocks showed any significant price changes. Volumes on industrials also slipped.

Superior Propane, however, gained $2.62½ to $8.87½ and touched $9 and International Utilities was up $4.37½ to $67.87½.

Several speculative mining stocks churned ahead in midweek and turned over some of the year's biggest volumes.

Sand River Gold, following an underwriting, gained 28 cents at 58 cents and on the week turned over 4,548,345 shares, including two days of 1,000,000 - share volumes.

Cody-Reco was another active lower-priced mine, advancing 44 cents to 79 cents. Leitch gained 30 cents to $1.21 and Area added 39 cents to $1.20.

Feature of the board was McIntyre gold, which leaped $17 to a new high of $115 before settling at $114.

The week's volume on the TSE was the heaviest in several months. Total sales were 27,538,000 shares compared with 16,154,000 the previous week. Of 873 issues traded, 325 advanced, 370 declined and 178 were unchanged.

Week's index changes at Toronto: Industrials off 1.40 to 487.17; golds up 1.73 to 82.16; base metals off 1.38 to 202.86; western oils up 4.02 to 190.08.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks up 0.37 to 53.43; utilities off 0.6 to 153.2; industrials off 1.1 to 292.8; combined off 0.9 to 246.3; papers off 1.20 to 1252.35; golds up 1.14 to 89.32.

Week's volumes: 699,334 industrials and 3,000,612 mines compared with 757,888 industrials and 2,683,098 mines the previous week. Of 413 issues traded, 124 advanced 147 declined and 142 were unchanged.

Steelworkers Call Offer 'Insulting'

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (CLC) has attacked as insulting wage increases and other benefits announced by Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. for workers in their strike-crippled plant.

Company manager W. G. Brissenden said Friday hourly wages are increased by five cents effective June 10. Other benefits include a fourth paid statutory holiday, extended paid vacations and the possibility of a sickness and non-occupational insurance plan.

Roger Bedard, spokesman for the union which called 1,000 men off the job March 11, said Friday the announcement was "an insult."

Basis of the dispute is certification. A company-obtained writ of prohibition has restrained the Quebec labor relations board from acting on a USWA application for certification.

"The men will stay on strike until their rights are recognized," Mr. Bedard said.

LETTUCE SALES SOLVED THEFT

NEW YORK (AP) — A tip that two boys were buying unusual quantities of lettuce was all that police needed Friday to solve the theft of 15 rabbits and guinea pigs being used in Roosevelt Hospital research. The lettuce-buyers and a third boy, traced after he boasted that he had two new pets, were rounded up along with 14 of the 15 missing animals.

U.S. Boom Slows, Business Costs Rise

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cost increases loomed for many American businessmen this week as the boom continued to lose momentum.

Signs of slowdown were noted in such key areas as freight carloadings, pape rand paperboard production, cheque clearings, and retail trade. Except for a one-day flareup, the stock market was sluggish and dull.

Plus indicators included a slight pickup in steel production and the highest rate of auto production in 10 weeks. Observers close to the situation warned, though, that the upturn for both autos and steel was likely to be a temporary flash in the pan.

Many businessmen tried to adjust themselves to a nerve-wracking combination of stepped-up operating costs and slower sales.

While prices of some raw materials inched lower, other costs of doing business continued to rise. There was every indication that interest rates would stay at today's high levels for some time. And a continued upward trend was evident for other business costs, notably taxes, wage rates and transportation.

Retailers reconciled themselves to the prospect of another substantial hike in freight rates. Eastern and Western railroads are asking the interestate commerce commission to allow an increase of 22 per cent; Southern railroads want a boost of 15 per cent.

A panel of economists and industrialists took the measure of the boom this week and—in testimony before a joint congressional committee—reported these findings: The boom is losing some of its zip, but not enough to warrant tax reductions or a return to easy money now. Business should turn up again in the fall. The No. 1 economic headache is still inflation.

A pandora's box of potential legal headaches was opened this week when the Supreme Court handed down its verdict of "guilty" in the historic Du Pont-General Motors anti - trust case. This was the first time that the anti-trust act had been applied to the investment by one company in the shares of a non-competing company, and its repercussions in the business world were expected to be far and wide. Still unanswered at week's end was the question: What would Du Pont do with its $2,500,000,000 worth of GM stock? A spin-off of the GM stock seemed to offer the simplest solution.

Business Women Hold 11th Annual Musicale

For the 11th successive year, Business and Professional Women's Club held their summer musicale Friday evening, in the lounge of Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

The concert, which is held in aid of the club's Bay Wigley Scholarship Fund, featured outstanding Victoria talent at both professional and student levels. There was a good attendance.

Miss Margery Vaughan introduced the numbers, their wide variety adding interest to the program.

Elizabeth McFarland, a newcomer to the city, will certainly be a most valuable addition to musical ranks. She has a warm, full soprano of considerable range, and sings with taste and discernment.

A brilliant performance by Joanne Dawson, winner of the Victoria City Medallion in the recent music festival, was another feature of a program which served to emphasize strongly the fine quality and variety of musical activity being followed in this city.

A Handel Concerto for oboe and piano revealed young Roger Steed as a most promising musician with a well-developed skill in performing on this difficult instrument. He was accompanied by a young pianist of considerable talent, Peter Wilkinson.

OBOE, PIANO

A well trained and musical brass quartet from S. J. Willis Junior High School, several delightful songs by the Victoria Musical Art Madrigal Singers, conducted by Miss Vaughan, and a well played Beethoven Trio in C minor, provided enjoyable ensemble performances.

Member of the trio were Bernard Rain, Marguerite Hultgren and Lorna Mulholland.

W. M. Paterson, possessor of a fine natural tenor voice, sang an aria from "La Boheme" and a ballad, and Michael Churchill demonstrted good style, clarity and comprehension in the Prologue to "Henry V" and a Kipling number.

Accompanists were Elsie Friend and Ruth Eurby Jones.

NEWSPAPER AWARD PRESENTED

Victoria Newspaper Guild award for the top junior high school newspaper published on the Island was presented Friday afternoon to Woodlands Junior High School at Nanaimo. Winning paper, "Dragnet," was edited by Carole McIntyre, 17, handicapped by a crippling disease at the age of five, who entered a regular school for the first time in 1955. Miss McIntyre was presented with the Guild shield and a cheque for $50. From left to right: Pete Sallaway, Guild president; Mayor Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo; Miss McIntyre, and Peter McLoughlin, Woodlands teacher and sponsor of the school paper.

Boy, 5, Escapes In Primer Blast

CROFTON—Five-year-old Randy Ryzak, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ryzak, luckily escaped serious injury when a blasting cap he was playing with went off in his hand.

The youngster suffered only superficial cuts to the hand and body.

The blasting caps had been kept in the topmost cupboard in the family kitchen, where they were thought to be out of reach.

Randy evidently climbed up on a chair and scrambled up on a ledge to get at the caps.

He took one outside to play with, and it went off when he pried it with a knife. Fortunately he was holding it away from his face, or he might have lost a finger, hand or eye.

Dr. G. Heylen treated the injured youngster who was later released.

Rotarians Give $100 to Kinsmen Lifeguard Fund

CHEMAINUS — The Rotary Club has approved a donation of $100 to the Kinsmen Club's lifeguard fund.

"We are well aware of the fine job Kinsmen are doing at the local beach and we trust that their drive to raise funds to hire a lifeguard will meet with generous support," club president Harry Ewart said.

The Rotary Club will also make a donation of $30 to send a high school student to the United Nations seminar at UBC in August.

Provincial Property For New Sidney Park

SIDNEY — Provincial lands and forests department offer of five lots in Sidney to the village commission for use as a park has been accepted.

The property is situated on two sides of Sidney Avenue at Fourth Street.

WINNER of the $400 MacMillan & Bloedel university scholarship at Cowichan High is Raymond Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peters, Glenora Road, Duncan. He plans to use the scholarship to enter UBC and become a high school teacher. The winner obtained consistently high marks throughout his high school career and was active in student affairs.

Tight Money Policy Non-Existent, Ignorance Real Enemy—Cameron

CHEMAINUS — There is no such thing as a tight money policy, Colin Cameron, CCF candidate for the Nanaimo riding, told the Rotary Club.

Quoting from a report prepared by the governor of the Bank of Canada, he said:

"So-called federal credit controls do not exist. In 1955 and 1956 there was more credit available in every field of lending."

There was no money available, simply because large Canadian and United States corporations were engaging in a huge, unplanned capital expansion.

"This has caused an enormous competition for money, and there is none available for the little man, the municipalities or the school boards, because they can't afford the high interest rates.

PARKSVILLE - QUALICUM BEACH PROGRESS: With the opening of the tourist season just around the corner, it is a good time to take stock of one habit which can never be overdone — courtesy.

In addition to the usual enquiries regarding merchandise or services, we can expect to be asked scores of questions regarding the road to Errington, the distance to Qualicum Bay and the best bait for cohoes and springs. We can answer these questions to the best of our ability and toss in a friendly handshake and a smile or we can snap back with an answer which will leave a sour taste in the mouth of every tourist we encounter.

It's just that simple, and the district which goes all out for courtesy will find that it pays off in the long run.

The businessman who goes out of his way to assist a tourist is a real salesman, not only for his store but for the entire community. He is doing a selling job which will be remembered long after our visitors have left town. Chances are, too, that those visitors will be back again next year.

Let's remember, too, that a tourist is just another citizen away from home. He's right pleased when he meets folk who enquire about his hometown, and the friendships formed in that manner often link the two in a brotherhood which stands the test of time.

Given a chance to work on our behalf, courtesy and friendliness can be our greatest assets.

Farewell

SIDNEY REVIEW: This newspaper learned with sincere regret this week of the disbandment of Sidney-North Saanich Musical Society which has played an important part in the cultural life of the community during the past few years. Resignation of the society's leader and gradual falling off of membership was responsible for the decision to wind up the organization's activities.

All progress cannot be viewed as sound, sensible progress. If the speeding up of our daily lives and the impact of television have resulted in cultural loss, it is to be deeply regretted.

The Review pays tribute to the sponsors of the society and those who kept it a buoyant force in the community to which it brought much honor. We hope that conditions will allow it to be re-established soon.

This district has already won recognition in cultural fields and a further feather in the community cap was the outstanding success of a North Saanich high school play last week. The players and their director were showered with unstinted praise. This is the best kind of publicity for any area.

BIG LIBERAL MARGIN SHOWN BY GALLUP

A Time for Reflection

CIVILIZED men needed some five thousand years to devise the system of government known as democracy. It is the best system so far devised but, like the human race, it is not perfect.

This weekend, therefore, when the citizens of Canada finally make up their minds about Monday's election, they will remember that they cannot hope to choose a perfect government. They can do no more than choose the best available government.

On election day every citizen in a democracy faces a direct, personal and inescapable responsibility. His duty is to vote.

A newspaper also has a responsibility. Having enjoyed the right of free argument possible only in a democracy, it is bound to tell its readers, whether they agree with it or not, why it supports certain causes and rejects others.

During the last four years this newspaper has frequently criticized the St. Laurent Government, sometimes rather roughly. If the Government is re-elected we expect it will continue to make mistakes, like all governments, and we shall continue to criticize it.

But, recognizing the imperfections of this and all governments, we have no doubt about Monday's decision. The Government, in our view, deserves to be returned for reasons that appear unanswerable.

In the first place, this has been an able, honest and courageous government, as governments go. Its ability is reflected in the state of the nation. Its honesty has not been questioned by any scandal in more than two decades, which must be a Canadian record. Its courage in often following unpopular courses which it thought necessary may have damaged it among thoughtless voters but will commend it to the public's second-thoughts.

It is not too much to say that a glance about the world will reveal no more successful government than that of Louis St. Laurent. Nowhere in the world today is there a nation so fortunate as Canada.

To be sure, the Canadian economic revolution is not solely or even mainly the work of the Government, but the Government's policies have created a climate favorable to it. Assuredly another kind of government, policy and climate could have greatly retarded the Canadian boom.

Moreover, our exsting policies, though sometimes mistaken in detail, have sought to distribute our increased wealth as fairly as any free society permits. Every important welfare service in Canada, without exception, is the work of the Liberal Party—old age pensions, children's allowances, health grants, subsidies to the provinces and now a national scheme of hospital insurance.

These services probably have been the most generous in the world but they have been kept, so far, within our means. The Government has not expanded them, merely to win votes, faster than our means allow, as its opponents propose to expand them regardless of the taxpayers' ability to pay the bill.

★ ★ ★

The Canadian boom has been so large, indeed, that it has bred inflation as we try to build and consume even more than we can make or borrow. Only the Government, among all the political parties, has dared to face this danger.

It has not yet succeeded in curing inflation. No nation has yet succeeded. But assuredly without the present fiscal policies the Canadian inflation would now be much worse than it is and the alternative to its policies, as advocated by all the opposition parties, would be to abandon every measure against inflation, to let it run wild and further debase our money and savings.

In such a situation soft policies may win some votes. They will also assure soft money. The government deserves credit for putting the people's savings above its political convenience. Every other party has done the opposite.

If the government deserves re-election on its domestic record, its record in international affairs is even more commendable. To keep Mr. Pearson in charge of our foreign policy seems to us perhaps the strongest reason for a Liberal vote, since Canada's chief danger comes from our foreign enemies. Is Mr. Pearson to remain in charge of our foreign policy or is he to be replaced by some unknown? That question should be well pondered before Monday's ballot.

★ ★ ★

If an abler government were in sight the virtues of the present government would not entitle it to re-election. Where is there such a better alternative?

Actually, no opposition party has the chance to form any kind of government, good or bad. That fact may be disagreeable in theory. It is none the less a fact in practical politics today.

The revival of the Conservative Party, which is to be warmly welcomed, has not gone far enough to give it the chance of a parliamentary majority.

The two splinter parties—the CCF running on a policy known to be unacceptable and Social Credit on the proposition that a small minority should dominate a stalemated Parliament against the will of the majority—offer us nothing but chaos.

There are only two real possibilities in this election. One is a working Liberal majority. The other, a remote prospect, is stalemate and paralysis.

The splinters have nothing but nuisance value. What does the Conservative Party offer us? It offers us gigantic increases in expenditure and gigantic decreases in taxes.

Everybody knows, including Mr. Diefenbaker and all his candidates, that this equation does not make sense and is nothing but mathematical nonsense invented for an election campaign. It is proposed, in disregard of mathematics, solely because the Conservative Party knows that it will not have to redeem impossible promises and thus can promise anything.

★ ★ ★

If it could be elected, a Conservative government attempting to enforce this program would plunge us into deficits and debt at the height of a boom, would precipitate a run-away inflation and would then be forced to raise taxes far above their present level or risk national bankruptcy.

Yet after this show of complete irresponsibility in the election campaign the Conservative Party asks for the responsibility of office. Clearly, on this record, it is not ready for office, but its vigorous campaign indicates that it is prepared to provide a strong and useful opposition.

The sovereign question on Monday will be identity of the next government but there is another question. Every constituency must select its own Member of Parliament and try to find the best man to represent it.

The Liberal Party may not be so fortunate elsewhere, but in Victoria and in Esquimalt-Saanich it has nominated excellent men. Dr. Frank Fairey and Mr. Alistair Fraser deserve election, we believe, not only because they represent the government but because they have the qualities needed in the next Parliament.

For all these reasons we think Canada will be wise to maintain its government, the policies that have succeeded so abundantly in recent years and the progress on all fronts that is now the admiration of the world.

ELECTION NIGHT IN WEEKEND

The farflung system by which Canadian Press, the co-operative national news-gathering organization, will report at top speed the results of the Canadian election Monday night is described in a featured article in Weekend Magazine in this issue.

★ ★ ★ ★ BULLETINS

Murder-Suicides Take Three Lives

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Two separate murder-suicides today resulted in the death of three Winnipeg persons and the hospitalization of another in fair condition.

Mrs. Marie Wayda, a German immigrant, cut the throat of her two-year-old son while her husband was hanging out laundry in the back yard, then cut her own throat. Both died.

A 26-year-old man, Edward Christie, was shot to death and his wife, Dorothy, was taken to hospital with a bullet wound. Her condition is "fair." Police described the case as appearing to be murder and attempted suicide.

Girl Found Dead

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 18-year-old Ontario girl was found dead in a hotel room Friday and police said she had ignored a doctor's warning about taking too many pills.

The unclothed body of Bertha Payne, whose parents live at Bewdley, Ont., was found in a hotel room.

Slain by Mother

DETROIT (UP)—A mother killed her three young children today, drowning two of them in a bathtub and suffocating the third.

Police said the woman, Constance Wheeldon, 29, tried to take her own life by turning on the jets of a gas stove and a furnace after she called headquarters to report "I just killed my three children."

Winds Favorable

PENZANCE, Eng. (AP)—Squalls of wind and the Gulf Stream are speeding Mayflower II, the pilgrim replica ship, to Cape Cod, skipper Alan Villiers radioed today.

Gusty winds have stepped up the speed of the little sailing ship to seven knots, Villiers reported.

Jake Mintz Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jake Mintz, co-manager of former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, died today in hospital of a heart attack.

Steelmen Strike

FORT ST. JOHN (CP)—About 50 steel workers walked off their jobs today at the West Coast Transmission construction job here when a dispute developed between two unions.

The steel workers alleged that work done on the big refinery and scrubbing job which should have been done by them was actually being handled by the Pipe Fitters' Union.

France Ends Suez Boycott; Would Pay Tolls in Sterling

CAIRO (Reuters) — France has decided to end her lone boycott of the Suez Canal and has offered to pay shipping tolls in sterling, the Egyptian finance ministry announced today.

A French government spokesman said in Paris that "contacts have taken place about this matter between French and Egyptian banks." He declined further comment.

A spokesman for the Egyptian finance ministry said negotiations are going on through the Swiss Embassy here for the resumption of French shipping through the canal.

All the main Suez Canal user countries except France lifted their boycott last month after agreeing provisionally to pay tolls directly to Egypt's nationalized Canal Authority.

STUDY REQUEST

The Egyptian spokesman said: "The Egyptian government has received a request from the French government through the Swiss Embassy in Cairo, asking that French ships passing through the Suez Canal should be allowed to pay tolls in sterling.

"The French request has been submitted to the finance ministry for study."

French business interests were reported to have exerted heavy pressure on the government to lift the boycott after Britain decided May 14 to permit her ships to resume use of the waterway.

Eagle Attacks Five-Year-Old

TRENTO, Italy (Reuters)—A full-grown eagle plunged down from a hilltop near this northern Italian city Friday and tried to carry off a five-year-old girl who was playing in a field.

The eagle sank its claws in the child's hair and hands—which the girl had raised instinctively to her head — but the girl's grandfather lashed out with his hoe and forced the eagle to drop its prey.

'More or Less Protest' Says Youth

TORONTO (CP)—A youth who interupted a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent by mounting the platform and tearing up a placard said today the stunt was "more or less a protest, I guess."

William Hatton, 15, of nearby Malton, either fell or was pushed off the platform to the concrete floor and suffered a bump on the head.

Hatton gave this version to the Toronto Telegram: "I climbed the steps to the platform. I began to tear the placard up. As I was doing this, some fellow approached me from the side. I'm not sure what he said; something about 'what are you doing? You have no business up here.'

"The next thing I knew I landed on the floor and struck my head." A doctor said Hatton suffered no serious injury.

The Toronto Star says Mrs. Fred Hatton, the boy's mother, described what happened as "just a schoolboy prank."

Far's all this election name-callin' goes, m' preacher friend reminds me thet many are called but few are chosen.

48% of Popular Vote Across the Nation

British United Press and Canadian Press reported today that the latest Canadian Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll) of election thinking in Canada shows the Liberals holding 48% of the popular vote across the nation.

The poll shows Progressive Conservatives with 34%, the CCF with 10%, Social Credit with 7% and other with 1%.

On the basis of these figures, the Liberals have only 2% less of the popular backing than they did in 1953, when they were returned with an enormous majority, and have 1% more than was shown by the same poll a month ago.

Conservatives have gained 3% since 1953 and 1% since May. The CCF is down 1% from both polls.

Social Credit is shown with the same percentage as in 1953, but 1% less than it was in May.

Editors of the poll, the BUP says, emphasize that the latest figures refer only to popular vote and the effect on seat distribution might well be proportionately greater.

The popular vote proportions as shown by these latest reports compare as follows:

	1953	May 1957	June 1957
Liberals	50%	47%	48%
Progressive Conservatives	31%	33%	34%
CCF	11%	11%	10%
Socred	7%	8%	7%
Others	1%	1%	1%

The institute said the "analysis of Canadian voter opinion" was "based on that segment which had made up its mind a week before" the election.

The institute said that "during the campaign a trend toward the Conservative party developed in Ontario but appeared to lose some of its steam in the latter days." The net result, it says, was an institute figure of 45% for the Conservative party in Ontario compared to 43% for the Liberals, 11% for the CCF and 1% for other parties.

In Quebec the Liberals hold a large margin with 70% against 24% for Conservatives.

9 Million Canadians Eligible for Voting

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians make their decision Monday on the makeup of the next Parliament and, consequently, the political stripe of the government.

Between 8,900,000 and 9,000,000 of the Canadian population of 16,500,000 are eligible to vote between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. local standard time in the 23rd federal general election since Confederation in 1867.

The winning political party must take at least 133 seats in the 265-member House of Commons to form a majority government.

During the last week of the campaign two of the four major party leaders referred to the possibility of a minority government—that is, a government in which the top party in the Commons does not command a majority and could be turned out by the combined opposition.

Social Credit Leader Low said there is a "distinct possibility" of a minority government. There hasn't been one in Canada since the 1920s.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said that if the Liberals do not win a majority no other party will. He expressed doubt that a Parliament without a majority party would be a good thing for Canada.

The voters will decide whether to return to office the Liberals who have governed Canada for 22 years or install as their government the Progressive Conservatives or CCF.

The Social Credit party has not enough candidates to form a majority government.

There are 858 candidates in the field—262 Liberals, 255 Progressive Conservatives, 161 CCF, 114 Social Credit and 66 others. The Liberals already hold one seat in the new House of Commons. C. W. Carter was returned by acclamation in the Newfoundland riding of Burin-Burgeo.

Election Clerk Jailed; Admits Padding List

MONTREAL (CP)—Two federal election enumerators charged with adding fictitious names to a voters' list were arraigned in court today. One pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three days in jail.

The second pleaded not guilty and was remanded to June 13.

William Burt, 56, pleaded guilty and was returned to the cells where he had been detained since his arrest Friday night.

Edward Roland, 21, pleaded not guilty and was released on bail of $500.

Their arrests came during an RCMP investigation made at the request of Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer.

Russia Reveals Scientific Parties Worked 150 Miles from Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The Russians have made some 30 landings on Polar ice within 150 miles of Canadian territory in the last two years.

This information is contained in a 382-page book entitled Across the Pole on the Drifting Ice and published in Moscow this year by a state publishing house.

A copy of the book recently came into the hands of Canadian Arctic experts and they say there is no reason to doubt the information in it.

The landing closest to the Canadian shore, likely made by helicopter, was 121 miles from Ellesmere Island, the northern tip of which is some 400 miles from the North Pole. The landing was made in 1955.

Authorities here say they had suspected the Russians might be working fairly close to Canadian territory but that this was the first evidence they had actually done so.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Fraser Rankled By Fake Charges

Alistair Fraser, Liberal candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich, Friday night accused the Conservatives of creating "spurious charges" in the election campaign.

Mr. Fraser addressed an audience of 147 persons at his windup meeting in Saanichton Agricultural Hall.

The main feature of opposition criticism in the campaign and at the last session of Parliament, he said, was "its merciless and ruthless endeavor, not to point out fault where fault may actually lie, but to create spurious issues and to levy spurious charges, purely for the sake of having something to say."

An example was the recent attempt by the Conservatives to set up "straw men" in the campaign.

"They charged the other day that Liberals were saying if a Conservative administration were returned, armed services pay would be cut—and they denied the rumor indignantly.

"Well, I am just as indignant about it as they are."

No one in the Liberal party had made such a statement, Mr. Fraser said.

The Liberal candidate branded as "nonsense" criticism of the prime minister for sending campaign literature to the armed services.

"We Liberals have never taken the view that soldiers are second-class citizens," Mr. Fraser said. "More than anyone else, they have a stake in public affairs."

Voters Confused

Revision of the Canada Elections Act was called for Friday night by Noel Bell, Social Credit candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

"The act makes it very difficult for people to know if they are on the voters' list, difficult for them to find out how to get on it if their names are missing," Mr. Bell said at a meeting in Colwood Community Hall.

Many eligible voters had been disenfranchised because they were not at their normal residence when the enumerator came around, he said.

"There should be a government organization or body to help the electors," Mr. Bell said. "The returning officer is overworked and hampered by an outdated law."

Stand Together

An appeal for the labor vote was made Friday by Victoria CCF candidate Victor Williams in a noon-hour talk at Bapco Paint Co.

"When the workers stand together with the civil servants, housekeepers and young mothers of Canada, everyone will be able to own a small part of Canada in the form of a low-cost home," he said.

"Under the systems advocated by the trained seals of the other three-ringed capitalists circuses, the only piece of Canada to which you are legally entitled is a six-by-three plot for which you pay the shocking price of more than $5,000 an acre before you can lie in it in peace," Mr. Williams said.

Slogan Trouble

Progressive Conservative campaign officials are worried that those "Follow John" footprints stencilled on cars and buildings in B.C. might be considered illegal on election day.

The Conservatives estimated about 3,500 cars, including 200 in Victoria, are carrying the signs showing two footprints and the slogan "Follow John!" in removable paint.

Soap and water will not take it off and the best way is with petroleum-base solvents.

Those "Follow John" footsteps were found leading to the entrance of Mr. Bennett's hardware store in Kelowna.

Passersby recalled that Mr. Bennett was once an ardent Conservative himself.

Hid $90 Million

Premier Bennett, campaigning in Regina, accused the Liberal government of "deliberately hiding" $90,000,000 in funds for the new Canada Council to avoid increasing old-age pensions.

He told a party rally Friday night that money budgeted this year for the council, recently established to promote Canadian cultural activities, could have paid a large part of a pension increase and help give farmers parity prices.

Mr. Bennett said he is not opposed to programs supporting the advance of culture but he objects to the government taking $100,000,000 out of revenues in one year to be used during the following 10 years.

The government should have budgeted $10,000,000 annually, he said.

Car Insurance Rate Hike Almost Certain

Speculation that automobile insurance rates will be increased again this year has a strong basis in fact, an insurance companies spokesman at Vancouver said today.

The unprecedented mid-year jump would follow an 8 per cent increase in 1957 rates, which became effective Jan. 1.

Although there is "nothing definite" about the rumored increase, "some agencies have received instruction from automobile insurance companies to withhold renewals of insurance for July and some for August, too," the spokesman said.

"There is no doubt that something is in the wind."

The rumors have not been quashed by rate-setting groups—the B.C. Underwriters' Association and Independent Insurance Conference of B.C.

The situation is being studied by board companies, Ken Sabiston, manager of B.C. Underwriters' Association, said.

Automobile insurance rates, usually set once a year, are based on claim statistics in six rating territories in the province during the previous year.

CITY PARENTS INVITED TO MASS YOUTH MEETING

Parents were urged today to attend a mass meeting of the National Youth Club for adults and teenagers at the Plaza Theatre Sunday afternoon. Doors open at 12.15.

Meeting was scheduled for Newstead Hall but was switched to the theatre to accommodate an expected crowd of 1,000.

Supervisory manager of the club, Con Watling, today rapped Victoria's "lackadaisical" attitude towards teenagers and their problems.

"The only problem I can see is that parents won't give the time to help their children," he said. "They seem to forget they were teenagers once themselves."

POLICE SNAFU

City Soldiers Astray in U.S.

Esquimalt-based 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, in convoy and headed for Camp Wainwright, Alta., was intercepted by Everett, Wash., police and sent on a wild goose chase Friday.

Artillerymen were temporarily on the wrong route and headed for Seattle when the error was discovered, the convoy located and re-routed for Stevens Pass.

About 140 men, 37 trucks and eight weapon carriers for 90 mm. guns were directed south at Everett, Wash., where they should have been started eastward.

PATROLMAN MIXED UP

A city patrolman got his instructions mixed.

Instead of turning them east over Highway 2 he escorted them south, showed them Highway 99, waved a friendly goodbye and returned to his post.

A short time later, police headquarters got a call from a state patrolman at Cavallero's Corner, between Everett and Snohomish on Highway 2. The conversation went something like this:

"Where's that Canadian Army?" . . . "They've passed through Everett." . . . "They haven't got here yet." . . . What?" . . .

Quick check. The outfit was finally located halfway to Seattle on Highway 99.

The Everett police officer is still blushing.

Slated to take the same trail next Friday is Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Liberals, Tories 'Betrayed' Farmers CCF Leader Charges

BIGGAR, Sask. (CP) — CCF Leader Coldwell Friday night charged the Liberal and Conservative parties with "betraying" the farmer and urged the establishboard.

"Both the Liberals and the Conservatives have supported all kinds of special privileges for special interests but have opposed even the most elementary justice for agriculture embodied as that is in a program of full parity," he said.

He denied claims by Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner that the present support prices are better than parity prices. Support prices, he said, should go up as farm costs increase.

28 SPEEDERS TRAPPED BY RADAR AT QUALICUM

QUALICUM BEACH — Twenty-eight drivers were convicted in police court here Friday for speeding, all clocked by RCMP radar in 50-mile-an-hour zones.

The slowest was registered at 64 and the highest at 96 m.p.h.

400 Men Battle Interior Fires

PRINCE GEORGE — Four hundred men battled three major forest fires in central B.C. Friday.

A fourth big fire was burning near Fort Ware, 300 miles northwest of here in the Rocky Mountain trench. The fire area was so inaccessible that authorities decided to let it burn until rain puts it out. There was no estimate of the number of acres destroyed.

Five new fires broke out in the Prince George district Thursday but all were extinguished or brought under control.

Biggest of those still causing anxiety was at Buckhorn Lake, 20 miles southeast of here, where 2,000 acres of old logging slash had been consumed. One mill had been destroyed and preparations were made to evacuate several others.

Nearly 200 men fought the blaze Friday. Operations were hampered by wet ground and a flame-spreading wind.

Ninety men fought a 1,200-acre fire at Valemount, 120 miles east of Prince George on the Canoe River. The blaze was believed to have been started by lightning. It was burning high up on a mountain and firefighters found it impossible to send equipment in.

High winds hampered fire-fighting operations at Pine Pass, 140 miles north of here, where flames had consumed 1,700 acres.

MEDICAL ALERT

VANCOUVER — Medical officials in Vancouver haven't issued any formal warning about the danger of an influenza epidemic in southeast Asia having effects here but they are watching the situation.

Dr. J. L. Gayton, assistant Vancouver medical health officer, said: "There is nothing to indicate it is in the city but it could occur any time, especially with the speed of travel today."

JUVENILES CHARGED

VANCOUVER — City police have charged eight juveniles with 50 counts of breaking and entering involving 22 separate gasoline stations and two stores. Youths range in age from 14 to 16 years. Two are girls and six boys.

OFFICIALS SUSPENDED

PENTICTON — Mayor C. E. Oliver went to the Penticton Creek dam Thursday and found it only half full. Friday, he suspended works superintendent E. R. Gayfer and irrigation foreman Robert R. Dennis. Mayor Oliver said Mr. Gayfer had assured him that the dam would be full.

BCHIS EXTENSION URGED

KELOWNA—The B.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce at its convention here Thursday called for extension of B.C. Hospital Insurance benefits to out-patients, and also asked for establishment of traffic safety councils in Canadian communities to promote all phases of safety and accident prevention.

INDIAN BOY FOUND

VANCOUVER — Benjamin Joseph, two, heir to the chieftainship of the Squamish Indians, was found alive and well Friday after being missing all night in dense bush at the Capilano Reserve, across Burrard Inlet from here.

The RCMP tracking dog Rip found the boy sitting wide awake on a log in a shallow ravine near the Lions Gate Bridge. He had last been seen 14 hours earlier playing on Capilano Way in the reserve.

Police said the ringleader, a 15-year-old boy, faces 19 charges.

WILDCAT STRIKE

KELOWNA—The natural gas pipeline project in Kelowna has been brought to a standstill by a wildcat strike of 15 pipefitters and welders.

The strike started Thursday when Dutton Williams Ltd. dismissed a worker for incompetence.

The men refuse to go back to work until the worker in question is rehired.

Newspapers Provide Forum For Community

Newspapers are the forum for community ideas, the focus of community attention, Brian Tobin, associate editor of The Victoria Daily Times, told the Victoria Lions Club Friday. The speech marked the annual international observance of Freedom of the Press Day.

"A free press is as necessary to democracy as a fettered press is to dictatorship," Tobin said. Canadians must be alert to the occasional attempt, even in this country where freedom is taken for granted, to nibble at our rights.

Press freedom also carries a responsibility, he said. "It is the right of access to news and the right to print it. It is the responsibility to gather all sides of the news and print a fair report."

A newspaper, Tobin said, is not something separate from the community. "It is part of the community, just as much as people are." For this reason a newspaper reflects closely the type of community it serves. Critics of a newspaper are often in reality criticizing the public which shapes it.

Steelworkers Call Offer 'Insulting'

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—The United Steelworkers of America (CLC) has attacked as insulting wage increases and other benefits announced by Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. for workers in their strike-crippled plant.

Company manager W. G. Brissenden said Friday hourly wages are increased by five cents effective June 10. Other benefits include a fourth paid statutory holiday, extended paid vacations and the possibility of a sickness and non-occupational insurance plan.

Roger Bedard, spokesman for the union which called 1,000 men off the job March 11, said Friday the announcement was "an insult."

Basis of the dispute is certification. A company-obtained writ of prohibition has restrained the Quebec labor relations board from acting on a USWA application for certification.

"The men will stay on strike until their rights are recognized," Mr. Bedard said.

First Busloads Of Berry Pickers Leave Monday

Student or adult pickers are still in demand and must register at 1039 Johnson Street, National Employment Service offices.

Oils Lead Market Trading At New High Price Levels

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Western oils dominated Canadian stock market trading this week as they repeatedly soared to new highs amid the heaviest trading in several weeks.

For six straight sessions — the advance began near the end of the previous week—the oils continually ran up big gains and most of these generally held their winnings despite some light profit-taking Friday.

Observers said the oil advance was long overdue considering the development reports and consumer demands. The activity was also aided by American and other foreign buying.

On the Toronto Stock Exchange, the western oil index, compiled from the action of 15 key stocks, soared to all-time highs in nearly every session. On the week, they gained four points and Thursday touched 192.99, a gain of nearly seven points over the previous week.

Almost every oil stock on the board moved ahead. Fargo was the feature of the advance. It gained $1.70 in the five sessions and touched a 1957 high of $7.20 before closing at $6.65.

Other strong issues included Pacific Pete, up 75 cents to $30.87½. It touched a new high of $34.75 before losing $3.50 Friday. Canadian Atlantic gained 90 cents to $9.50 and touched $10.12½. Royalite was up $3 to $21.75 and touched $23.25. Several other issues gained 25-70 cents.

With the upsurge in oils, industrials were forced to the background for the first time in several weeks and few stocks showed any significant price changes. Volumes on industrials also slipped.

Superior Propane, however, gained $2.62½ to $8.87½ and touched $9 and International Utilities was up $4.37½ to $67.87½.

Several speculative mining stocks churned ahead in midweek and turned over some of the year's biggest volumes.

Sand River Gold, following an underwriting, gained 28 cents at 58 cents and on the week turned over 4,548,345 shares, including two days of 1,000,000 - share volumes.

Cody-Reco was another active lower-priced mine, advancing 44 cents to 79 cents. Leitch gained 30 cents to $1.21 and Area added 39 cents to $1.20.

Feature of the board was McIntyre gold, which leaped $17 to a new high of $115 before settling at $114.

LETTUCE SALES SOLVED THEFT

NEW YORK (AP) — A tip that two boys were buying unusual quantities of lettuce was all that police needed Friday to solve the theft of 15 rabbits and guinea pigs being used in Roosevelt Hospital research. The lettuce-buyers and a third boy, traced after he boasted that he had two new pets, were rounded up along with 14 of the 15 missing animals.

U.S. Boom Slows, Business Costs Rise

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cost increases loomed for many American businessmen this week as the boom continued to lose momentum.

Signs of slowdown were noted in such key areas as freight carloadings, pape rand paperboard production, cheque clearings, and retail trade. Except for a one-day flareup, the stock market was sluggish and dull.

Plus indicators included a slight pickup in steel production and the highest rate of auto production in 10 weeks. Observers close to the situation warned, though, that the upturn for both autos and steel was likely to be a temporary flash in the pan.

Many businessmen tried to adjust themselves to a nerve-wracking combination of stepped-up operating costs and slower sales.

While prices of some raw materials inched lower, other costs of doing business continued to rise. There was every indication that interest rates would stay at today's high levels for some time. And a continued upward trend was evident for other business costs, notably taxes, wage rates and transportation.

Retailers reconciled themselves to the prospect of another substantial hike in freight rates. Eastern and Western railroads are asking the interestate commerce commission to allow an increase of 22 per cent; Southern railroads want a boost of 15 per cent.

A panel of economists and industrialists took the measure of the boom this week and—in testimony before a joint congressional committee—reported these findings: The boom is losing some of its zip, but not enough to warrant tax reductions or a return to easy money now. Business should turn up again in the fall. The No. 1 economic headache is still inflation.

A pandora's box of potential legal headaches was opened this week when the Supreme Court handed down its verdict of "guilty" in the historic Du Pont-General Motors anti - trust case. This was the first time that the anti-trust act had been applied to the investment by one company in the shares of a non-competing company, and its repercussions in the business world were expected to be far and wide. Still unanswered at week's end was the question: What would Du Pont do with its $2,500,000,000 worth of GM stock? A spin-off of the GM stock seemed to offer the simplest solution.

Business Women Hold 11th Annual Musicale

For the 11th successive year, Business and Professional Women's Club held their summer musicale Friday evening, in the lounge of Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

The concert, which is held in aid of the club's Bay Wigley Scholarship Fund, featured outstanding Victoria talent at both professional and student levels. There was a good attendance.

Miss Margery Vaughan introduced the numbers, their wide variety adding interest to the program.

Elizabeth McFarland, a newcomer to the city, will certainly be a most valuable addition to musical ranks. She has a warm, full soprano of considerable range, and sings with taste and discernment.

A brilliant performance by Joanne Dawson, winner of the Victoria City Medallion in the recent music festival, was another feature of a program which served to emphasize strongly the fine quality and variety of musical activity being followed in this city.

A Handel Concerto for oboe and piano revealed young Roger Steed as a most promising musician with a well-developed skill in performing on this difficult instrument. He was accompanied by a young pianist of considerable talent, Peter Wilkinson.

OBOE, PIANO

A well trained and musical brass quartet from S. J. Willis Junior High School, several delightful songs by the Victoria Musical Art Madrigal Singers, conducted by Miss Vaughan, and a well played Beethoven Trio in C minor, provided enjoyable ensemble performances.

Member of the trio were Bernard Rain, Marguerite Hultgren and Lorna Mulholland.

W. M. Paterson, possessor of a fine natural tenor voice, sang an aria from "La Boheme" and a ballad, and Michael Churchill demonstrted good style, clarity and comprehension in the Prologue to "Henry V" and a Kipling number.

Accompanists were Elsie Friend and Ruth Eurby Jones.

Victoria Newspaper Guild award for the top junior high school newspaper published on the Island was presented Friday afternoon to Woodlands Junior High School at Nanaimo. Winning paper, "Dragnet," was edited by Carole McIntyre, 17, handicapped by a crippling disease at the age of five, who entered a regular school for the first time in 1955. Miss McIntyre was presented with the Guild shield and a cheque for $50. Boy, 5, Escapes In Primer Blast

CROFTON—Five-year-old Randy Ryzak, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ryzak, luckily escaped serious injury when a blasting cap he was playing with went off in his hand.

The youngster suffered only superficial cuts to the hand and body.

The blasting caps had been kept in the topmost cupboard in the family kitchen, where they were thought to be out of reach.

Randy evidently climbed up on a chair and scrambled up on a ledge to get at the caps.

He took one outside to play with, and it went off when he pried it with a knife. Fortunately he was holding it away from his face, or he might have lost a finger, hand or eye.

Dr. G. Heylen treated the injured youngster who was later released.

Rotarians Give $100 to Kinsmen Lifeguard Fund

CHEMAINUS — The Rotary Club has approved a donation of $100 to the Kinsmen Club's lifeguard fund.

"We are well aware of the fine job Kinsmen are doing at the local beach and we trust that their drive to raise funds to hire a lifeguard will meet with generous support," club president Harry Ewart said.

The Rotary Club will also make a donation of $30 to send a high school student to the United Nations seminar at UBC in August.

Provincial Property For New Sidney Park

SIDNEY — Provincial lands and forests department offer of five lots in Sidney to the village commission for use as a park has been accepted.

The property is situated on two sides of Sidney Avenue at Fourth Street.

WINNER of the $400 MacMillan & Bloedel university scholarship at Cowichan High is Raymond Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peters, Glenora Road, Duncan. He plans to use the scholarship to enter UBC and become a high school teacher. The winner obtained consistently high marks throughout his high school career and was active in student affairs.

Tight Money Policy Non-Existent, Ignorance Real Enemy—Cameron

CHEMAINUS — There is no such thing as a tight money policy, Colin Cameron, CCF candidate for the Nanaimo riding, told the Rotary Club.

Quoting from a report prepared by the governor of the Bank of Canada, he said:

"So-called federal credit controls do not exist. In 1955 and 1956 there was more credit available in every field of lending."

There was no money available, simply because large Canadian and United States corporations were engaging in a huge, unplanned capital expansion.

"This has caused an enormous competition for money, and there is none available for the little man, the municipalities or the school boards, because they can't afford the high interest rates.

Liberals End Drive With Largest Rally

St. Laurent Speaks to Crowd of 13,000 At Lively Campaign Meeting in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent closed out his national tour with a colorful splash Friday night. But the monster rally, the biggest of the campaign, threatened to fall into turmoil as a Liberal official shoved a youthful heckler to the floor.

Warmed up by musical entertainment and shenanigans of local candidates, the audience, estimated at between 12,000 and 13,000, gave the 75-year-old Liberal chieftain a tremendous ovation as he was piped into brightly-decorated Maple Leaf Gardens.

But he no sooner launched into an attack against John Diefenbaker and the Progressive Conservatives when one of a group of hecklers mounted the speaker's platform and slowly tore a St. Laurent placard before the prime minister's eyes.

F. Vincent Regan, president of the Toronto and York Liberal Association, got up from his platform seat and shoved William Hatton, the 15-year-old heckler, down the platform steps.

The youth fell down the six steps and hit the back of his head on the cement floor. The crowd burst into an unroar as Hatton lay still for a moment. Scores milled around him. A teen-ager mounted a table nearby and shouted:

"That's the way you Liberals behave!"

Incident Disturbs PM

The youth was assisted to his feet and taken to hospital where he was found to have suffered slight head bruises. He was not detained. Police said there would be no charges arising out of the incident.

But the event, first of its kind on Mr. St. Laurent's six-week, cross-country tour, visibly disturbed the prime minister and dampened the rally's spirit. He stood grimly and silently before the speaker's rostrum and later as he resumed his speech, commented:

"It is, of course, unfortunate that this young man fell down the steps. I hope that those who are attempting to prevent me from being heard realize that this was not the right thing for this young man to do.

"I am sure that this is not the way Toronto audiences usually act. We are happy to learn that there are no other consequences from this incident than this momentary disturbance."

In his speech, Mr. St. Laurent charged that Conservative Leader Diefenbaker had deliberately refused to allow the country to see his party's platform.

"Surely Mr. Diefenbaker is the first leader of a political party in Canada that has kept its platform secret."

He defended the government's action in aiding trans-Canada natural gas pipeline construction. The heckling became a bit more persistent and Mr. St. Laurent expressed the hope that the arena was not to be turned into a "madhouse" by a dozen or so hecklers.

As some in the audience booed, he remarked that "They boo tonight but they will live long enough to benefit from this pipeline." There were laughs and loud cheers.

Some shouted at Finance Minister Harris as he derided the Conservatives and praised accomplishments of the Liberals. External Affairs Minister Pearson also was cheered and booed when he defended the government's Suez policy.
